

ADVANCE OF THE RUSSIANS ENDS IN A DISMAL FAILURE

Entire Movement Fails and the Offensive Is Discontinued. Two Generals Wounded and Relinquish Their Commands. The Russian Losses Are Believed to Be Very Heavy.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30, 6:50 p. m.—The Russian advance against the Japanese has failed, and Gen. Gripenburg has notified the emperor he has discontinued the offensive. Gen. Mischenko and Gen. Kondratyevich, while not seriously injured, have been obliged to relinquish their commands. The war office gives the estimate of the Russian losses, but they are believed to be heavy.

Gen. Oku's Headquarters, Jan. 29, 7 p. m., via Fusan—(delayed in transmission).—Two divisions of Japanese troops attacked Polotski and drove four divisions of the Russians across the Hun River. Six hundred Russians were captured.

RUSSIAN ACTIVITY Seems to Have Ceased After Japanese Victories.

Tokio, Jan. 30, 1:30 a. m.—Russian activity on the Shinkai river seemed to have ceased after the fights at Chenehupao and Helkental, where the Japanese were victorious. The object of the operations is not clearly understood here, but it is suggested that the Russians either intended to turn the Japanese left and move a heavy force down west of the Liao river, or were seeking to divert attention from some projected operation against the Japanese right.

It is reported that the weather is warmer since Jan. 25, but it is still extremely cold, so that it is impossible to expose troops at night. The Tokyo press expresses the opinion that Gen. Kuropatkin either ordered the movement to divert attention from the domestic conditions in Russia, or that he had planned to make a fight before Field Marshall Oyama had been heavily reinforced.

COMPLETE FAILURE Was Russian Attempt to Turn Japanese Left.

Gen. Kuropatkin's Headquarters, Jan. 29, via Fusan.—The Russian attempt to turn the Japanese left has resulted in a complete failure.

The Russians chose the worst weather of the season, depending, perhaps, upon their familiarity with a snowy country to aid them in their operations. Their artillery attacks on the Japanese permanent line were, it is thought, a demonstration to prevent the withdrawal of forces for the purpose of reinforcing the Japanese left. All Saturday afternoon and into the night an artillery duel was waged across the Shinkai river. There was much heavy firing from positions where the entrenchments are close.

RESULTS OF FIGHTING Thus Far Are Decidedly In Favor of Japs.

Tokio, Jan. 30.—Telegraphic advices received here yesterday from the Japanese Manchurian headquarters, say: "Our detachment occupied Litako Saturday and was twice counter-attacked by a superior force of the enemy last night. We entirely repulsed the enemy. Our other detachment on dawn Sunday attacked the enemy in the neighborhood of Foltssaholm, about two miles north of Helkental, and occupied the position. The enemy merely counter-attacked our force which assailed Helkental last night, but was repulsed

A. W. MACHEN MUST SERVE TWO YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Washington, Jan. 30.—The supreme court of the United States today decided the case of the United States vs. Machen, known as the beef trust case, charging conspiracy among the packers to fix prices on fresh meats, etc. The opinion was handed down by Justice Holmes and affirmed the decision of the court below, which was against the packers.

ENTIRE EAST WING Of Russian Army Was Undisturbed by Fighting.

Mukden, Jan. 29, via Tien Tsin, Jan. 30.—Official reports published in the army newspaper show that the entire east wing was undisturbed, except by small scouting affairs during the fighting at Polotski and Fiechichungtzun. The army is now working under the new organization and entirely new orders resulting in no loss of sides hearing late reinforcements on their flanks reaches a point where that side falling behind battle. The present state of affairs is, apparently, due to the clear, cold weather. The Russian offensive movement, every available man to the front. It is reported that Liao Yang is deserted by soldiers. The railroad south of Liao Yang is strongly held, especially the bridges, which the Russians report are unapproachable on account of the armament of the Chinese and Japanese defenses and the supplementary Japanese works.

COLD AT LA CROSSE. More Suffering Than Any Other This Winter.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 30.—A cold wave, which caused more suffering than any other this winter, struck this part of the Northwest today. The weather bureau thermometer recorded below zero at the Mississippi river bridge and 14 below on the hotel building. These temperatures have been equaled once before this winter, but they had more effect today, and the weather bureau announced it as the coldest of the season. Nearly all outside work was suspended, even the cutting of ice being impossible.

OWNERSHIP OF MADE LANDS On Lake Michigan Is Claimed By Resident of New York.

Detroit, Jan. 30.—Special to the Tribune announce that Samuel J. Tilden, of New York city, has started a movement to acquire the ownership of certain land in Muskegon county, Michigan, which lies along the shores of Lake Michigan, and which is owned by the state because of the receding of the waters of Lake Michigan. The land is now owned by the United States and is being offered for sale by the government for sixty-eight years and is being offered for sale by the government for sixty-eight years and is being offered for sale by the government for sixty-eight years.

SECURITIES CASE Will Be Reviewed By the Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The supreme court of the United States today granted the petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of E. H. Harrington and others vs. the Northern Securities company, growing out of the former decision of the court relative to the distribution of the stock of the Securities company. The effect of granting the writ is to bring the case to the supreme court for review.

HOCH'S LAST WIFE WAS NOT POISONED

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Dr. Lewke, coroner's physician who made a post-mortem examination of the body of Mrs. Carrie Hoch, the last wife of Johann Hoch, the alleged Bluebeard, announced today that according to all microscopic tests, apparently she died of natural causes. No traces of poison were found. However, chemical analysis will yet be tried. The doctor said that the powders found in the Hoch home are ordinary headache powders. All clues as to Hoch's whereabouts have so far proved fruitless.

STRIKE ENDED To All Intents and Purposes at St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30, 12:28 p. m.—Most of the factories and mills of St. Petersburg are in operation today and the strike, to all intents and purposes, is ended. A few large establishments have not yet fully resumed operations owing to the official formalities necessary in registering their thousands of employees. Some of the workmen at the Putiloff works, where the strike originated, have asked for the celebration of the presence of the workers for the time the latter were not at work, but as a number of the works have already paid their strike pay, it is probable that the workers will probably decide to pay their workmen at least part of their wages for the time they were on strike.

THE BEEF TRUST FOUND GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

Supreme Court Affirms Decision of the Court Below. Allegation That It Fixed Prices of Meat Is Sustained. Lower Court's Injunction Against the Packers Is Continued.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The supreme court of the United States today decided the case of the United States vs. Machen, known as the beef trust case, charging conspiracy among the packers to fix prices on fresh meats, etc. The opinion was handed down by Justice Holmes and affirmed the decision of the court below, which was against the packers.

PRIVATE BANKS MAY BE ABOLISHED BY LAW

Legislature Will Abolish Them or Put Them Under Supervision. Exactly the same conditions, as far as supervision is concerned, as the state banks, after Jan. 1. They would have to submit to the inspection of the bank examiner, and make and publish annual reports, just the same as state banks. There is no doubt that one of these bills will pass at this session, and it is simply a question of whether the legislature prefers to abolish private banks, or allowing them to exist under state supervision.

FERGUSON SHOWS UP INIQUITY OF ARMOURS

Duluthian Tells Senate Committee About Private Car Lines. Washington, Jan. 30.—E. M. Ferguson, of Duluth, Minn., representing the Western Fruit Jobbers' association, the National Retail Grocers' association, and a number of other Western associations, continued his argument today before the senate committee on interstate commerce, in opposition to the operation of private car lines. As the system exists today, he said, any law might be violated with impunity.

TURN OUT WELL

Registration of Saturday Greatly Exceeds That of Tuesday.

Total Is Above the Average For an Off Year.

Over 2500 voters registered for the approaching municipal election, on Saturday, and the total registration will reach over 7000, which is above the ordinary figure for a municipal election in an off year.

The registration was much heavier than on Tuesday, and was nearly up to the total at the primaries. It was not expected that the total would reach more than 5000, but the warm light that have developed in several of the wards, and the discussion of the charter amendments, and water bond issue, brought the voters out in force Saturday.

The following is the registration by precinct for Saturday, and the total registration for the three days:

AMONG THE RAILROADS

Some Changes Are Made In South Shore Office.

Official notices issued by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic confirm the reported changes in the local passenger office of the company which were indicated last week in The Herald. Early J. McMartin, taken the traveling passenger agency, to succeed John H. Cummings, resigned. Wesley Wilke, heretofore assistant ticket agent, succeeds Mr. McMartin in the ticket agency. The changes are effective Feb. 1.

The official notices are under date of Jan. 25, which was the twenty-third anniversary of the birth of Mr. McMartin, making quite a coincidence. Mr. McMartin is the youngest traveling passenger agent employed by Duluth, as far as the local railroad contingent is concerned.

AN ADVANCE MADE.
Steamship Rates Are Given a Boost.

In the recent changes made by the steamship lines on low-class business, one of the most notable advances was in the rate to Canton, where the price was advanced $10 in one jump. The low rates that had been in effect had been under an advance by the company, so that most of the advance business has already been carried last year's rate.

By E. A. Lindgren, special immigration agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, has received the annual report of William C. Moore, landing agent at Ellis Island, New York, for the year 1904. The report shows that 1,200,000 passengers landed in 1904, 1,200,000 in 1903 and 1,200,000 in 1902. The average number of passengers carried on each trip last year was 22, and the average were not figured in previous years by the landing agent. Twenty-eight ships carried last year's traffic.

Railroad Notes.
Fare and a third on the certificate plan is the reduced rate made by the railroads to Duluth for the State Federation of Women's club which is to meet here the 15th of next month.

One day last week the tire of a drive wheel on a Great Northern engine broke and the engine was disabled. The engine was being used to haul a load of lumber from the St. Louis river, derailing the engine and making it necessary for other train to detour the other way to get into the city.

F. D. Lyon, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, is here today from Minneapolis. He says that the competition for the secretaryship of the Duluth City passenger association has been ended by the selection, unanimously, of George L. Rhodes for the position. Mr. Rhodes is a well-known assistant general passenger agent of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific at Chicago, and is a well-qualified man to handle affairs of the passenger men.

D. Kromer, traveling freight agent of the Great Northern, is here today from Grand Rapids, Mich. Some improvements are being made in the freight and passenger office of the Northern Pacific. Partitions are being put in the office to give John E. Caine, traveling freight agent of the company, an office separated from the men who handle the freight business. His office will be next door to that of Thomas E. Blanche, the general agent.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.
All Woodmen of Duluth and Superior are requested to meet at Madison N. C. at 10 o'clock, Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1905, at the Grand Hotel, Duluth, Minn. C. G. MESSICK, Sec'y, Duluth, Minn.

HABEAS CORPUS
Has Been Suspended In Two Philippine Provinces.

Manila, Jan. 29.—Habeas corpus has been suspended in the provinces of Cavite and Batangas. The suspension was made by the Philippine Commission, and is the first time since 1898 that habeas corpus has been suspended in the Philippines.

Mag. Gen. Corbin is heartily co-operating with Governor Wright and is giving him every possible aid in suppressing lawlessness.

Federal troops, consisting of detachments of police sharpshooters, work in conjunction with the native constabulary. Federal troops are stationed at the towns and martial law has practically been established.

The present situation in the two provinces is partially due to lawlessness and to disaffection fostered by the operations of the internal revenue law. The force of the bandit lawlessness is estimated at 500. The bandits have intimidated peacefully inclined natives, who have been forced to assist them.

MRS. SUTTON DIES.
Resident of Carlton Succumbs to Old Age.

There are three sons, Peter and Philip of Carlton, and James of Duluth. The daughters are Mrs. Easton and Mrs. Kyle of California, Mrs. Polner of Duluth, Mrs. Carrie Sutton of St. Paul, and Mrs. Pimnegan of Carlton.

The funeral will be held from the cathedral tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

STRUCK BY BOB SLEIGH

John Grytdahl Meets With Serious Accident Saturday Evening.

While crossing Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, John Grytdahl slipped and fell in front of a loaded sleigh, which was coming down the hill Saturday evening. The front sleigh of the sleigh struck him on the head and carried him nearly 100 feet before he could be stopped.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition, with the blood spurting from a long gash in his temple. The ambulance was summoned to take him to his home, on Twenty-eighth avenue west and Thirteenth street, but he insisted on being allowed to walk home after being driven a short distance. His clothes and hair were saturated with blood, but he paid no attention to it and made his way home unassisted. He is a man about 35 years of age.

SUCCUMBS TO YELLOW FEVER

Surgeon On Cruiser Boston Dies of the Disease.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Commander Niles, commanding the United States ship Boston at Panama, has notified the navy department that Assistant Surgeon John A. Sullivan, one of the officers, died of yellow fever yesterday.

Sullivan was born in Minneapolis and was a member of the medical department of the navy from South Dakota in May, 1892. It is supposed that he recently stricken with yellow fever, died suddenly yesterday.

Omaha, Jan. 29.—J. N. H. Patrick, a Nebraska farmer, died here last night of heart failure. He was 70 years of age.

Patrick raised the first Nebraska regiment at the outbreak of the civil war, through which he served, attaining the rank of colonel.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 29.—John Smith, for forty years a well known hand and orchestra leader in Southern Wisconsin, died suddenly here today.

Milwaukee, Jan. 29.—James G. Campbell, formerly of this city, died at Oconomowoc, Wis. He at one time was president of the Milwaukee exposition association and of the Wisconsin society of Milwaukee. He was well known throughout the state.

MOTOR CAR MAKES A NEW SPEED RECORD.

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 30.—A world's record for motor cars has been made for 100 miles. H. W. Fletcher, driving an eighty-horse power car, covered the distance today in one hour, twenty-six minutes and thirty-eight seconds, an average of 48.25 miles an hour.

Heating all other contests by about three minutes.

PRESIDENT INTERESTED

In Marriage and Divorce Statistics and Recommends Legislation.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The president sent a message to congress today calling attention to the fact that no statistics on marriage and divorce have been collected since 1896 and recommended legislation to have such statistics collected.

The following is the text of the message: "To the Senate and the House: I call the attention of the congress to the fact that no statistics have been collected on marriage and divorce since the year 1896, and that but few states have provisions for the collection of such statistics."

The institution of marriage is of course, at the very foundation of our social organization, and all influences that affect that institution are of vital concern to the nation.

There is a widespread conviction that the divorce laws are dangerously lax and unduly administered in some of the states, resulting in a diminishing regard for the sacredness of the marital relation. The hope is entertained that a collection of the statistics of marriage and divorce will be of great value in the future, and that the collection of such statistics will be of great value in the future.

ADDRESS ON TEMPERANCE

Rev. J. H. Stenberg Particularly Appeals to the Moderate Drinker.

The Duluth Union Temperance society conducted a temperance meeting yesterday afternoon at Bethany church in the West End, at which Rev. J. H. Stenberg delivered a stirring address. "We have three classes of people," said the speaker, "the total abstainers, the moderate drinkers and the excessive drinkers. I cannot reach the excessive drinkers for they do not get to the moderate drinkers of liquor. Does God's word permit moderate drinking? No! It cannot find a place in the blessed Bible that permits the moderate use of liquor. The use of liquor in any form as a beverage is a selfish indulgence that good does not do to the home to use it? Instead of doing good it opens the way to excessive drinking. You may say that you are not a drunkard, but you are a slave to the temptation, but there are a large number of strong-minded people that can tell you that moderate use of liquor has brought ruin to the home. The power of a man, even the one with a strong will, is not enough to resist the temptation of the devil, who is always ready to lead you into sin. ## DOWNTOWN SITE

The Floodwood Taxpayers Favor More Convenient Courthouse.

Outside Voters Said to Be Against Combination Building.

Charles Kauppi, of West Duluth, county commissioner for the Fifth district, has received from Floodwood a petition, signed by about sixty of the prominent citizens, all taxpayers, requesting him to use his influence with the board in securing a downtown site for the new county courthouse.

In the petition the people of Floodwood set forth that they are often called to Duluth on business which requires their presence at the courthouse, and that, as now located, the institution is very inconvenient for them. They claim that the way the trains run is practically impossible for them to make a trip up the hill to the courthouse, transact any business in the city and then catch the next train for home, but that to transact business at the courthouse and down town means that they must either go to the expense of remaining in Duluth overnight, or of making a second trip on another day.

The petitioners claim that the convenience of the taxpayers outside the city should be taken into consideration, and that the sentiment of the Floodwood taxpayers is certainly for a site nearer the Union depot. They claim, further, that a courthouse elevated to the ranks of high society, through the death of her husband and the acquisition of vast wealth, and who has the infinite capacity for always getting and always doing things wrong. Kate Elmore proved herself an artist in the full meaning of the word. That she has mastered the details of the conception of the part is clearly demonstrated in her clever and original interpretation. Her song "I Want to Break Into Society" is a outburst.

Commissioner Kauppi said this morning that the men who have signed the petition are all representative citizens, and that the document shows beyond a doubt what the sentiment of the Floodwood taxpayers is on the subject.

The petition is a matter of no light significance for the reason it is the first of the kind that has yet been voluntarily sent to the board or any of its members requesting a downtown site. It is taken to mean that the people of Floodwood are greatly interested and exercised in the matter, also, that the statements of some commissioners and others that the people outside the city are against a change of site is erroneous.

This petition may pave the way for others which will be circulated in and sent to the county commissioners from the various ranges.

Commissioner Kauppi says that it is a serious mistake to talk of a combination city hall and courthouse, that outside of Duluth the sentiment is very strong against it, so strong, in fact, that were it attempted there is certain to be injurious proceedings started to prevent it.

Commissioner Kauppi claims that while the outside taxpayers have not the best objection to Duluth having a city hall in the same block or in proximity to the courthouse, they do object to a combination building.

"These people who are raising such a protest to a downtown site on the ground we would lose the jail, are entirely wrong in their conclusions," says Mr. Kauppi. "What if we do build a courthouse downtown, we do not have to build a jail at once nor will we have to move the jail building. That can be maintained right along for some years to come, if necessary, right where it is, without any particular inconvenience. We can get a jail building anytime after we have a new courthouse."

"If we have to rent a building while we build a new courthouse on the old site, it will cost us at least $1000 to $1500 per month rent, taking into consideration all the remodeling, etc. This expense for three or four years, while the new building is going up, will simply be money thrown away, whereas, if we apply the same amount in the purchase of a downtown site we will have something for our money. Besides, it is not fully determined yet that we would lose interest in the old site of the courthouse, and that may prove a valuable asset in case we wish to change."

DELEGATES RETURN.

M. Glocke and A. Elliott Back From Buffalo.

M. Glocke and A. Elliott have returned from Buffalo, where, as delegates from the Duluth local, they attended the annual convention of the National Tug Firemen and Linemen's union. They will tell of what transpired at the convention at a meeting of the tug firemen to be held Wednesday night.

Mr. Glocke was elected grand secretary-treasurer of the association. The delegates say the old wage scale will again be in force this year, and all the requirements will be practically the same.

The firemen and linemen will go into conference with the tug owners to see what can be done about drawing up an agreement for the year. Special business will come up at the meeting Wednesday night.

Elinore Sisters.

Tonight at the Metropolitan, the Elinore Sisters will appear in "Mrs. Delaney of Newport." One critic has said of Kate Elmore: "In essence the role of Bedelia Delaney, a woman who has been suddenly elevated to the ranks of high society, through the death of her husband and the acquisition of vast wealth, and who has the infinite capacity for always getting and always doing things wrong. Kate Elmore proved herself an artist in the full meaning of the word. ### Forfeit Their Bail.

Six alleged participants in a stud poker game forfeited their bail in municipal court this morning. The men were arrested in a raid made by Detectives Irving and Seely Saturday evening. They are all believed to have given fictitious names at police headquarters. The names they gave were John Henry, C. N. Roberts, Henry Jones, J. C. Thomas, Fred Mason and Charles Rambo. Each of the prisoners put up a cash bail of $10 and was released. In court this morning they failed to appear when their names were called, and the bail was forfeited by Judge Windom.

ADDRESSES MIDDIES

Presents Diplomas and Prizes to the Young Officers.

Washington, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt and party left at 9:30 o'clock today for Annapolis to attend and participate in the exercise incident to the graduation of the class of 1905 from the naval academy. The trip was made in a special train on the Pennsylvania railroad, which was scheduled to arrive at Annapolis at 10:45 o'clock.

Accompanying the president were Secretary Morton, Mrs. Morton, Miss Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Morton, Secretary Taft, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Charles P. Taft, Secretary Loeb, Dr. P. M. Rixey, Commander Cameron Melville, the president's naval aide, M. A. Latta, the president's stenographer, two secret service officers and several messengers.

At 2 o'clock the president and his immediate party will leave Annapolis for Philadelphia, where the president will address the Union League club at a banquet tonight. Secretaries Morton and Taft and their party will return to Washington from Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 30.—Before a host of their friends and relatives, who came from all parts of the country to witness their graduation, the 114 members of the first class at the naval academy today completed their four-year course and received their diplomas at the hands of President Roosevelt. The president was introduced by Capt. Brownson, who said: "I have the honor, and it is a great pleasure, of presenting to you the president, who will deliver to you your diplomas. Mr. President, these are the graduates of the naval academy."

Although speaking directly to the graduating class of the naval academy, the president spoke to the nation as well as to the midshipmen. Addressing them as "Follow midshipmen," the president began by saying that he was unable to see how a good man could fail to be a better American after coming to the health commission, the president began by saying that he was unable to see how a good man could fail to be a better American after coming to the health commission, the president began by saying that he was unable to see how a good man could fail to be a better American after coming to the health commission.

"No nation is as free from the danger of a growth of militarism as we are," he said. "The danger is lest we do not take sufficient thought to prepare our men and women. 'If this country intends to do its duty on the side of law and order, then it must see to it that it is able to make good, should the necessity arise.'"

Referring to the arbitration treaties now pending before the senate, the president said every friend of peace will join heartily in seeing that these treaties become a part of the supreme law of the land. He said that this nation seeks peace not because we are afraid of war, but because the American people love the immutable laws of justice and right living.

"So much," he said, "for the general public."

He then talked to the members of the graduating class, reminding them that one of their great duties was "to see that your shot hits."

In the naval engagements of modern times, the president said the defeated belligerents were defeated through lack of bravery, but through lack of preparation or defective material. In conclusion, he said:

"If you will but rise to the level of your opportunities, you will keep and maintain the proud fame of the American naval officer."

At the conclusion of his address the president presented to the seven successful midshipmen the sword and medals won for proficiency in theoretical and practical gunnery.

VICTIM OF THE JOKERS

Duluth's Health Commissioner Furnishes Sport For City Officials.

Through a base piece of underhanded treachery, Dr. D. D. Murray was inveigled into committing an act today that he will probably hear from for months to come.

For two or three months past, some of the city officials have been biding their opportunity to pay off old scores in the calendar year 1904, compared with the calendar year 1903, and laid a trap for him.

He had been preparing his annual report to the common council. It was typewritten by Alfred McCallum, the mayor's secretary, and with a supposed copy was handed to the health commissioner for his signature. He carefully read the original and then hurriedly signed it, and the report was ready.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon Mayor Cullum called a solemn convocation of the heads of his departments, with the avowed object of discussing the annual reports.

"We will take up the health commissioner's first," he said. "Is this your signature, doctor," he asked, turning to the health commissioner, and pointing to the signature at the bottom of the supposed copy. "Yes, sir."

The mayor then began to read the report. At the bottom of the report Murray's eyes began to bulge, but he bore it like a thoroughbred, and when the burst of laughter broke over him he proposed an adjournment for cigars, admitting that all old scores had been settled and that the treat was certainly "on him."

EXCEED HALF BILLION MARK

Growth of Exports of Domestic Manufactures In 1904.

Washington, Jan. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Exports of domestic manufactures from the United States in 1904 exceeded for the first time $500,000,000, or half a billion dollars, and reached $542,453,515 in 1904, compared with $441,000,000 in the earlier high-record year, 1900. Comparing 1904 with still earlier periods, it may be said that the exports of manufactures were in 1894, ten years earlier, but $177,000,000; in 1884, $120,000,000; in 1874, $80,000,000, and in 1864, $25,000,000. These figures refer to calendar years except those of 1884 and earlier dates, which are those of fiscal years. The chief growth in the exports of manufactures, it will be seen, has occurred during the past decade, the growth during that period being $325,000,000 against $41,000,000 in the decade 1874-1884, $144,000,000 in the decade 1884-1894, $225,000,000 in the decade 1894-1904, and $122,000,000 in the decade 1900-1904.

Considering the last decade, in which the increase was six times as great as in any preceding decade, it may be further said that the growth in the closing year, 1904, was greater than that of any other year of the decade. The reports of domestic manufactures in 1904 were $542,453,515, against $421,453,515 in 1903. This increase of $121,000,000, the largest increase shown in exports of manufactures in any calendar year in our export record, occurs chiefly in iron and steel, copper, refined mineral oils and cotton. Comparing 1904 with 1903, the increase in iron and steel is $35,000,000; in copper, $11,000,000; in mineral oils, $8,000,000, and in cotton manufactures, $5,000,000. A statement printed herewith gives the total value of the principal articles or groups of articles classified as manufactures in the export statements prepared by the department of commerce from information derived from manufacturers, are iron and steel manufactures, copper manufactures, refined mineral oil, leather and manufactures thereof, cotton manufactures, agricultural implements, chemicals, and cars and carriages.

Considering iron and steel, the largest of these groups of manufacture of articles, and the most important because of the fact that it represents in a higher de-

COVERED WITH WOUNDS
Is Little Girl, Who Was Beaten By Aunt.
New York, Jan. 30.—A frail little girl, whose body was covered from head to foot with wounds, declared in Harlem police court that her aunt, Mrs. Johanna Pollard, 26 years old, had inflicted them with the buckle end of a strap.

Dr. Gibbs of the Children's society, testified that he found sixty-two abrasions on the child's body, and that two teeth had been knocked out. He said there were eleven wounds on the girl's face, a deep cut on the head, fifteen on the back, two on the abdomen, five on the right arm, six on the left arm, fourteen on the right leg and eight on the left leg.

He reported finding twenty-five old scars on her body, and said all of the wounds were from one inch to four inches long.

Mary Abbott is the name of the child. She is 9 years old.
Mrs. Pollard frankly acknowledged whipping the child. She was held for trial.

The members of the Christian Endeavor union will entertain at a skating party at the Central rink on South Lake avenue.

The members of Mrs. McDowell's Sunday school class of the Lester Park Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed a delightful sleigh ride Saturday afternoon. The place chosen was Lakeview, and after games had been indulged in for some time, luncheon was served in the pavilion. The return journey was made shortly after 5 o'clock. The affair was enjoyed by all.

BACK TO ANCIENTS.
Jewelers Complain of Drift to Old Style.

The manufacturing jewelers of New York declare that in order to sell their wares they have been forced to abandon the pure and simple designs of the Louis XVI. and Empire periods and surrender to the meaningless and utterly false spirit of the new art, with its Greek profiles, exaggerated draperies and Egyptian geometry, says James Creelman in the New York World.

The women of New York, like the women of Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna and St. Petersburg, hold the purses, strings of decorative art, and their tastes govern the tendencies of ornaments.

Ten years ago a young French designer, Rene Laloux, and his associates, serious impulse to this art misdirection. His skill, refinement, poetic imagination and delicate sense of color and texture impressed the art lovers of Paris as well as the novelty-seeking women of the fashionable and frivolous world. His designs, conceived, precious stones, ivory and fine enamels.

What was a Parisian within ten years ago has now become a settled indifference, largely controlling the decorative taste of the world. A glance at the shop windows of New York today reveals the domination of this

YOU CAN INTEREST HIM.
Any Man Over Fifty.

You can interest any man over fifty years of age in anything that will make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any of the organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of twenty-five nor the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health.

He will notice among other things that the stomach of fifty is a very different one from the stomach of twenty. The stomach of twenty is a very different one from the stomach of fifty. The stomach of twenty is a very different one from the stomach of fifty.

No, the stomach itself wants help and in no amount of way, either it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one of two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

These tablets cure stomach trouble because their use gives the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contains digestive elements sufficient to digest 2000 grains of ordinary food such as bread, meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new fangled breakfast cereals is simply a matter of worse, as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many people seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores, it is a humbug, whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is overcautious knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of indigestion, heart burn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run-down conditions generally than all the other medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

new and strange jumble of conflicting symbolisms which has arrested the attention and caught the fancy of the woman of so many countries.

The new art has spread from jewelry to furniture, pottery, wall paper, textile fabrics and even to architecture. As William Morris degraded the color sense of England with his tints of watery yellow, crushed strawberry and arsenical green—until it was impossible to buy in London a wall paper true to primitive color or free from the confusing artificialities of a Frenchman has brought chaos to aesthetic Europe and America.

Go into the shops of Sixth avenue and Broadway and you will find the new art carved, stamped, painted and woven into everything that pertains to the ornamentation of the person or the home. Its influence reaches from the palace of the millionaire, from the tenement of the day laborer, from the barroom to the church.

Millions of dollars' worth of articles have been wrought into the forms of the new art in New York alone within a past few months. It is becoming the guiding motive of all artificers, for the merchant must have what the public will buy. Pure classic art is in a secondary place.

Take the profile of a woman from Greek sculpture, the flowing lines from the trailing hem of a Japanese woman's kimono, the conventionalized lines of the ornamentation of the person or the home. in its simplest and most tranquil moods. The best Japanese art represents nature twisted and exaggerated, untrue to nature and devoid of dignity or repose.

These are the two antagonistic arts, sprung from different races and ages—one simple and intellectual, the other sensual and complicated—which are united in the new spirit of design.

The Greek dress belonged to a normal, healthy body. The woman of the new art has a wasp-waist possible only in tightly laced corsets. The Greek dress permitted a woman to walk. The Japanese kimono flows about a woman's feet in waves.

It is Paris and Tokio of today blended with the Athens of Pericles and the Egypt of the Pharaohs.

Yet the designers in the great manufacturing houses of New York say that they are utterly helpless to stay this tidal movement toward the incongruous and morbid. The empire and Louis VI styles—true expressions of their periods and reflecting the feeling of pure Greek art—cannot compete with the hybrid symbolism of the new art.

The explanation? Woman!—the name in all countries.

Put Right Arm Forward.
The girl was about to try on a new gown which was being made for her. She's an ambidexterous girl, and so she held her left hand to be slipped into the sleeve first.

"The other arm," said the dressmaker gently, "thought every woman knew she must put her right arm in first at the first fitting."

"I didn't," she demanded, "everybody's doing it the other way." "Does it insure the gown's fitting better, or what's the matter?" asked the dressmaker.

"The dressmaker looked amazed at these questions. 'It's to insure your getting a new gown when you wear the waist,'" she said, pityingly. "I thought every one knew that. My goodness, but isn't it strange how people can go through the world and still not know the simplest things!"

Thompson took the letter out of his pocket and handed it to her without a word. She looked at it slowly, trying hard to keep her hands steady, and the color in her cheeks in her eyes as she suddenly and laid his palm over the written words. "Don't," she said hoarsely, "let me tell you myself."

She looked up at him dazedly, all the light of day had been taken from her eyes as she recognized the tragedy in his. She sat quite still, almost statue-like, waiting for him to speak.

He hesitated a moment, then broke out, "I don't want to tell you anything. I have just learned that I have a illegitimate child with a woman who despised me in a fit of petty temper—the woman whom I married. She is now dead. I am alone and I am ashamed of my life."

He interrupted him with a deprecating gesture. "There is a divine law, a law that is older than the world," he said. "I shall, of course, do what is right."

"You will do your duty, Jack. I am sure of that," she returned in a low tone. "But you must not use me for a moment's pleasure. I am a woman, and I have a right to be treated as such."

"Yes, I know. Three doors to the left—up this flight—into the coupe and was waiting for me. To the Metropolitan Opera House. The driver here looked at me in hurt bewilderment. 'Oh, no—not there—not now,'" she cried, a quick reproach leading to her tearful eyes.

He took her hands in mine and held them close till she calmed herself. "Everything is all right," I said. "You are right in this—as in everything. I shall, of course, do what is right."

"Come and see" was the subject chosen by Rev. John W. Powell for his sermon yesterday morning at the Endless M. E. church. "The ancient philosophers," said Mr. Powell, "were continually searching for some central fact on which to base a theory of the universe. They sought to explain all facts by some theory."

"Modern science has adopted a different method, known as the experimental method. The facts are first. The fundamental facts are viewed from every possible standpoint to avoid the possibility of error, and on these observations the theory is based. Some new fact may sweep aside all former theories, but the facts still remain."

"I believe we should adopt the experimental method in religion, and pay more attention to the facts of religion and less to the theories of religion."

"What are the facts of religion? There are the facts that in every human soul there is a longing for the help and assistance of some Outside Power in the trials of life, for companionship which earthly associations cannot satisfy."

"There are people who can argue for hours in defense of the established beliefs, presenting arguments in rebuttal of all heresies, but who do not know how to make use of the great practical truths of religion. They have the theory, but know nothing of the facts."

"We judge the character of men and women by the words they use," he said. "Words are the flowers of life. They either have the perfume of the fine character and the subtle developed intellect, or they bear the poisonous fruits of brutalized and unwholesome lives."

"The abuse of words is one of the sad features of humanity. Blasphemy, profanity, slander and white lies are such. Slanders should receive no toleration from decent people. The slanderer is the flower of evil. They either have the perfume of the fine character and the subtle developed intellect, or they bear the poisonous fruits of brutalized and unwholesome lives."

Rev. W. W. Robinson, pastor of Grace M. E. church, took for his subject, "Paul's Example." He drew a contrast between Paul and the modern representative of Christianity and paganism.

Morrisville, Pa., Jan. 26.—A woman's innate desire continually to fix her hair cheated her out of $169.99.

Mrs. Joseph Warnock was the plaintiff in a suit for $300 damages against the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co., in which she sought to recover for personal injuries sustained while alighting from one of the company's cars. She alleged that her shoulder had been permanently injured so that she could not raise her arm above her head.

The evidence showed that a bachelor conductor with a full sense of appreciation for a woman's right to her prettiest hair had become angered because Mrs. Warnock stopped on the car step

DULUTH BUILDERS' ANNUAL BANQUET

Men Who Do Things Feast at Commercial Club.
Guests From Twin Cities and Winnipeg Are Entertained.

The second annual dinner of the Duluth Builders' exchange will be down in the history of that organization as a notable social event. Gathered about the long tables at the Commercial club rooms, Saturday evening, were 170 men who do things, the majority being members of the local exchange. Their guests were a number of the local architects, civil engineers, contractors and building supply men, who are not members, also a number of the officers of the State association and of the local associations at the Twin Cities and Winnipeg.

Among those present were: J. W. L. Corning, St. Paul, president of the state association of exchanges; W. A. Elliott, of Minneapolis, vice president; A. V. Williams, St. Paul, secretary; J. F. McGuire, president St. Paul exchange; George W. Higgins, president Minneapolis Builders' and Traders' exchange; W. A. Stromme, secretary Minneapolis exchange; C. W. Murray, president Builders' exchange of Winnipeg.

Among the members of the various out-of-town exchanges were: A. P. Cameron, L. P. Turner, St. Paul; H. B. Crum, O. P. Bailey, H. S. Taylor, H. A. Rogers, Minneapolis; A. F. Murray, W. P. Aldis, Winnipeg; Howard Thomas, city engineer, Superior, Wis. The banquet began shortly after 8 o'clock, the festivities ending shortly after midnight. Throughout the evening, which comprised an elegant eight-course dinner, in the main parlors, the orchestra, stationed in the annex dining room. About the head of the table were draped the American and the Canadian flags, the latter in honor of the Canadian guests.

The toasts began about 9:30 o'clock. President J. F. McGuire of the Duluth Builders' exchange, extending a cordial welcome to the local guests and those from out-of-town. Mr. McGuire introduced W. E. Mager as toastmaster for the evening. Mr. Mager was a happy choice. He made several witty speeches, filling in between the toasts, and introducing the following speakers:

Mayor M. B. Cullum, in behalf of the city and himself, extended a welcome to the visitors from the Twin Cities, Winnipeg and Superior. He said Duluth makes no pretensions at being a winter resort, but does claim to be a summer resort of renown. He gave a few of the latest statistics showing the extent of the commerce of this harbor, and called attention to the development of the city in twenty-five years from almost nothing to a municipality of nearly 25,000 people. The development from a trading post and fishing harbor into the second largest shipping port in this country.

"It may not occur in our lifetime," said the mayor, "but our children will live to see this city one of the greatest shipping ports in the world."

President J. W. L. Corning of the State exchange, referred with pleasure to his visit here a year ago. He claimed that some good work has been accomplished along many lines by the state exchange in the past year, although it has had to work against handicaps.

President J. F. McGuire of the St. Paul exchange, toasted his local organization in a way which demonstrated that the St. Paul Builders' exchange was to be and are proud of their exchange. Mr. McGuire characterized the St. Paul exchange as the father of the Minneapolis and the Duluth exchanges, an organization of 176 firms, corporations and about 320 individual members. He claimed that the secret of success of the exchange was the loyalty of its members and the aid it paid to the efforts of A. V. Williams in building it up.

Mr. McGuire referred to the Twin Cities and Duluth as a triplet of cities the like of which no other state in the union can boast. He also noted the three feuds that exist between the three cities, no jealousies or wrangling, and said that this good feeling has been brought about largely through the fraternal and business organizations. Although competition may be lively between the cities, it is a good natural rivalry. In closing Mr. McGuire likened the history of the three exchanges to that of the state of Minnesota, whose motto is "Onward, Upward and Forward."

President George W. Higgins responded in behalf of the Minneapolis exchange. He scored a hit with the assembly by declaring that while the St. Paul exchange has been a kind father, the proper thing for it to do now is to "shuffle off" and leave the field for its progressive children, the Minneapolis and the Duluth exchanges.

He brought the greetings of the Minneapolis exchange and invited all to the state exchange which meets at Minneapolis Feb. 25 next.

President G. W. Murray extended greetings from the Winnipeg exchange to its Minnesota cousins. He gave a pleasing talk in a local vein, telling some stories and then, growing serious, said that sometimes Duluth gets a little ahead of Winnipeg in estimating its prosperity. He gave some of the statistics showing the wonderful growth and prosperity of the Canadian metropolis in the past few years, the increase of its property values from $2,000,000 to over $45,000,000, the increase in value of new buildings in one year from $3,000,000 to about $8,500,000. He called attention to the unique position held by the three Minnesota cities and Winnipeg as the manufacturing or distributing centers of the Northwest, and declared that the four cities are striving to build on a firm foundation. The Winnipeg exchange, Mr. Murray said, has about 135 very active and enthusiastic members.

Howard Thomas, city engineer of Superior, responded for the interests across the bay. He said: "The thing I can say for Superior is that we have got next to Duluth and we intend to stay here. Some of my Superior friends may say this is hereby, but we are going to play such a tune at the head of the parade that the second Duluth will be considered a very important instrument."

T. W. Hugo, assistant mechanical engineer in Modern Buildings, Mr. Hugo dwelt upon the necessity, during the present age of large buildings, of the mechanical engineer. He said that the engineer in order to get the most economical returns from the power plants, must be able to design buildings that are erected without regard to convenience and economy, but with a view to architectural beauty entirely. The tendency at the present time, Mr. Hugo claimed, is setting more strongly toward a proper view of the conditions, when more attention is paid to the installation of the larger power plants. "The things which cut up money," Mr. Hugo read an extract from the letter of a friend in which it was stated that the architectural profession has been neglecting a proper consideration of the power plant in buildings, and it is this neglect that is forcing in a large part, the small contractors of this business. He said that the architects to see that the builder has the advice of the modern mechanical engineering profession as to economical power plants. Mr. Hugo congratulated the Duluth Builders' exchange on its splendid progress.

To W. A. Elliott, of Minneapolis, was assigned the toast "As you very creditably, and amusingly, raising up the serious phase, he claimed that the sort of gatherings such as the present one are the best means of great deal for what is going on in the cities represented."

"Contractors would shy at each other when they met on the streets. Organization has done away with that state of affairs. The local exchanges are looking more and more prosperous. We cannot make them better alone, but each one of us must help the other."

Mr. Elliott characterized Minneapolis as one of the greatest states in the union, because within its borders are found every possible material used in building. He closed his talk with the admonition that the members of the building exchanges of the coast take the golden rule and stand by each other.

Secretary A. V. Williams talked interestingly of the state association of exchanges, of its growth, prosperity and what it has and will accomplish. At the present time, he said, the state exchange is represented by 428 firms or over 700 individuals. Within the last year eighteen new local exchanges have been established in the state.

F. L. Young gave an eloquent and interesting talk on "Architects, Their Work and Influence Upon Civilization." Mr. Young said, in part: "A really successful architect is deserving of the highest honors that can be conferred upon him. By a successful architect I do not mean the one who is able to manipulate the public mind, or to erect his own monuments, records the history of his time and race, or to leave his impression upon civilization that follows in the centuries to come."

"Architecture records a true history of the people and race of the past. It is not influenced as may be the religious and political character, but it is a history which shows the character of the people and civilization of the different ages."

Mr. Young took up successively the old Egyptian people and styles of architecture, the Greek, the Roman, the Gothic, the Renaissance, the Baroque, the Neoclassical, the Modern, and the American. He said that the architect of the future must be able to create a new style of architecture, one that is not influenced by the past, but that is a true reflection of the life and times of the future.

ing toast to Duluth, which was enthusiastically received. "When first the insts of ages past Had rolled away in endless space, This land of ours revealed to man The beauties of her smiling face."

One glorious spot far in the West, More beautiful than all the rest, Where rivers, lakes and sparkling hills Lay hidden amongst the gorgeous hills.

Dame Nature gazed in pleased surprise, A perfect paradise she cries, A home fit for gods, in truth, And straightway named the spot, Duluth.

But while we eulogize Duluth, And sing her praises, one and all, We still will love our sister 'Miniac. And our saintly brother, 'Paul."

Z. D. Scott responded briefly to the toast, "Shavings," during which he dealt on the economical tendency of the times in the savings of by-products of the mills.

Architect W. A. Hunt responded to "A Courthouse While You Wait." He gave a humorous turn to the subject, and told a good story bearing on his point. Mr. Hunt said that when the county commission called for bids on plans to be submitted at their next meeting there were only a few architects who seemed to take their seats, but that the number of the commissioners were perpetrating a joke.

Hugh M. Todd, who was last on the list of speakers, toasted the local exchange and the county commission, and guests for their presence. The visitors from out of town followed with their remarks, and the banquet broke up with the chorus "America."

During the intervals between the selection of the number of delightful selections were rendered by the Orléans Quartet. The officers of the Duluth Builders' exchange are: J. F. McGuire, president; Otto Johnson, vice president; Hugh M. Todd, secretary; A. V. Williams, treasurer; and Edwin R. Cobb, secretary.

The banquet was arranged by a committee comprised of H. R. Armstrong, W. A. Thompson and L. D. Campbell. The reception committee comprised the following: H. A. Hall, J. A. Carey, H. M. Todd, H. R. Armstrong, Robert Fireman, H. D. Bullard, Frank Carlson, E. J. Zauri, C. E. Evans, L. R. Black, Charles Baxter, G. V. Burgess, L. R. Helbing.

Five Families In Schuman Flats Driven Out By Fire.

Fire rendered five families living in the Schuman flats homeless Saturday evening. The blaze broke out while most of the occupants of the building were enjoying a sleighride on the Herkman road. When they returned they found their homes uninhabitable, and were compelled to seek shelter for the night with neighbors.

Mrs. Harry England, wife of one of the firemen in Hose company No. 3, which is in the building at the time and had some difficulty in escaping with her baby.

The fire is believed to have started from an overheated radiator on the third floor. The damage to the building is estimated at $1000 fully covered by insurance.

Rees Rink Not Composed of Kids—Games In Duluth.

"I don't know how the name of 'kid' rink came to be applied to the Rees rink which played in the bonspiel at St. Paul," said A. H. Smith, vice-president of the Duluth Curling club, who returned Saturday from St. Paul.

"It is an entirely different rink from the old Rees rink which used to be known as the 'kid' rink. The only man who is the same is the skip, who is about 25 years of age, and has had several years experience at curling. His father, a man over sixty years of age, played in the bonspiel."

"The members of the Rees rink played themselves in the bonspiel. Halg curled the game of his life, and the other men did exceptionally well, especially Cutler. The national championship was won when the final draws for the St. Paul rink, J. E. Myers and his team, were defeated by the Rees rink, 10 to 5."

Hastings, of Minneapolis, defeated Griggs 10 to 11, winning the St. Paul rink trophy. H. Johnson, of St. Paul, defeated Orndy, of St. Paul, for the Myers trophy, and C. H. Johnson, of St. Paul, won the event by defeating McCrossin, of Minneapolis, 10 to 5.

The following is the list of prize-winners in the different events: C. H. Griggs, Duluth rink trophy—C. H. Griggs, first; W. D. Stewart, second; Joseph Lemmon, third; A. S. Halg, fourth.

Canadian rink trophy—Evan Rees, first; S. Hastings, second; L. P. Orndy, third; W. D. Stewart, fourth.

J. E. Myers trophy—C. H. Johnson, first; L. P. Orndy, second; A. B. Van Bergen, third; W. H. Lightner, fourth.

St. Paul rink trophy—S. Hastings, first; C. M. Griggs, second; Evan Rees, third; L. P. Orndy, fourth.

TO REVEAL SECRETS

E. M. Ferguson Will Disclose Routing Scheme of Railroads.

Duluthian Continues His Statement Before Senate Committee.

Washington, Jan. 31.—E. M. Ferguson, of Duluth, Minn., continued his statement to the senate interstate commerce committee today relative to alleged discriminations by railroads in favor of operators of refrigerator car lines. He offered a number of letters showing the possibility of getting from railroads definite information as to rates of refrigerator goods. For the reason that no fixed rate was given, in answer to the committee, he advised the hearing

by law of all charges in relation to refrigeration, and the possibility of these rates, the same as freight rates, are published. In answer to the charge that the railroad companies had been grossing that were making the railroads private property, he said that the railroads were not making the railroads private property, and that the railroads were not making the railroads private property, and that the

railroads were not making the rail-

JOHANN HOCH, THE ALLEGED BLUEBEARD.

This photograph of Johann Hoch, arrested in New York Monday night, charged with bigamy and other crimes, was taken soon after his marriage to Mrs. Julia Steinbrecker. He was wedded under the name of Jacob Hoch. Shortly after the marriage she was taken sick and to several persons she expressed the belief that her husband was poisoning her. Several days later she was dead and Hoch came into possession of her property.

Minneapolis Man In Legislature.

Measure to Make Marriage Law Correspond With Wisconsin's.

Separate Ballots For Amendments to City Charters Proposed.

FROM THE HERALD
ST. PAUL BUREAU.

St. Paul, Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The protection of buyers of stock in mining, oil and gas companies is sought in a bill introduced in the house to-morrow by W. W. Rasmussen, of Minneapolis. It provides that no stock in such companies can be sold in the state unless the company files with the secretary of state a statement showing the condition of the property, the amount of work done, etc. Annual statements of a similar nature are required. A fine of $500 is provided for selling stock without filing a statement, a fine of $200 is provided for making the annual statement is included.

If a bill introduced by Senator J. T.

Schank, of Traverse City, in the senate, this morning, becomes a law, no body can get married in this state without getting a license, and days ahead of the ceremony. Anybody performing a marriage ceremony before the five days have elapsed is guilty of a misdemeanor. The law follows that now in effect in Wisconsin.

Senator Johnson introduced a bill, providing separate ballots for amendments to city charters, in order to secure a larger vote upon them. This is followed at the present time by the constitutional amendments, which worked so well that three were passed at the last election.

Twenty-three bills were introduced this morning, twenty-five in the house and fifteen in the senate, but most of them were copies of bills already in-

Lumbermen Are Killing Many Deer In Upper Peninsula.

Sault Ste. Marie—Lumbermen are killing the deer of the upper peninsula in large quantities and great herds are being made on the antlered tribe, says Charles Chapman, state game warden. A large number of deer are being killed in a systematic manner and many camps where thousands of men are employed keep a team busy killing the animals throughout the winter season. Unless this practice be stopped the game hunting region north of the Straits of Mackinac will soon be devoid of its deer. The punishment for such offenses is $50. Game warden Chapman favors a law making the minimum punishment ten days in jail.

Tired of the life of shame she was living, and with no hope for better things in the future, Linda Thomas, a young woman of Sault Ste. Marie, was found by the life of taking suicide pills. The body of the girl was found on the bed, where she had evidently died without a struggle. On a stand by the side of the bed was a small case that had contained the pills. Her mouth was found by contact with the pills. The girl left a note, which was addressed to her mother, Mrs. J. Arnold, 38 Larned street, Detroit, in which she said she was sorry and begged her mother to tell her father that she was dead. The handwriting was poor, and it was with difficulty that her mother was read. She asked that her body be buried in Detroit. A girl, who said her name was Jessie Gray, claimed she was a cousin of Miss Thomas. According to her story, as told to the coroner and Sheriff Lipscomb, the two girls came from Toronto last October, their fare being paid by May McDonald, who went to that city and induced them to come to the Sault. It was the first place of the kind they had been in. The dead girl was aged about twenty-five. Her mother, who has been married twice, is in humble circumstances.

CANADA LOOKS AT THE GRAVE PROBLEM

To United States For Protection From Foreign Invasions. Which the Nation Faces In the San Domingo Policy.

Says This Country Has No Choice Under Monroe Doctrine. Upholding Monroe Doctrine May Mean General Protectorate.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 31.—The position of the United States in regard to the defense of Canada in case of invasion is becoming interesting in connection with the question of a Canadian contribution to the British army and navy, which soon must be settled. It is proposed to take the question before parliament.

In certain quarters the suggestion that Canada should contribute towards the military defense of the United States and sea is scouted as absurd. The opposition, however, contends that the principle of Canada should do its share toward the maintenance of the imperial navy and military establishments.

The objection of some ministerialists to an imperial contribution is summed up in the argument that the United States has no choice under the Monroe doctrine but to protect Canada's ports on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts from any European power or combination of European powers at war with Great Britain. It is pointed out that it is impossible to undertake the duty. Canada consequently has nothing to fear: it is under no necessity of taking any resources to the money to maintain additional forces that it has no use for.

Discussion on defense in Canada has been forced by the attitude of leading British newspapers. The point is that even if the United States should accept the implied obligation under the Monroe doctrine to protect Canada from invasion, the defense of Canada's shipping at sea commerce, and the fleets of the navy is another thing.

The opposition at Ottawa contends that if the government understands the obligation to protect Canada from invasion, it will be the plain duty of the opposition to bring proposals to parliament to provide for a reasonable contribution to imperial defense. Should it decide, it is intimated, it will be the plain duty of the opposition to bring proposals to parliament to provide for a reasonable contribution to imperial defense.

The explanation of the sweeping conservative victory in the election of members of the Ontario legislature is the popular uprising against the corruption by which the Liberal (reform) government kept itself in power. The last election, since "machine" methods regularly have been resorted to.

In a house of ninety-eight members, in which the Liberals for thirty years have managed to keep a majority, the reform party won by virtue of the defeat of Premier G. W. Ross will become premier of Ontario, and its office place will be in the reform in every branch of the administration.

Senators with whom I have talked, firm supporters of the administration at that, admit they are much puzzled to know how the opposition can do this. They can see difficulties and dangers in either course.

As to the immediate future, it is expected President Roosevelt will send to the senate some provisions of the memorandum or protocol which he already has carried out. The provisions of the memorandum or protocol which he already has carried out.

No one seriously believes the president ever had any idea of going ahead on his own account. The Democratic senators suspect the president without the consent of the senate. And they were prepared to make a dramatic and bold move.

They place reliance upon his word. If the president had adopted the Democratic line, he would have been told by Mr. Roosevelt that it was from the first his intention to submit the matter to the senate, and of course, if they place reliance upon his word.

An important and delicate question is now raised or may be raised at an early hour in this San Domingo affair. It is a question of the president's sending a treaty. There is no chance that the senate will ratify it at this time.

On Jan. 21, a Naor man died, and Johnson, a freeman, tried with his sheath knife to attack the body. We saw him horn up in mind. These factors were rank mad, and lashed him to a thwart. Then he threw overboard the Naor man's body.

Then the men in their delirium wanted to kill and destroy. The German fellow to kill and destroy. The president wanted to kill and destroy. The president wanted to kill and destroy.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—A Washington special by Walter Wellman to the Record-Herald says: What leading public men characterize as the most important question with which the American people have been confronted since the civil war is the one raised by the negotiations President Roosevelt has instituted with San Domingo.

This question is thus stated by well-informed senators, members of the foreign relations committee of the United States prepared to enter upon a policy which in the end will mean the establishment of a protectorate over all of the nations to the south of us—in the West Indies, Central and South America—for the sake of maintaining the Monroe doctrine.

Prominent Republican senators declare that this is the most important question with which the American people have been confronted since the civil war is the one raised by the negotiations President Roosevelt has instituted with San Domingo.

To keep hands off, refuse to act as financial advisers. Some would continue to forbid European nations to collect their way claims and to limit their property not far distant—come into complications and possible collision with one or another of our policies.

2. To adopt the policy of which President Roosevelt already has made a leading and launch upon a program which will make it necessary for the United States to take the lead in the world.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 31.—The American Fraternal congress, 30,000 strong, have prepared to meet in the city of Butte, Mont., for the purpose of testing against the proposed taxation of the various fraternal orders in the state and nation.

He found it. Just as Recommended. "I bought a fifty cent package of Pyramid Pile Cure from my druggist, and have used two dollar packages since. I find them just as you recommended them to be. I have not felt the least sign of piles since using your remedy three months ago. If you want to use my name you may do so as I feel like a new man. I now have no trouble with the dreadful, aggravated disease."

I meant to write you sooner, but thought I would wait until I was cured. I thank you for your wonderful Pile Cure. I was a great sufferer from piles. Fred W. R. D. J. New Brunswick, N. J.

Seldom, if ever, is there any doubt about the effect produced by the use of Pyramid Pile Cure, as is shown by the experience given above. The proprietors of this remedy have thousands of similar letters on file, and surely no better proof of the merit of the preparation could be asked; when it is borne in mind that these letters are wholly unsolicited, there is certainly cause for pride in the remedy.

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for fifty cents a package, and if yours hasn't it he will get it for you. Ask him to do so. It is a sure cure, and remember there is no remedy just as good. Everyone is urged to write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book describing the causes and cure of piles, as it affords much useful information and is sent free for the asking.

placed, simply quit work. His district takes in Duluth and all of the ranges and there is nothing to show for the money paid him.

From a slight investigation, I find that Allen is not the only one who figured on displacement and directed his remaining energies at simply drawing his salary, said Mr. Williams. "This is not the case with all of the inspectors, however. Some have worked and have the goods to show for it."

By an odd arrangement, the labor commissioner has no say in the payment of the inspectors. The inspectors are getting the stipulated amount or more than that. Commissioner Williams says he intends to ask for legislation that will put the department on a better business basis.

If the conditions in Duluth are as represented, an extra man will have to be sent up there to help the new man catch up.

HAPPENINGS IN DAKOTAS

The Three Youngs Lodged In Jail at Wessington Springs.

SOUTH DAKOTA. Wessington Springs—Three men, John Young, John Young, Jr., and Gerald Young, father and sons, have been lodged in the county jail on suspicion of having been implicated in the murder of George M. Todd and Joseph Johnson, residing on the farm, three miles from Todd's, and is supposed to have been murdered.

Ed F. Linn died at his home in Cherry township, on Monday.

Deadwood—Every time the state legislature meets a bill is prepared and presented which is intended to raise the tax on the county of agriculture and on the Black Hills. At this session a bill has been presented intended to separate the mineral land from the agricultural land for separate taxation.

The Black Hills people feel that they are paying the taxes that the proceeds from mines will stand in Lawrence county there are about 300 acres of mineral land which is now being assessed for $1,200,000, which does not seem to be a high price for the property. This is an average of $4 an acre. There are about 20 acres of mineral land in the county that are assessed at $200,000, which is many times the amount of the whole section of agriculture and on the Black Hills. The mining structures in the county are assessed further for $1,200,000. In view of the fact that the general average of the ore mined in the Black Hills is low, mine owners can see great harm to the mining industry in having the taxes raised any higher.

Mitchell—With the state legislature halting over the establishment of a twin plant at the penitentiary, the board of charities and corrections has been in search of some other place for the employment of convicts. W. E. Tipton, secretary of the board, returned today from a trip to Indiana, where he visited the penitentiary to make investigations of the shirt factory. For about $200 a plant for the manufacture of shirts can be put into operation with 120 men. An Eastern firm offers to furnish the capital and take the output. This plant can be put into operation within a few months, and 120 men set to work at an output of about a few thousand shirts, while a single system (wine plant) that would employ but sixty-eight men would cost $200,000.

Canton—The State Mutual Fire association, whose shareholders are scattered all over the state, with headquarters in Canton, has completed its fifth annual. The company has almost doubled its capital.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Dr. C. W. Lewis, coroner's physician, said today that he would ask for a continuance of the inquest over the body of Miss Mary Walker Hoch, whose death led to the revelations of the much-married life of Johann Hoch. The physician has not completed the chemical analysis of the woman's stomach and will ask for more time.

"There is a possibility of the analysis amounting to something," said Dr. Lewis. The chemical analysis, when completed, ought to settle the question whether the woman died naturally or not. After I finish my work, an expert will go over it and will give me a satisfactory report. All this takes time."

Sioux Falls—T. M. Shanafelt, president of the state soldiers' home board, and Thomas M. Goddard, commandant of the state soldiers' home at Hot Springs, have given out a statement opposing to the state again as will which is a bill of the state legislature, and which seeks in a measure to take pensions from old soldiers who are addicted to the soldiers' home.

Sioux Falls—The Prohibition committee of the state is making good progress in its campaign, under the initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution, for a county local option law. If this proposed law is adopted, the people of an entire county may vote upon the question of license. Petitions are now being circulated in every county in the state.

Brookings—F. H. Trousdale was sandbagged Saturday evening in the railroad station. The finishing touches are being put on the interior of the new $10,000 opera house. The opening will occur in about three weeks.

Lake Preston—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Preston Creamery was held. During the year the creamery receipts were $18,675. The company is in a healthy condition and doing a nice business.

Mitchell—One hundred have been converted in the revival.

Miller—County Treasurer Trytnall has been ordered to show cause why he should not be restrained from depositing the county funds in the First National bank. The complaint is by W. H. Water of the Citizens' bank, which was not selected as a depository.

Pierre—The senate Saturday started fireworks for the first time in its session over the resolution memorializing congress for the election of United States senators by popular vote, which was defeated on committee report, by a vote of 75 to 7. The adverse report was adopted.

Yankton—Mrs. H. C. Ash, Black Hills pioneer, is dead.

Evarts—Fox Island, No. 13, in the Missouri river in front of this town, is desired by the citizens for a public park. The island is about 200 acres in size, and is a mile long and half a mile wide, and covered with a small growth of cottonwood and box elder.

NORTH DAKOTA. Mandan—E. R. Steinbreck, of this city, has received the appointment of custodian of the special collection of the State Historical society, which recently procured quarters in the new wing of the state capitol. He is a well-known collector of Indian matters and traditions. He has donated over seven thousand specimens to the Minnesota organization and $500 to the North Dakota exhibit. He will prepare maps, showing the location and topography of the different Indian villages.

Grafton—News was received Saturday of the sudden death of G. R. Gullickson of this city in Minnesota. He was 60 years of age, had resided in Grafton for twenty-four of those years and had served in the United States army for four years. He was a native of Sweden, and was a registered dealer and assessor, and was also representative.

Oakes—Fire Saturday completely destroyed the feed store of N. B. Walker, Oakes, $200; insurance $100. The building of Miss Ranka Johnson was also demolished; loss, $100; insurance, $70.

Unless the physician finds some trace of poison in the woman's stomach, hope of convicting Hoch of murder will be practically gone. There will, however, remain many questions swirling and bigamy, on which Hoch will be prosecuted. It will probably be two weeks before Hoch is brought back to Chicago, unless he waives extradition.

WRECKED BY DYNAMITERS

Big Artesian Well Sunk For Crookston Is Blown Up.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 31.—The famous Beale Street artesian well, recently completed by the Crookston Waterworks Power and Light company, was dynamited yesterday morning at 2:30, and it is feared was completely wrecked, though the damage cannot be stated definitely at this time.

The well was 215 feet deep and far a distance of eighty feet a circular brick cutting, eight feet in diameter had been built. The pump was installed at the bottom of the curbing Saturday last, and the well was ready for operation. It was sunk to give Crookston a pure water supply, and was to have been pumped into the city mains in place of the water from the artesian well.

The outrage has caused a tremendous sensation and all the civil machinery has been started to land the miscreants. The well had cost something over $10,000. W. L. Murphy of Minneapolis, is the principal owner of the waterworks and light company.

The explosion broke many windows and frightened the residents of the city nearby out of their wits, several women being on the verge of hysterics. Men who remained on the balance of the night frightened by the trembling of their houses.

There are rumors, with no apparent basis, that the dynamite was used by the owners of smaller wells, whose flow was damaged by the big well. It is thought that the damage will reach $500, though this is conjecture.

JUDGE DEWEY STRICKEN.

Pioneer of Benton County In Critical Condition.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 31.—Judge W. J. Dewey, of Sault Rapids, one of the pioneers of Benton county, was stricken suddenly with apoplexy at his dinner table Sunday, and will probably not recover from the attack. The judge is 72 years old and owing to his advanced age it is not considered possible that he can recover.

He had been up and about all day and had not complained of being in ill health. He was taken to his office and was apparently in the best of health and spirits. He was talking with his family during the meal and suddenly fell forward onto the table in an unconscious condition. His wife, who was his companion, was summoned at once and he spent the greater part of the day and night before the patients' bed. Judge Dewey has a large family of children, his sons conducting a general store at Sault Rapids.

West Duluth

At the council meeting last night, on motion of Alderman L. A. Barnes, it was ordered that all judges of election be notified that polling places must be open and ready for voting promptly at 6 a. m. of election day. Mr. Barnes explained that a few minutes' delay in this respect kept many workmen from voting at all. Particularly is this true in West Duluth, he said, where many of the men walk a considerable distance in going to work.

Alderman Barnes also asked that the voting machine be used at the coming election in the high precinct of the Phillips hotel at the earliest possible date so that voters may have an opportunity to familiarize themselves with its operation before they are called upon to cast their vote. At the last election the machine was installed in the West Duluth fire hall.

NOT SO EASY.
Lumberjack Gets Even With Train Boy.

The lumberjack has the reputation of being an easy mark. The general belief is that there is nothing easier than to part him and his money. Even the train boys share this belief and act accordingly. A West Duluth man who came down from the range the other day on one of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern trains, tells of an instance where the mark was not so easy as he looked.

When the train was yet many miles from Duluth, and not very far from its starting point, it dawned upon a mischievous woodsman that he could make good use of some money if he had it. He didn't have the cash, but tucked away in his breast pocket was a time check with a face value of $25.71. He asked the train boy to cash it. This individual said he would take the check and give $25 in return. The lumberjack kicked, but the exchange was made.

It was not long after this that the newsboy found himself short of change. Everybody seemed to be buying his wares, and everybody was paying with bills. It became apparent that he would lose a number of sales unless he could scrape up change somewhere. No one appeared to be able to accommodate him in this respect. As a last resort he appealed to the woodsman. He remembered giving the latter a considerable amount of small change. The former victim was agreeable. He said he would change the proffered $5 bill. He took it and handed back $4.50. A heated argument followed, which finally ended when the train boy took the $4.50 and went about selling his wares.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.
Arnold Johnson, residing at the corner of Sixty-first avenue west and Ellicott street, has returned from Underwood, Minn., where he has been visiting friends. William Robertson, his cousin, returned with him, for a visit with relatives in West Duluth.
Dr. G. E. Budd, dentist, 302 Central avenue, West Duluth.
Mrs. Agnes Pearson, who died Sunday evening at the Red Cross hospital, was only 18 years old. She had been married three months. Her funeral will be held from the Swedish Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Interment will be at Oakdale cemetery.
The calendar circle of the Presbyterian church will entertain their social evening in the church parlors. There will be a musical program of vocal, piano and violin selections. Those taking part will be Mr. Wilkinson, Miss Myrtle Carey and Miss Shannon.
Zenith Pharmacy, 504 Raleigh St., John Fox, 309 Fifty-third avenue west, has returned from Hibbing, where he had charge of a pile driver. On an accident he was badly crushed, making it necessary for him to quit working for a time.
The Union match factory is now manufacturing a new kind of match, call it the no-leak. It may be lighted with but the crackling sound common to the ordinary match. The head is of two colors, red and green.
Edward Smith, who claims the professional championship of Duluth, and Carl Alrich, champion skater of Superior, will race at the Western curling rink, Fifty-seventh avenue west, Friday night.
George Mann, of West Duluth, was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Judge Felt, in justice court, on the charge of operating an engine without a license. His hearing was set for Saturday. Mann was in charge of an engine used in the extension work at the Misawee ore dock. He holds a marine engineer's license and says he thought it was unnecessary to procure another to work on land.
Trustee L. A. Barnes and Attorney H. H. Phelps, in charge of the affairs of the defunct Merchants bank, announce that another 10 per cent dividend will be declared in the very near future. Mr. Barnes was appointed trustee only a little more than a month ago. The record in being so soon able to declare a dividend is considered a very good one. This will be the second dividend. The first was also one of 10 per cent, paid about one year ago.

DIED IN POORHOUSE.
Brother of Former Illinois Senator Passes Away.
Genesee, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Joel Davis, 92 years old, brother of David Davis, the late jurist and United States senator from Illinois, died here in a poorhouse. He was committed to the county's charge three years ago from California, where he had spent the greater part of his life.
Senator Davis, when he died, was reported a weak but sane man. It is doubtful whether he knew anything about the circumstances of his brother. Joel relied upon his own judgment in his last days. A maid met him at the door of the house and asked for his card. He told her that he never owned such a thing. The maid refused to admit him, but said she would speak to the senator. Senator Davis, she reported a few min-

TOO MUCH LAXETY

In Freeing Frank Mox Judge Cant Discusses Official Duty.

Too Much Cutting of Corners, Instead of Strict Observance.

Frank Mox, indicted for making a false entry, road engineer, with intent to defraud the county, was this morning, in district court, acquitted of the charge. Judge Cant, on motion of the defendant's attorney, H. B. Fryberger, directed the verdict.

In granting this motion, Judge Cant indulged in some remarks on the moral aspect of all such cases that may bear cogitation by public officials and private individuals as well. Said he in part:

"All the lawsuits and trouble that are brought to these courts for judgment are caused by people in public and private walks of life cutting corners, doing things in a manner that is almost but not just right. Where people in positions of trust fail to do just the right thing we despise them. Then if we hold in contempt such conduct in private life, how much more indignant and contemptuous should we feel with the lack of rectitude of those in public positions of trust. There is too much of this skimping of propriety. We should not endeavor to do 'nearly right,' but 'just right.'"

"Take this statement of the defendant, for instance. The money involved was evidently due for September work, but he made the statement showing that the work was done in December, probably in order to cover a mistake. No matter how the defendant was induced to make this statement, he should not have done it. Better let the whole machinery stop, and get it right. The defendant is probably guilty of perjury in making the statement, unintentionally, likely, but nevertheless guilty, for the bill is not true."

"In making these remarks I do not wish to be understood as seeking to cast aspersions on this defendant or any single individual but I am discussing the seeming general inclination of public and private officials to do things in a negligent manner. These matters should be handled straight and not so as to compel the county to employ detectives to dig behind the acts. Everything should be straight on its face."

"It doesn't matter that others have adopted these methods; it doesn't matter how long this has been going on; it ought to be stopped."

"The made office swearing of this Northern country of ours has made ours a shanty town and it has become a shanty town to ease one's conscience after swearing falsely."

"To this defendant and others I will say: Do things just right, not nearly right. You won't take any other course there is liable to be something happen."

"I cannot find that the defendant made this entry with intent to defraud."

There is another indictment against Mox in connection with the same case but it is not likely that it will be tried.

BIGAMIST IS ARRAIGNED

Says He Will Go Back to Chicago to Face Charges.

New York, Jan. 31.—Johann Hoch, of Chicago, who was arrested here last night, charged with bigamy and with abandonment, after a search extending over the entire country, told the officials at police headquarters today that he returned to Chicago to face the charges. He wanted to face the charges against him in that city, he said, and has no intention of opposing extradition. Hoch was photographed for the rogues gallery before being taken to court.

Hoch may have had another victim in Justina Loeffler, of Elkhart, Ind., the police of Elkhart, Ind., believe. This young woman came to Chicago in 1901 and found employment in a restaurant. On May 22, 1902, she returned to Elkhart and announced that she had married Robert Schmidt, bookkeeper in a laboratory, and that he would shortly have a drug store of his own. Later she spoke of a new kind of match, call it the no-leak. It may be lighted with but the crackling sound common to the ordinary match. The head is of two colors, red and green.

Edward Smith, who claims the professional championship of Duluth, and Carl Alrich, champion skater of Superior, will race at the Western curling rink, Fifty-seventh avenue west, Friday night.

George Mann, of West Duluth, was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Judge Felt, in justice court, on the charge of operating an engine without a license. His hearing was set for Saturday. Mann was in charge of an engine used in the extension work at the Misawee ore dock. He holds a marine engineer's license and says he thought it was unnecessary to procure another to work on land.

Trustee L. A. Barnes and Attorney H. H. Phelps, in charge of the affairs of the defunct Merchants bank, announce that another 10 per cent dividend will be declared in the very near future. Mr. Barnes was appointed trustee only a little more than a month ago. The record in being so soon able to declare a dividend is considered a very good one. This will be the second dividend. The first was also one of 10 per cent, paid about one year ago.

DIED IN POORHOUSE.
Brother of Former Illinois Senator Passes Away.

Genesee, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Joel Davis, 92 years old, brother of David Davis, the late jurist and United States senator from Illinois, died here in a poorhouse. He was committed to the county's charge three years ago from California, where he had spent the greater part of his life.
Senator Davis, when he died, was reported a weak but sane man. It is doubtful whether he knew anything about the circumstances of his brother. Joel relied upon his own judgment in his last days. A maid met him at the door of the house and asked for his card. He told her that he never owned such a thing. The maid refused to admit him, but said she would speak to the senator. Senator Davis, she reported a few min-

RUSSIANS INSIST THEY SAW TORPEDO BOATS

Officers Testify to That Effect Before the Commission.

Paris, Jan. 31.—The Russian officers formerly with Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron began their testimony before the international commission inquiring into the North sea incident today. A large crowd was present and much interest was taken in the proceedings. No oath was required, the officers speaking on their honor.

Capt. Wallerud, of the transport Kamchatka, testified that during the evening while on the lookout for torpedo boats, he saw the outlines of a strange craft and heard shots. Thereupon he sent a wireless message to the flagship saying:

"Torpedo boats in view." The flagship answered: "Report how many torpedo boats follow you." Capt. Wallerud replied: "We proceed with lights extinguished. They attack us from all sides at a distance of about ten cable lengths."

TO BUILD LINE

Great Northern Company Said To Be Planning One.

Would Shorten Sioux City And Twin Cities Route.

St. Paul, Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported here on excellent authority that the Great Northern will build about 100 miles of line the coming year in the southeastern part of the state that will give the road a much shorter line from Sioux City to the Twin Cities, and save the long haul around by Willmar. The road has at present a very direct line to Duluth, but the way to the Twin Cities from the Sioux City country, is rather indirect.

Many Railroad Men Here.

A number of the traveling passenger and freight agents of various lines drawing business from the head of the lakes district, were visitors in the city today. Among these were F. D. Lyons, passenger agent for the Rock Island line; L. K. McConnell, passenger agent of the Northern Pacific company; George McCoskey, passenger agent of the Northern Pacific company; C. H. Smith, freight agent of the Chicago, Illinois & Iowa line.

Railroad Personals.

J. D. Kromer, traveling freight agent of the Grand Rapids & Indiana line, in Michigan, who has been spending several days in Duluth, left last evening for the East, over the South Shore road.

S. J. Bigelow, commercial agent in this district for the Michigan Central road, will leave tomorrow for the Soo. It is reported in railroad circles that J. H. Runnings, formerly traveling passenger agent for the South Shore, has accepted a similar position with the Great Northern road, to travel in the southern part of the state.

E. A. Lingerer, immigration agent for the South Shore road, returned this morning from a trip on the range.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS

Knights of Pythias to Present Spectacular Drama.

"Damon and Pythias," a representation of the ancient mythological tale of brotherly love, on which the order of the Knights of Pythias is founded, will be presented at the Lyceum on March 2 and 3 by a company of over 100 members of the local order. Rehearsals for the production are now in progress under direction of two experienced managers from the East. The drama contains many musical and spectacular features which require careful drilling. All of the roles will be taken by local talent, and the performances will be one of the most pretentious ever undertaken by Duluth amateurs.

MORE DEVILRY IS LAID AT KOCH'S DOOR.

Minneapolis, Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—John H. Koch attempted, it is alleged, to murder Mrs. Mabel Lechnan Hart, in this city, in June, 1903. Dr. G. L. Hart, who called Milwaukee his home, married Miss Lechnan, of the Dowsley theater in this city, during the first week in June, 1903. Three days after, while the couple were on their honeymoon, the Allen hotel, he is alleged to have tried to chloroform her as she lay in her bed. The attempt was unsuccessful and Hart disappeared. Just indications now are that Hart and Koch are identical. The police at the time made strenuous efforts to find the man, but in vain. The wife discarded the name Hart and went back to the stage.

YOUNG MAN IS PUNISHED

Pleads Guilty to Stealing Watch and Money.

In the belief that the magnitude of the punishment would otherwise be out of all proportion to the offense, the charge of grand larceny which had been preferred against Alfred Langmo, was dismissed by Judge Windom this afternoon and a charge of petty larceny substituted. Langmo is a Finnlander, who has been in this country less than three months, and entirely ignorant of the customs and language. He is only 19 years of age, and from his appearance and manner in court is apparently not gifted with ordinary mental powers. He was accused of having stolen a watch and a bag of money from the Nicollet hotel, and a charge of grand larceny was preferred against him. When cross-questioned by an interpreter in court, he stated that he had stolen the watch and the money because he had nothing with which to buy meals or a bed. Chief Troyer, who was acting as prosecuting attorney in the absence of James M. Johnson, father of Captain Langmo, stated to the court that he believed the ends of justice would be fully met by a charge of petty larceny, taking into consideration the prisoner's age, his ignorance of the country, his apparent deficiency in mental powers, and the value of the watch and money. He asked to dismiss the case and the motion was granted by the court. A charge of petty larceny was then brought against Langmo, and when he was asked to plead through the interpreter, he stated that he had stolen the watch and the money from the Nicollet hotel, and a charge of grand larceny was preferred against him. Judge Windom gave him the maximum sentence for petty larceny, a fine of $100 and costs, or ninety days in the county jail.

FAST RACES

Run By Autos at Ormond-Dayton Meet.

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 31.—The first race on the program today, the last day of the Ormond-Dayton meet for 1905, was the 50-mile Dayton handicap. The course was in the middle of the two-minute controls at each turn, the finish being at the club house. The race was won by Sartori, in a G. Vanderbilt car, in a time of 48:30. Next time, 40:25; beating the world's record of 40:45, made by W. K. Vanderbilt in 1904. The race was won by G. P. Thomas' 80-horse power car, in 35:51. He did not win the race, being scratched at his time, however, establishes a new record for fifty miles.

BEDE ASKS FOR FERN

Again Urges That the Vessel Be Sent to Duluth.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Bede this morning called on Assistant Secretary of the Navy Darling to further urge the department to loan the United States Ship Fern to the state of Minnesota for use as a training ship for its naval militia with headquarters at Duluth. The Fern is now at Norfolk and has just been placed in dry dock to be surveyed by a board of naval officers to ascertain the precise condition of the hull and to determine whether the vessel is sufficiently seaworthy to be safely started on the long journey to Duluth, and also whether it could be safely used on an inland sea. During many years past it has been used by the naval militia of the District of Columbia, cruising only on the open sea near Norfolk, Va. Mr. Bede was assured today that the survey of the Fern would be completed in a few days, and then it could be definitely stated whether the vessel is in condition for further service. The party expected to start from New York, March 1. The members of the committee will take their wives in the party and expect that Mrs. Bede will join him on the trip.

Alderman Moore, of Duluth, is in Washington.

TO ABOLISH COMMISSION

Bill Presented to Make President Chief Director of Canal.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today authorized a favorable report on the Mann bill abolishing the Panama canal commission and placing the government of the canal zone and the work of constructing the canal entirely in the hands of the president.

Added to the bill as an amendment is the bill introduced by Mr. Mann providing for the acquisition by the government of the 168 shares of the stock of the Panama Railroad company, now held in private ownership.

Mr. Shackelford (Dem., Mo.) will send a minority report representing the views of the committee on the matter and Mr. Adamson (Dem., Ga.) reserved the right to file a minority view regarding the condemnation of the railroad stock.

The bill as reported abolishes the canal zone and gives that title, also defines the canal as the "Panama canal."

The authority to govern the zone and construct the canal is delegated to the president in the following language:

"That the president of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall have full power to exercise the powers of the United States in said canal zone, including the power to make all rules and regulations necessary for the government of the canal zone and all the rights, powers and authority granted by the terms of the treaties and laws of the United States."

The bill as reported also provides that the president shall be vested in the president of the United States and may be by him exercised in such manner as he shall see fit to exercise in such manner as the president shall direct for the government of said canal zone and maintain and protecting the inhabitants thereof in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion.

The bill as reported also provides that the president shall be vested in the president of the United States and may be by him exercised in such manner as he shall see fit to exercise in such manner as the president shall direct for the government of said canal zone and maintain and protecting the inhabitants thereof in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion.

One section repeals the act creating the isthmian canal commission.

A PERSONAL INJURY SUIT

W. H. Becker Asks $30,000 Damages From Cloquet Lumber Co.

The complaint in the case of William H. Becker against the Cloquet Lumber company, which has been ordered transferred from the St. Louis county district court to the United States circuit court, was filed with the clerk of federal court today.

Becker asks for $30,000 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been received through the negligence of the lumber company. The man, who is only 22 years of age, was assisting in unloading logs at Cloquet when the accident happened, last January.

By the negligence of the company, it is claimed, a number of logs fell from a car onto Becker. His back was broken and he was paralyzed. His right leg was also crushed, and he was otherwise bruised and injured.

He had been ill for some months previous to his death, and his death was a great loss to his family.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning from the cathedral at 9 o'clock.

ENTITLED TO MONEY

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Judge Tukey decided today that Miss Caroline Patterson is entitled to payment of $81 from the estate of Jonathan Clark, as money advanced by her to the estate.

The 11th circuit expressed its opinion in an opinion written by Judge Tukey, that the will of her former millionaire employer, Clark, was not valid. The order was entered against the executor of the estate, who is the Clark family, who are contesting the will.

From Miss Patterson's bill, it is evident that she had advanced the money to the Clark family, and of her own good name she had been deceived.

Ninety-Eight Per Cent For Support of Catholic Schools.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Sensational disclosures in relation to the alleged use of Indian trust funds for the support of sectarian schools were made today by Senator Bard in a statement to the senate committee on Indian affairs. In addition to the charge that Roman Catholic schools have received 98 per cent of the Indian expended under contracts made by the Indian commissioner, the senator said that he had been approached by a representative of the Catholic association, with a promise of carrying a certain number of districts in California in return for his influence in bringing about a continuance of the contracts. The statement of Senator Bard created a stir in the committee, and he was asked to give a detailed account of the transaction as well as any other matters relating to the use of trust funds for sectarian school purposes on which he was informed. He filed with the committee a statement covering the conversation and also a list of districts in California in return for his influence in bringing about a continuance of the contracts. He filed with the committee a statement covering the conversation and also a list of districts in California in return for his influence in bringing about a continuance of the contracts.

The committee took the statement seriously, and it was decided that at the next meeting an amendment would be offered to the Indian appropriation bill prohibiting the use of trust funds for the support of sectarian schools and that a large majority of the Indians were communicants in the various Protestant churches located within the various reservations.

BEEF TRUST MUST OBEY

Supreme Court's Injunction or Its Members Will Be Prosecuted.

Washington, Jan. 31.—It can be said with authority that unless the corporations constituting the alleged "beef trust" shall heed the injunction made permanent yesterday by the decision of the supreme court of the United States, the government will institute proceedings against individual members of the corporations to enforce the decision of the court. The proceedings will be under the criminal law if such can be instituted. The minds of the president and members of his cabinet are made up fully on the question. They have

TO VISIT DULUTH

North Dakota Bankers
Will Come Here In July.

Plan Trip Along North Shore and Isle Royale.

According to the itinerary arranged for the midsummer jaunt of the North Dakota Bankers' association, Duluth will have an opportunity of entertaining, for a short time at least, the members who will take advantage of the excursion next July.

Secretary Eva of the Commercial club, who has been in communication with F. W. Catron, chairman of the executive council of the association, regarding the advantages offered by a trip to Duluth and on Lake Superior, the boat and train schedules, etc., has received notice that the council has decided coming to Duluth the Sunday following July 7 and 8, on which dates the annual convention of the bankers will be held at Grand Forks.

The bankers will leave Grand Forks on a Saturday evening, reaching Duluth Sunday morning. They will take a boat Sunday morning, or noon, for a trip along the north shore, stopping at the principal points of interest, returning by the way of Isle Royale and reaching Duluth the following Tuesday. On the return trip they expect to have dinner in this city and spend several hours driving about to see various places of interest, leaving on an outgoing train, which will get them in Grand Forks Wednesday morning.

Arrangements are to be made so that those attending off the line of the Northern Pacific, north of Fargo, can return to Fargo over that road instead of going back by way of Grand Forks, also so that those participating in the excursion from the Twin Cities and other points can return direct to their starting points by either the Great Northern or the Northern Pacific roads.

Notice.

State teachers' examinations will be held on Feb. 2, 3 and 4. ### FATHER GETS CLAIM.

Probate Court.

The probate court of St. Louis county has just made a decision in the case of the estate of John August Johnson who was drowned in a lake at Elv five years ago, in which the heirship to an iron claim supposed to be of considerable value has been established in the father of the deceased, the father living in Sweden.

August Lindgren, of Two Harbors, was the person instrumental in establishing the claim of the man in Sweden for the property of his son. There were two men of the same name, both being John August Johnson and both having been born at the same place in Sweden. August Lindgren was a playmate of each. All three came to this country about twenty years ago and separated. When the John August Johnson in question was drowned efforts were made to find his relations but without success. Later, not more than a year ago, August Lindgren noticed a photograph of the dead man in the office of M. A. Antelius, of Two Harbors, and identified it as the picture of his old playmate. Through this clue the authorities found the relatives, but Lindgren convinced the authorities that such was not the case. The father of the dead man will be notified as soon as communications can reach him.

FRANK DAY HERE

Governor's Private Secretary Talks of State's Chief Executive.

Visit at This Time Not of Political Significance.

Frank A. Day, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, and secretary to Governor Johnson, is in the city from St. Paul today, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Constance, who is stopping with friends while her father is moving about among the acquaintances of himself and the governor. Mr. Day denies that anything of a political significance attaches itself to his visit here at this time.

"My business in Duluth is almost entirely of a private nature," he said this morning, "although, as is no more than natural, I cannot escape getting into a political discussion occasionally, for while here I am paying my respects to prominent Democrats of the city, and it follows as a matter of course that they desire to have me talk politics to a certain extent, particularly as regards the appointments of Governor Johnson. All the Republicans with whom I have been in contact today appear just as much interested in the welfare of Governor Johnson as the members of the other party, but I am not at all surprised at this, for the same feeling prevails throughout the state. The governor is regarded as a friend by Republicans and Democrats alike, and they are free with their expressions of respect and esteem.

"Some people wonder how he has been able to stand up so well under the strain since going into office. Hundreds of persons call on him at the capitol every day, and he sees them all, in addition to his special business. They are not there seeking office, or asking favors of any kind, but merely wish to shake hands with the man who made one of the most phenomenal runs for office in the history of the country. Mr. Johnson is glad to see them, and seems no effort at all for him to meet the scores who flock to his office day after day, many of them visitors from other states, who happen to be in St. Paul on business or pleasure. From that easy and gracious manner, always with him, and his kindly smile they are made to feel that they are welcome.

"The governor is now in the flood-tide of popularity. No more popular public official ever served in the state of Minnesota. He is known as well outside this state as here at home, for the remarkable record he has made, and his services as a speaker are in active demand throughout the country, particularly in the East, from whom come frequent invitations for him to speak before different organizations and societies in the larger cities, such as New York and Boston.

"At the capitol Republicans vie with the Democrats to assist him in his work and to commend his judgment in the matter of appointments, his patriotism and general policy of clean politics, and his ability to get things done. The part of his former political enemies to hamper or cripple his efforts in any respect. All in all, however, he is the most popular man with cordiality exists between the legislature and Mr. Johnson. His appointments have been confirmed and there has been no disposition whatever to hold him up or embarrass him.

"It could be rather remarkable that he is in such good health. Maybe, though, this is due to this same spirit of cordiality and good will. Whether this be true or not, the fact remains that Governor Johnson is today in even better health than when he took up the reins of office. He is looking fine, and in the best of condition physically.

"In Duluth I find there is a general disposition to commend the governor's appointments, both as regards this part of the state and elsewhere. Everyone, of course, could not be entirely satisfied, but I believe there is a feeling with all who are in any way interested that he did his best to be just and fair in handling all the phases. From talks I have had with men in your city I am sure this is true of Duluth. Mr. Johnson has the greatest feeling of friendliness towards Duluth and her people, and other honorary appointments will doubtless come here before the close of his term of office.

"This morning Mr. Day called at the board of trade and had a chat with several of the board members, who expressed themselves as being rather anxious regarding the appointment of members on the board of appeals. Some time ago they drew up and signed a petition calling upon Governor Johnson to reappoint E. H. Pugh, whose term expires this year, to the board. Mr. Day had little to say on the subject other than to state that the matter would not be taken up for some time. Such appointments do not go into effect until Aug. 1.

"In this connection the governor's private secretary told of an incident coming up in connection with the appointment of a man to have charge of the state's supreme court library. It appears that Governor Johnson visited the supreme court to pay his respects ceeding with her channel, on which she had already expended $100,000. In November, 1873, Cadwallader C. Washburn was elected governor of Wisconsin, and a few days after his inauguration a committee of Superior citizens waited upon him to explain their grievance against Duluth. The governor immediately called on the legislature to take action, and a joint resolution was passed setting apart $100,000 for defending Superior.

When word of this reached Duluth a secret meeting of prominent citizens was arranged for in the First National bank. It was attended by Mr. Russell, Mayor Sidney Luce and former Mayor Culver, among others. These three were directed to proceed to Washington and lay the question before the Minnesota senators. Messrs. Luce and Culver met Governor Washburn in New York and explained the Minnesota case. With characteristic fairness, the governor admitted that their were two sides and suggested that all hands proceed to Washington, where he was willing to assist in reaching an understanding just to both cities. Mr. Russell joined his colleagues and Governor Washburn in Washington, and the party proceeded to the capitol for a conference in the committee room of senators from Minnesota: Philo Sawyer, congressman from Wisconsin, and a member of the river and harbor subcommittee in charge of appropriations for the Great Lakes, and Jeremiah Rusk, member of congress from Wisconsin, and representing Superior.

"There were nine in that party," said Mr. Russell, "and probably I am the only one of them now alive. Mr. Russell's Washington office the other day, Mr. Russell told these two stories. He said:

"I believe I may say that I furnished the coal which was burned in developing the iron plates used in the construction of the Monitor. In 1862 I was in Towanda, Pa., operating a small bank. A coal company there had recently gone into the hands of a receiver. One morning this receiver informed me that he had received an order from Corning, Winslow & Co., ship builders of Troy, N. Y., for six boatloads, or 300 tons of coal, for making the Monitor's iron plates. The mine was back on bluish-grey and free from sulphur, and thus peculiarly adapted for the use.

"The receiver could me that if my bank would discount the paper of the Troy firm, he could accept the contract, and I agreed to do so. After the flat in Hampton Roads, this paper was presented at a New York bank for collection, and I forwarded with it a statement that the coal had built the Monitor, and asked if the paper ought not therefore to be looked upon as gilt-edged. The New York banker sent me a letter, in which he said that it was not only 'gilt-edged,' but 'iron-bound.' Mr. Russell went to Minnesota shortly after the civil war and settled in Duluth, with whose early history he was prominently identified. The older settlers in Wisconsin and Minnesota will remember the dispute between Duluth and Superior, when the former began to cut the present channel into Duluth harbor. The old channel was at the mouth of the St. Louis river, and the people of Superior feared the improvement would ruin their entrance. The fight was appealed to the courts. By 1873 it had reached the supreme court of the United States in the form of an application for a permanent pro-

EXTENSION OF TERMS OF STATE OFFICERS TO FOUR YEARS PROPOSED

Lively Discussion In the House Over the New Code.

Members Impatient For Report From the Judiciary Committee.

Bill to Take Fees From Governor's Private Secretary.

FROM THE HERALD
ST. PAUL BUREAU.

St. Paul, Feb. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—A. K. Ware, of Northfield, this morning introduced in the house a bill that will have the effect of making the terms of the state officers in Minnesota four years. Most of them are now only two. The bill extends this provision to the governor, lieutenant governor, auditor, attorney general, secretary of state and the treasurer, and it provides that in case of the governor and lieutenant governor one term shall be the limit. These changes can only be made by a constitutional amendment, and the Ware bill proposes to submit such an amendment to the voters at the next election. Governor Johnson, in his message, made a prominent feature of a recommendation that the term of the governor be extended to four years.

Railroads would not be permitted to increase their freight rates between points in the state if a bill introduced this morning by Senator L. G. Thorne of Winona, becomes a law. It provides that after any common carrier has put a rate schedule into effect, it cannot increase the rate, or change the classification, so as to increase any rate, without first obtaining the consent of the railroad and warehouse commission. This also affects joint rates made by two or more roads. When desired to increase a rate, the commission is to fix a date for hearing on the proposition, and if it deems it proper it may permit the change. The commission may permit an emergency increase temporarily, and may extend it in its discretion.

The house judiciary committee was attacked in the house this morning, and one of the first lively debates of the session followed. W. B. Anderson, of Winona, chairman of the judiciary committee, forestalled the attack in a way by presenting a bill, which, showing amendments that will be proposed by the committee on a number of chapters of the new code now being issued by the committee. This is according to the suggestion made by Ed Fanning's resolution, though the house failed to adopt the resolution when it was offered.

W. Armstrong, of Minneapolis, said if the legislature was going to do any work it was time it was doing it. Some people thought that the legislature was a very shiftless body, but now that the new legislature is organized with such a light, sunnier outlook, it is time it was doing its duty. He said that the legislature was going to do its duty, and he hoped the legislature would do its duty without regard to the code, and that it would do its duty without regard to the code.

A. A. Nolin, of Mower, precipitated the real discussion by calling up the Peterson resolution, which the code among twelve committees to be appointed by the chairman. He moved its adoption, and W. F. Roberts, of Minneapolis, came to the rescue of the judiciary committee. He said that all the house members had been asked to support the code, and that the various chapters of the code, and very few of them had done so. The lawyers of the house were working hard, preparing their families and their own business, and would only live to have money that they could use in their own families, and that they would not do anything to help the code.

Mr. Peterson resented this language and refused to withdraw the resolution. On the contrary, he moved its passage. W. A. Nolin said that some members had tried to get the judiciary committee out of the house and had been told that the judiciary committee was capable of getting along without outside help in handling the code.

M. D. Flower, of St. Paul, said the adoption of the resolution would simply confuse the work, and he opposed it. A. J. Becken, of Duluth, a member of the committee, raised the point of order that the bill was before the committee, not before the house, and that the house could not do anything with it without withdrawing it from the committee.

Speaker Pro Tem Hugo held that the point was well taken. Mr. Anderson said that if the house wished to recall the bill and give it to Mr. Peterson or Mr. Nolin, he had no objection. The committee was not anxious to work successfully. The members are working hard upon it, however, night and day, and he could not understand the basis of these attacks upon the committee.

THE DISCRIMINATIONS IN FREIGHT CHARGES

Joint Legislative Committee Has Begun Its Investigation.

Will Include Interstate As Well As State Business.

Miller After Attorneys Who Do Up Their Clients.

FROM THE HERALD
ST. PAUL BUREAU.

St. Paul, Feb. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—The joint special committee to investigate alleged freight discrimination in this state got down to work yesterday afternoon and had its first hearing. Frequent meetings will be held from now on, and at the meeting to be held Friday the railroads will be represented.

It was decided that while legislation could be passed affecting only state business, that it would be just as well to include interstate rates, as some good might be accomplished by showing up conditions of discrimination, if any exist, and calling them to the attention of the federal authorities, who have the power to reach them if the state has not.

Thomas V. Up, the tariff expert of the state railway and warehouse commission, was present to advise with the committee, and J. S. Loftis, of St. Paul, attorney for the St. Paul Shippers' association, took a leading part in the proceedings.

Louis Miller, president of the Hastings Marine commission, testified at considerable length in regard to his experiences with freight rates. He told of several apparent discriminations. For instance, he said that the rate on rice from Hastings to Louisville is 30 cents, while if it is sent from Minneapolis, it is only 25 cents.

THE RUSSIANS RETIRE TO FORMER POSITIONS

Mukden, Jan. 31, via Tien Tsin, Feb. 1.—Cannonading on the center and right continued again today. The Russian army has recaptured its old positions, having returned from Sanchiapu (San-chiapu).

The main events in the interior of Russia have been published in the official army paper, so that the troops to a certain extent realize the present conditions, but the plans for the army are not entirely independent of home events. The reasons given by the commanders for retiring fully explain the army's movements, and show them to have been independent of the weather.

A large part of the wounded are being cared for at Mukden where the hospitals and trains are filled and the Red Cross corps is active.

The situation as it further develops is better realized and understood, though it is not less ominous as the weather has moderated and the Japanese are aggressive.

Regarding the first reports of large Russian losses it is now said that a Russian army of 100,000 men, under Gen. Stakelberg, its commander, have rejoined the main body of the army and retired to their old positions.

On the same day heavy Russian guns fired on the Japanese and Chinese ships.

On Jan. 31, the Russian fleet of Cheuchiev, 10,000 tons, and two other ships, 1,000 tons each, were on the coast of the Japanese islands. The Japanese fleet of 10,000 tons, 1,000 tons each, were on the coast of the Japanese islands.

IS COLDEST DAY Entire Northwest Suffers From a Very Low Temperature.

Fierce Wind In Many Places Aggravates the Cold.

St. Paul, Feb. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—This was the coldest day of the winter in the Northwest, the government weather bureau reporting 21 degrees below zero in St. Paul today. During the night a gale of wind ushered in the cold, blowing at the rate of twenty-eight miles an hour. Today the velocity of the wind decreased to sixteen miles but the cold is intense and will continue so until tomorrow, according to Observer Oliver. Reports from other Northwest points today show the following below zero temperatures:

Redfield, S. D., 45; Devil's Lake, N. D., 36; Miles City, Mont., 38; Moorhead, Minn., 24. In some parts of Montana the mercury went to 44 below zero. The wave extends to Omaha and North Platte, Neb., where it was 6 below zero.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—The most severe cold wave of the winter has overspread the Northwest. Points in North Dakota and Montana report 30 to 40 degrees below zero. Five to 8 below zero is predicted for Chicago tonight.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 1.—Wisconsin and this part of the Northwest got no relief today from the intense cold weather which has been prevailing nearly a week. It was 15 below zero at 8 o'clock this morning.

Omaha, Feb. 1.—Omaha and vicinity experienced another cold spell this morning when the thermometer dropped to 6 degrees below zero. The cold is accompanied by considerable snow and a strong north wind.

A special from Alliance, in the central part of the state, says that snow has fallen steadily for the past twenty-four hours, with no sign of abatement. With the thermometer at zero and a strong wind, fears are entertained by stockmen that there has been great suffering to stock.

Des Moines, Feb. 1.—The month of February was ushered in today with the mercury standing 12 degrees below zero, with a promise of the coldest night of the year. The continued cold has been hard on stockmen, but so far no serious loss to stock is reported.

COMMITTS SUICIDE BY BURNING TO DEATH.

Seattle, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Zella Smith, wife of George W. Smith, of Covington, Wash., will testify today in court here, committed suicide by tying a coil of cotton batting about her throat and saturating it and her clothing with kerosene. She then went into a small outhouse and set her garments on fire. When she was discovered a few minutes later by a neighbor, she was dead. Mrs. Smith came to Covington a month ago from Iowa for the purpose of marrying the man whom she deserted for death. She left a letter to her mother in which she stated that she had deceived her husband and could no longer live with him.

REST OF CREW SAVED.

Amsterdam, Feb. 1.—The remaining twenty-five members of the crew of the British steamer Alba, from New York, were rescued today. The ship was ashore at Zandvoort, where it was landed today. The steamer, as cable yesterday, will be a total loss.

TOGO TO RETURN TO SHIP.

Tokio, Feb. 1.—Admiral Togo will return to his flagship Feb. 6. The immediate naval plans are not disclosed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 1.—Emperor Nicholas this afternoon received, at Tsarskoe Selo, a deputation of thirty-three workmen, representing the employees of the foundries and workshops of St. Petersburg. The deputation was accompanied by Minister of Finance Kokovsov and Governor General Trepoft, and proceeded by the imperial railroad to Tsarskoe Selo, where carriages were awaiting them, and they were driven to a point near the imperial pavilion. On arriving there the workmen were admitted to one of the halls of the palace. The emperor entered the hall accompanied by Grand Duke George Mikhailovich, Gen. Hesse, the minister of the imperial court, and the commandant of the palace. The workmen bowed deeply to the emperor, who said:

"Good day, my children." The workmen replied: "We wish your majesty good health."

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—It is extremely significant that following the Associated Press interview with Grand Duke Vladimir yesterday, M. Souvorin, editor of the Novoye Vremya, in that paper this morning, comes out strongly in favor of a zemsky zabor (old land parliament) which he declares will not maintain but will strengthen autonomy. It would be a channel of communication between the sovereign and the people, without which it would be impossible to have lasting reforms.

Odessa, Feb. 1.—Chief of Police Galovov was shot while close to the police station, in the city, today, and was wounded in the right shoulder. The wound is not dangerous.

Warsaw, Feb. 1.—The city is quiet, although great tension still prevails. Some stores and offices have been reopened, but only two newspapers were published this morning. The strike has extended to the sugar refineries and other factories in the districts around Warsaw.

TOLSTOI SAYS Workingmen's Program Does Not Express People's Desires.

New York, Feb. 1.—A dispatch from Moscow to the American says Count Tolstol has made the following comment on the recent outbreaks in Russia, meagre reports of which have reached the aged writer at his home in the country:

"Neither the working classes nor the intelligent classes of Russians are true exponents of the real desires and needs of the people. The program which they submit to the government is not the program of the people. These elementary measures which they demand of the government—such as freedom of person, freedom of speech and freedom of conscience, etc., though essentially conditions for a life of culture, do not touch the problem of the crying need of the people which lies solely in the nationalization and communism of land."

On this point neither the working men nor the educated classes raise the cry, nor do we hear any such cry from the people of other lands, despite the apparent freedom of those countries. In other countries there exists the so-called independent press, but its independence is only apparent.

New Russian Minister of Interior Now Out of Office.

SVIATOPOLK-MIRSKY.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—The retirement of Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky was officially announced today. Mirsky was assigned as the reason, M. Dumov, former minister of posts and telegraphs, becomes acting minister of the interior. M. Bouligan, former governor general of Moscow, seems most likely to be Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's successor, but no decision has yet been reached. The gossip is saying that Emperor Nicholas has offered the portfolio to M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers. Prince Mirsky's desire to retire had been known for weeks, but the manner in which it was announced was unusual, the retirement of a minister being generally accompanied by an imperial rescript. For this reason the form of the announcement is popularly accepted as a reprimand. Among the extreme reactionaries, and even among some of the more moderate conservatives Prince Mirsky has been blamed for having from the very outset of his Goes Round With Gun In Pocket To Protect Himself.

He Charges That Grafters Are In Majority In Assembly.

General Assembly Appoints Committee to Investigate Statement.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—An upheaval in the Illinois legislature possibly rivaling the recent boodling exposure in the legislature of Missouri may be the outcome of an address made by Representative Comerford, of Chicago, to the students of the Illinois college of law a few days ago. The general assembly today appointed a committee of seven to investigate Mr. Comerford's charges, which are reported as specifically alleging "That the Illinois legislature is a public auction where special privileges are sold to the highest corporations bidders and that without respect to party affiliations, the grafters seem to be in the majority."

The investigation committee is empowered to bring before Mr. Comerford and cause him to testify as to what he knows of the alleged wholesale corruption.

When the resolution to investigate came up today Mr. Comerford said: "I will welcome this investigation and only hope the committee will be thorough and impartial and as sincere as I am in this matter."

Speaker Shurtliff called Mr. Comerford to order several times, demanding that Mr. Comerford confine himself to the subject at hand.

"I ask consent of the house to speak five minutes on this matter," shouted Mr. Comerford. Amid much confusion a chorus of "Nos" came from both sides of the house.

"Then, Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of the adoption of the resolution," said Mr. Comerford. The resolution was carried unanimously.

For the first time in the history of the legislature of Illinois in many years, members of the general assembly are walking about armed. Friends have been made against Mr. Comerford, who acknowledges that he has a revolver in his pocket to defend himself in an emergency.

One assault has already been recorded as a consequence of the Comerford charges. James Burdette, a reporter for a Chicago paper, was knocked down just outside the entrance to the Illinois legislature yesterday. He was roughly handled. Members of the legislature rescued him from the assailants who escaped arrest.

The investigation committee met this afternoon and went into executive session. Soon afterwards Representative Comerford was technically placed under arrest and summoned to appear before the committee.

Mr. Comerford protested strongly against executive sessions, but the committee, notwithstanding, voted to proceed. The committee refused to allow Mr. Comerford a stenographer. The committee desired Mr. Comerford to proceed at once and was what proof he had of his charges. This he was not prepared to do and insisted that he be allowed to go to Chicago and prepare his proof. "The grand jury is in session here," said Mr. Comerford. "If I can't get a fair trial before this committee, I will take the matter before that body."

ANOTHER "WIFE"

Of Hoch Said to Be Living at Austin.

St. Paul, Feb. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—It is believed that Johann Hoch, who is under arrest in New York on request of the Chicago police, who charge him with bigamy, is, other offenses, is supposed to have married a Mrs. Hulda Nagel, of St. Paul, in May, 1902, to whom he introduced himself as Otto Von Kern, a Bavarian "count." Soon after the wedding the count induced the "Countess" Von Kern to turn certain real estate she had into cash and then, while the bride was down town shopping preparatory to a trip abroad, for which the "count" at the same time was supposed to be getting tickets, her trunk, containing $300, was broken into and robbed of its contents. The woman did not suspect the "count" until it became evident the next day that he had disappeared and then she secured a warrant for his arrest.

Mrs. Nagel now lives at Austin, Minn., where she runs a boarding house. Mrs. Alma Reschner, a sister of Mrs. Nagel, who lives in St. Paul, says she believes, from having seen Hoch's picture in the papers, that he is the "count" who married her sister.

LOVE AFFAIR CAUSES

YOUNG MAN TO END LIFE.

Milwaukee, Feb. 1.—Henry Boyle, aged 26, a son of Henry Boyle, general superintendent of the Crocker Chair company of Sheboygan, Wis., has committed suicide here. Young Boyle was to have been married at Sheboygan about a month ago, but on the eve of the wedding he, for some unexplained reason, disappeared. Dependency over this unhappy love affair, it is thought, caused the young man to take his life.

TWO KILLED BY ORE.

Bellaire, O., Feb. 1.—While working in the ore pit of the Carnegie Steel company here early this morning, Serdal Volk and Andran Izki, foreigners, were caught by a fall of frozen ore and smothered to death. Another man escaped with slight injuries.

GIRLS MAY SALUTE

The Flag With a Bow, a Kiss or Courtesy.

Views of Men Prominent In Army and Navy Life.

New York, Feb. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Beach, of Bayonne, N. J., attended a reception at the White House a few months ago. With them were their young daughter, Helen. As she was presented to President Roosevelt, she asked:

"Mr. President, will you kindly tell me just how a girl ought to salute the American flag?"

The president was stumped. He replied:

"Now, my dear child, if you were a boy I readily could tell you the proper way to salute the flag, but you are a girl, and then you must turn to your right and bow, or kiss, or salute, as you like, but bow a girl should salute, really I can't say."

She was disappointed. Since she returned the question has been taken up by the Bayonne Fourth and Social club, and letters have been sent to men prominent in army and navy life, asking them to give their views on the subject. If it decides in favor of any suggestion, the members will endeavor to get a girl to salute the flag in the manner suggested.

Admiral George Dewey—I see no advantage in establishing a form of salute, which shall be distinctive with the female sex. The salute will not be employed by me for many years, as given by raising the right hand to the forehead and then dropping the hand, there seems to be no reason why women and girls should not use the same salute.

Admiral W. S. Schley—I believe the salute of the flag by the mothers and daughters of our land should be made with the right hand on the heart, the head reverently bowed.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee—I think an appropriate salute for a girl to make to the flag would be to stand at attention and kiss her right hand.

Gen. Alvin K. C. Chaffee—I believe the salute of girls, this is suggested as not ungraceful and quite effective in mass. At some signal the hands should be raised from the belt and held pendant from the right hand, the forearm being held horizontally to the front or upward at an angle of forty-five degrees.

Rear Admiral Rowley D. Evans—At many naval stations the custom has grown for women and girls to stand at attention and salute the colors the same as officers do. The only other salute I can think of is a courtesy.

John D. Long, former secretary of the navy—I can think of no other salute of the flag on the part of women than a military one—holding the open palm at the brim of the hat.

Gen. E. D. Grant—It seems to me the simple bowing of the head would be correct.

Brig. Gen. A. L. Mills—I would suggest that girls make a courtesy to the flag at the moment it passes them.

Gen. H. C. Corbin—in our garbisons, when officers and soldiers salute the colors, it is the custom for all women, young and old, to arise and remain standing during the passing of the colors. This, it seems to me, is the most satisfactory solution of the question.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles—I do not think the military salute is suitable. I would suggest placing the right hand across the breast, with the middle finger directed toward the point of the left shoulder, the head at the same time being lowered.

John C. Black, post commander-in-chief of the G. A. R.—In the presence of the raised flag, the child, standing, lays her hand upon her heart, and then she bows her head, and then stretches it toward the flag, saying, "I give my heart, my head, and my hand to my country."

Crystal Falls—While the mother was absent, fire broke out in the residence of John Nelson at the Armory street, and before she returned the flames had consumed two children, aged 3½ and 2½ years, respectively, perished. The fire occurred about 9 o'clock in the morning and is supposed to have been started by the children themselves. The mother had gone for water, procured from a spring some distance away. When she returned she found the house in flames. The father was given and a number of friends rushed to the scene, among them being Mr. Williams, who was in on his hands and knees and succeeded in finding the baby. He had much difficulty in getting out and very nearly lost his life in the attempt. He tried to get in again but the flames were too hot and the two children were left to perish. The bodies were almost cut off by a fire which was burning in the hall of charred remains being found.

St. Ignace—St. Ignace and MacInnes Island are now connected by a tuck engine of ice, the "bridge" being described as one of the best in the world. For ice-boats, driving or skating, neither can be found. It is asserted.

Newberry—Charles Douglas, arrested for breaking into Krenpel & Taylor's grocery at Newberry, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary when arraigned in the Lake county circuit court and was given a minimum sentence of one year at Jackson. The maximum sentence for this offense is fifteen years.

Escanaba—Andrew Christensen, of Gladstone, charged with embezzlement by the T. C. Burdick company of Oshkosh, was found guilty of embezzling a sum over $25 by a jury in the circuit court at Escanaba.

Minneapolis—Fire at an early hour in the morning totally destroyed the Redcliffe House at Minneapolis, owned by L. E. Redcliffe and rented and managed by Mrs. Anna Granberg. The loss on the building and furnishings owned by Mr. Redcliffe, was $5000, upon which he carried $2500 in insurance, which he lost. The fire broke out from an overheated stovepipe in the barroom in the basement. The fire was discovered and some of the barkeepers had barely time to escape in their night clothes through the windows. The fire had such headway when it was discovered that it would have been impossible to stop it if the fire department could have reached the building promptly.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Three wives of Johann Hoch appeared before the grand jury today and testified to marriage to the alleged Bluebeard.

The women are Mrs. Marie Emily Fisher, Mrs. Anna Hendrickson and Mrs. Marie Goetz. Each was accompanied by her husband, who was accompanied by the police. The three wives of Johann Hoch have been heard only rumors. The total is now twenty-nine, not counting two in Brooklyn, regarding whom the police have heard only rumors. The "new wives" are Mrs. Louisa Hoch, who said to have been wedded to the prisoner in San Francisco four years ago, and to have died suddenly; and Mrs. Mary Hoch, St. Paul; Mrs. Henry Bartel-Hoch and Mrs. Fred. Doess-Hoch, both of Cincinnati.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Johann Schmitt, who resided here seven years ago, and Johann Hoch, of Chicago, are believed to be one and the same person. Schmitt married, four months after the death of his husband, Mrs. Henry Bartel-Hoch.

A few months after her death, which occurred soon after her marriage to Schmitt, he married Mrs. Fred Doess, widow of a saloonkeeper. Not long after his second marriage Schmitt disappeared. Mrs. Doess-Schmitt, afterwards married again and now lives in Hamilton, N. D., where she identified a photograph of Hoch as that of Schmitt.

Another Russian Officer Testifies Before Commission.

Paris, Feb. 1.—The North sea commission continued its session today. Lieut. Ellis, of the Russian battleship Alexander III gave circumstantial evidence of seeing a torpedo boat among the British trawlers in the North sea. He said he first saw a torpedo boat two miles off steaming swiftly toward the squadron on a course to intercept the fleet. The torpedo boat advanced searchlights made her plainly visible and a heavy bombardment was opened on her. The torpedo boat, witness continued, was evidently damaged, drew off to starboard and disappeared.

Persons who are closely in touch with the railroad building in the Northwest claim that the outlook is the best for that line of work this coming year than it has been in the past five years. They base their prediction partly on their knowledge of the work already underway and partly on the fact that the railroad contractors are likely to be let this coming spring and summer.

It is understood in contracting circles that several other important contracts are likely to be let this coming spring and summer.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Much Railroad Work Under Way and More Planned.

The actual preliminary construction work on a new railroad projected to the head of the lakes from a point on the Wisconsin Central road at Owen, Clark county, Wis., has been begun by McIntosh Brothers & Evans, of Milwaukee, who have the contract for it, and already camps are being put in and orders for men are being filled at the Twin Cities.

The contract, the first let for the new road work, covers forty-five miles between Owen and Ladysmith. Owen is in the northern part of Clark county, and the route surveyed is in a north-westerly direction across the corner of Taylor county, Wis., to Ladysmith, which is at the head of the lake, about the center of Gates county, Wis.

A great deal of the heavy work, such as clearing and the making of deep cuts, will be done during the winter, and the construction work will be pushed as rapidly as possible next spring and summer. It is the intention of the contractors, it is claimed, to put on the work all the men available, and to that end large camps are being established, the first with sixty-eight men. As the other camps are ready, it is expected that the head of the lakes labor market will be called on to ship men to the scene of the work.

The first section of the work is called the Owen & Northern road, among the contractors, who appear to be about as much in the dark as to the real people or interests back of the project as the general public.

The surveying crew if now working in the vicinity of Howards, Wis., running a line that is said to be singularly free from curves, the intention being to reduce grades and curves to the least possible percentage and make the road practically an air line.

The surveying crew is working steadily toward the head of the lakes and the indications point toward an intention on the part of the projectors to get the road open and ready for business at the earliest possible date.

It is understood in contracting circles that several other important contracts are likely to be let this coming spring and summer.

Accused and accuser were arraigned together in municipal court this morning, when Robert Sampson was brought in on a charge of drunkenness and Thomas Brown on a vagrancy charge. Sampson, charged Brown along Superior street about 1 o'clock this morning, claiming that Brown had robbed him of $30. He actually captured him and held him until an officer arrived, who took both men to police headquarters.

They were both held by the police. Brown stoutly maintained his innocence of the charge, but he was held as a vagrant, while Sampson, who is claimed to have been intoxicated when arrested, was held on that charge.

Their cases were set over until this afternoon, when they will be disposed of by Judge Windom.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 1.—Twenty persons were injured, two seriously in a collision between a freight train on the St. Louis & San Francisco road and a street car at the stock yards crossing in the northern limits of this city today.

About forty-five persons were in the car coming to work. The air was thick with fog and the stock cars in front of a Frisco engine, according to the motorist, so obscured the headlight that he did not see the train approaching. A freight car struck the rear of the car, throwing it sky high.

Frosty Rails Cause Delay.
The sudden tendency of the mercury to seek a lower level is responsible for a slight rearrangement in the arriving schedule of the trains today. The morning trains were, but little late, however, with the exception of the Omaha train from Chicago, due at 11:30 a. m., but which did not reach Duluth until about 1:30 p. m. The loss of time was due to the caution exercised by the railway officials in reducing the speed of the train because of the danger from frosty rails. Experience also advises that you put down the amount of gold obtained is so large that whether the cost of treatment is $20 per ton or even the outside of $40 per ton, which it could not exceed, it would not make much difference.

EVERY SEA A
BIG GOLD MINE
Extracting Process a Success and London Company Formed.

New York, Feb. 1.—A London cable to the Herald says: Londoners are being given an opportunity of investing their money in an undertaking for which it is claimed that an unlimited supply of gold can be obtained from sea water at a cost of $50 for every $500 extracted.

Sir William Ramsay, whose scientific reputation is of the highest, has been retained by a syndicate, which is called the industrial and engineering trust, limited, and in which the shareholders include Lord Brassey, Lord Tweeddale, the Hon. Albert Giffes, and several members of parliament, and the amount of the process by which it is hoped to make a corner in the world's gold is $1,000,000.

Sir William Ramsay has made experiments on the strength of which he says in a formal report that:

"There is no doubt that Snell has proved that gold can be profitably obtained from sea water on a large scale, and the amount of gold obtained is so large that whether the cost of treatment is $20 per ton or even the outside of $40 per ton, which it could not exceed, it would not make much difference."

One of the assistants of Ramsay is D. Littlefield, who goes further than his chief, and in a report to the shareholders is quoted as saying:

"As far as I can see it only remains for you to say how much gold you want per day and it can be produced."

He would not advise that you put down enormous works in one place, because I think it might get out of hand, and I think it may be best for you to split the works up into units. The cost will not exceed 10 per cent on the gold extracted, including interest on capital, management, etc. I have a few figures showing your forthcoming results on the basis of practical tests we have made.

"Supposing you are dealing with eight acres once per twenty-four hours, or, say, 200 days a year, you would produce $720,000 gold. If you treated twenty acres this would produce $1,440,000. Supposing you deal with 40 acres it would produce a little over $2,880,000 per annum."

"These are enormous figures, are they not? And I noticed one or two of you smiled when I mentioned that you could have as much gold as you wanted. It is quite practical. You can have, as you cannot help having with 400 acres, $35,000,000 worth of gold per annum in sea water."

According to the Daily News, the works to which Mr. Littlefield referred are those which the syndicate recently has acquired on the south coast of England. They consist, among other things, of two reservoirs, one of twenty acres and the other eight acres. The area, with claims and sluices complete, adjacent to these works, will be about 400 or 500 acres. The land has been reclaimed and all that is necessary is to level and clear the land and put sluices in the embankment, when it will be ready for the manufacture of gold.

It is asserted that Snell has invented several processes, all of which have been failures for one reason or another, but that his latest, on which Mr. Ramsay has reported, is successful.

New York, Feb. 1.—After ten years of labor and the expenditure of $2,000,000, the new Cornell dam, near Croton-on-the-Hudson, in Westchester county, from which this city will draw largely for water supply, has been practically completed. It is the largest piece of masonry in the world, except the pyramids of Egypt. The flood gates have been shut down for the first time and the dam has begun filling with water.

It is estimated by the engineers that it will require about two years for the dam to fill. When the water reaches the base of its coping, it will make a lake sixteen miles long.

A Blustering Winter Storm Breeds Catarrh!

"WHENEVER YOU PASS A DRUG STORE, BEAR IN MIND THAT WHEN PER-NA COMES, CATARRH AND COLDS GO."—S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

THE crisp, biting air of a wintry day in many ways is beautiful and invigorating. People who are quite healthy enjoy the winter season and find it more conducive to vigorous health than the hot season.

But, if there is the slightest tendency to catarrh, or if catarrh has already found lodgment in the head, throat or lungs, then the winter season, the blustering day, the tumultuous blizzard, become dangerous and things to be avoided.

Winter, then, suggests the necessity of being entirely free from catarrhal diseases.

A short course of Per-na is always sure to set the system right in this respect.

PER-NA A SAFE GUARD.

Keep Per-na nearby. Take it according to the directions on the bottle, and you need not fear that winter will bring you any ill.

Mr. S. J. R. Long, formerly private secretary to U. S. Senator Smith, writes from Washington, D. C.:

"The past winter has been one of the severest in many years. Its changes have been frequent and sharp, and often dangerous to the lungs and mucous membranes. Catarrh has been more frequent than ever before. I venture to say, has relief been within so easy reach.

"It was simply because there was such a remedy as Per-na. I took it with the best effect and so did many others. I know, and we all believe it is without a peer as a catarrh remedy and tonic."

Miss Aline Fay, 921 10th St., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have been susceptible to colds for a number of years. I have found in Per-na a remedy which has greatly reduced the discomfort I experienced with colds. I have not only found it good for colds, but it is good for catarrh, and an excellent tonic."

Mr. Chas. V. Daniels, 115 N. Lincoln St., Detroit, Kan., President Tramway Athletic Club and President Fraternal Aid Association, writes:

"I am very susceptible to colds. Last winter I could not get rid of a cold and my head ached so much that I had to be confined to my bed."

NEGLECTED COLDS PROVE SERIOUS.

work for this section of the Northwest from Fargo. The transfer work will be done through the Robb-Lawrence company and two traveling men will have headquarters at this point.

Fire Chief Sutherland has been investigating the cause of the explosion two weeks ago in the Pantheon, which caused a costly blaze, and has determined that gasoline was responsible. At the time of the fire, the proprietor and the employees denied that any quantity of gasoline was stored there.

The trial of H. Forester on the charge of stealing silk from a local department store was begun in the district court yesterday morning. Forester and his wife were arrested on shoplifting charges and the woman was convicted, receiving a four years' sentence in the state penitentiary.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Aberdeen.—The Commercial hotel in this city was badly damaged by fire, which broke out at 9:45 Monday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the blaze is supposed to have started from the furnace in the basement. The loss ran up the partition between the kitchen and the dining room, and the entire building was damaged, either by flames, smoke or water. The proprietor, Andrew Larson, carried $300 insurance on the building and $500 on the furniture. The loss has not yet been estimated, but will greatly exceed these figures.

Louis Nussner, a member of the firm of Nussner & Thompson, saloonkeepers, died at Redlands, Cal., on Sunday of consumption. He went to California recently for the benefit of his health. He was 32 and leaves a wife and two children.

A. Gregory, of Trenton township, was tried in justice court for failing to observe the provisions of the compulsory school law. For noncompliance, he has been a dispend on the part of the school board and the county superintendent, the former contending that owing to the disfrailty of lung trouble, I went. But I did not seem to improve as fast as I should, and as I had heard so much of Per-na, I decided to try it.

"It rid me of my trouble so soon that I fully believe that it would not have been necessary to leave home if I had taken Per-na. At any rate, I am well and strong now, and I shall certainly know what to take when I contract another cold."

One reason why Per-na has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains NO NARCOTICS. Per-na is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Per-na does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of cases where Per-na has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Per-na contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

PER-NA CONTAINS NO NARCOTICS.

ENLARGE CABLE IN PLACE CLUB

Duluth Boat Club Will Good Progress Being Take In Forty New Members. Made on the Ferry Bridge.

Important Matters to Be Date For Trial Trip Discussed Next Monday Evening. Not Yet Been Set.

Important plans for enlarging the membership, purchasing new equipment, making certain alterations in the building, will be considered by the members of the Duluth Boat Club, at a meeting to be held Monday evening in the rooms of the Duluth Commercial club.

A circular letter has been sent to each member of the club urging him to be present at the meeting, for the discussion of the club's affairs.

The annual report shows an excellent financial condition, but the plans for extra expenditures will render necessary an increase in the membership. Last year in addition to filling in around the foundation of the clubhouse with sand at a cost of over $50, purchasing new equipment and other extra expenses, the club was able to pay off $500 per year, but this amount was exceeded by $100. There still remains $250 outstanding.

Many new features will be added to the club this summer which will make it one of the most attractive resorts in the city. A lunch room will be installed which will furnish lunches to members and put up boats for picnic parties. The club will make arrangements whereby members may be able to rent row-boats, sail boats and possibly launch at small rental, for the convenience of those who do not desire to invest in a boat of their own.

The bathing beach will be an especially attractive feature. The filling-in which was done last year on the beach at the best bathing beach on Park Point.

Less alterations and the desire of the club to purchase some expensive racing apparatus has led the management to decide to increase the membership. The club, for ten years past, has followed a policy of rigid economy and while enlarging its pleasure boat equipment has done nothing in the line of racing shells. It will be expanding this line of equipment this year, and to raise this money the club will be held before members at $5 apiece for the initiation and first race.

The club dances which proved so popular last season, will be continued this year and the piano and automobile play will be in use in the ballroom last year for informal dancing parties, will again be provided.

The club has also decided to encourage racing and has arranged for a number of trophies which will be put up for competition. The trophies will be in the form of medals or buttons to be retained by the members Monday evening, at the members' meeting, at the club rooms, and all members and others who are interested in outdoor sports are urged to attend.

One of the cables which will operate the car on the new ferry bridge was stretched across the canal yesterday afternoon, and the second one will probably be placed in position today or tomorrow.

As soon as the cables have been placed in position and connected with the drums on the car, the car can be moved out over the canal for a short trial trip by hand power.

The car itself is partially enclosed. The slides are in place and the ends are being built.

Over $2500 of the money appropriated for the construction of the apparatus by the council, will remain in the fund after the approaches have been paid for, and this money will be used in connecting the wires of the Duluth General Electric company and the Duluth Street Railway company with the bridge.

These connections will give the power necessary to run the bridge and also the power for lighting the car and the bridge itself. If this is decided upon, some provision will probably have to be made for headlights for the car, and possibly for a whistle to give warning to passing boats.

The city will not provide any heating apparatus for the car at the present time. The trip consumes only 2 1/2 minutes and there will be warm waiting rooms at each side of the canal. The bridge will probably not be in operation until spring at least, and if any heating apparatus is required it can be installed next fall.

Under the franchise granted by the city, the Great Northern Power company is required to furnish power for operating the bridge as soon as its plant is in working order.

The date for the trial trip of the car has not yet been announced. The company is anxious to get everything in perfect working order before making the trip, as any hitch in the operation of the car would tend to shake the confidence of the people in the bridge.

INJUNCTIONS MAY BE USED

Bill to Prohibit Them Is Laid Aside In House.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The house committee on judiciary today voted to postpone indefinitely the further consideration of the bill prohibiting the use of injunctions and restraining orders in labor disputes. The action was taken by practically a party vote in the committee. A motion to reconsider the vote and lay that action on the table, which the parliamentarian made, was held off. It is impossible to bring the subject up for consideration in the future, also was agreed to. Many hearings were held on this measure during the last session.

Mr. Ferguson Will Then Again Address Senate Committee.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The senate committee on interstate commerce today continued its hearing on the subject of railroad rates. James Hooker, chairman of the Receivers' and Shippers' association, of Cincinnati, said that a reduction of rates was not required, but that a rearrangement was demanded. He favored a readjustment of rates to meet cases where certain localities were discriminated against by giving to the interstate commerce commission full authority to make adjustments.

The passage of the Esch-Townsend bill was advocated by Mr. Hooker. Chairman Elkins said: "What would you do if all of your money was tied up in railroad stock? Some other man had the power to fix the rates of your road?"

"You are asking a hypothetical question," said Mr. Hooker.

"No, I am not. I know men who own two-thirds of the stock of the railroad, half and one-fourth of the stock. Would you, if them, hold on to the stock or would you sell?" asked Mr. Elkins.

"There would be no panic in stocks as the result of the passage of the bill," said Mr. Hooker. "These men would hold on to their stock and see how the matter worked out. If unsatisfactory, they would further amendments or a repeal of the law."

Mr. Ferguson, of Duluth, will continue his statement to the committee Friday.

INCENDIARY PLACARDS.

N. Jullar, of Blue Earth, makes the primary election hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the country, and 2 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the cities and villages, in a bill proposed by him.

N. P. Hugo, of Duluth, introduced a bill giving Bethel societies authority to give consent to the adoption of children born in their care, instead of the mother.

Andrew Miller, of Duluth, introduced a bill punishing attorneys for malpractice, described elsewhere in this issue.

Under a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Gertsen, of Minneapolis, the amount of exemption from taxation of personal property would be increased from $100 to $200.

Senator A. B. Cole, of Pergus Falls, introduced a bill that will make the office of private secretary to the governor much less attractive than now. If it passes, at present the secretary gets $100 per year and all fees paid in by notaries public for their commissions. This amount to quite a sum every year, and it is said that the emoluments are considerably better than those of the governor.

The senate committee on state prison introduced the new prison bill, a copy of which was introduced in the house by Representative Zolch, of Cottage Grove. It was placed upon general orders on suspension of the rules.

Boy Drives Wire Into Brother's Head, Killing Him.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Minot.—While playing, Morton Witham was struck on the head by his brother Spencer, with a heavy piece of copper wire. It penetrated his skull and pierced his brain, and he died three hours later.

Deeds Lake.—Carl A. Rupert, farmer on a yard engine in Sturdevant, was killed by having his head crushed against a car which was left standing at the end of a switch. He was leaning out of the car window.

Fargo.—City Treasurer Mitchell of Fargo will bring an action against Judge Pollock for $1500 damages. Early this month Judge Pollock issued the city treasurer into court on a contempt charge and imposed a fine as a result of an article that the city treasurer published in a local paper concerning contempt cases that had been on trial. The city treasurer takes the ground that the court exceeded its authority in using its power to punish for contempt when its legitimate remedy was through a libel law. If the court had been injured in any way by the publication.

Arrangements are pending with the McMillan Paper company to establish a branch office here and do its transfer

The total receipts at the Duluth United States land office for the month of January amounted to $13,457.20, as compared to $18,352.38 for January, 1904. This is the smallest monthly business transacted at the office for several years.

Cash receipts from the sale of public lands amounted to $12,083.57. Acres sold amounted to 4518.44. Fees and commissions amounted to $907.18, and from timber trespass suits $480.85 was derived. The January receipts in 1905 were $31,420.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—Gen. Kuropatkin telegraphing under date of Jan. 29, says: Sandepas was that day set on fire by the Russian artillery. In a dispatch dated Jan. 31, the commander in chief reported that Sandepas and a successful bombardment of the city had been effected during the day.

General Kuropatkin mentions a number of minor attacks and counter attacks at outposts, villages and passes already reported in Associated Press dispatches.

Poor Board Meets.

The board of poor commissioners met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon, but transacted very little outside of routine business. Ward Ames has been appointed a member of the board to succeed himself, the justices of the district court making the appointment yesterday. A report was received from Bruno Eyferth, who has been auditing the accounts of the board. Mr. Eyferth finds the finances of the board in proper shape. The books show a balance of $3872.38, while the county treasurer shows that the board has $10 less. The difference Mr. Eyferth finds is due to a mistake of the county treasurer in erroneously charging a $10 order to the poor board.

TUG SMITH RETURNS

Trying to Get Through Ice Field at Ship Canal.

The tug Sarah Smith, which left Duluth for north shore points last Saturday evening, was sighted coming to the lake about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. She seemed to be running easily, but trouble began when she struck the low back at the ship canal, shortly after 3 o'clock. At the time of the accident she had not yet succeeded in getting through the ice.

Marine men are watching the efforts of the little tug with interest, but are unable to say whether she will be able to make her way through the ice field or not. The tug is quite thick in places, and frozen solidly, and while it does not extend out a great distance it may prove to be too much for the little tug to get through.

The owners of the boat announced last week that they would keep her in operation along the north shore, between Duluth and Grand Marais, touching at intermediate points, as long as ice conditions would permit, or until there was a lack of business. It is believed that if the present cold spell continues the Smith will not attempt to make another trip.

CHARGE OF FORGERY BROUGHT AGAINST HER

Flossie McCutcheon, Formerly of Hibbing, Is Placed on Trial.

Is Young Woman Who Brought Damage Suit Against A. H. Powers.

A sensation was sprung in district court yesterday when Miss Flossie McCutcheon, of Superior, was arraigned on a charge of forgery. Miss McCutcheon is the young woman, formerly of Hibbing, who has begun a damage suit against A. H. Powers, a prominent logger and mining man of Hibbing, charging him with seduction and kindred crimes.

The indictment on the charge of forgery was returned by the last grand jury of district court, but as Miss McCutcheon lived in Superior and outside of the jurisdiction of the court she was not arrested although efforts were made to procure requisition papers in order that she might be taken into custody on a bench warrant. The grand jury, however, and George L. Spangler, of this city.

PITTSBURG PHIL, THE NOTED PLUNGER, DEAD

Career of Man Who Made Millions on the Turf.

Death Due to Fact That He Repressed His Emotions.

New York, Feb. 1.—A private dispatch received here from Camden, N. J., today reports the death of George E. Smith, the turfman, known as "Pittsburg Phil." Smith was about 40 years old.

"Pittsburg Phil" was at one time the greatest plunger the American turf had ever known.

At 22 years of age he was earning $10 a week as a covey hunter in Pittsburg. Now, at 38 years of age, he is said to be worth more than a million.

Unlike "Plunger" Walton and many of his sort who have appeared upon the turf from time to time, he has never "gone broke." In the language of the track, and each season has seen his bank account larger than it was at the close of the previous racing season.

Not since the later days of the recently closed Sheepshead Bay meeting has "Pittsburg Phil" been seen at the track. The last time he was watched the horses run a number of his friends commented on his increasing pallor and weakness, the sure symptoms of the actual lung trouble which was soon after to drive him into retreat in the Adirondack mountains. He was able at that time of his condition, and spoke of it as coolly and with a little emotion as he displayed in watch-attorneys for Miss McCutcheon in the Powers case, upon hearing of the indictment, caused Miss McCutcheon to come over to this side of the bay yesterday afternoon and give herself up. Immediate trial was moved for and was at once begun after Judge Cant convened court yesterday afternoon. The drawing of the jury is now in progress. C. D. Thomson, general agent of the Great Northern road here, was the first juror called. The defense used its first peremptory challenge on him, possibly because he said he was acquainted with Mr. Powers. Peter Wright, a clerk for the Western Transportation company, was next called and was accepted. The drawing of the jury will take all of the balance of the day and possibly most of tomorrow morning.

The indictment charges that Miss McCutcheon forged the name of Attorney P. S. Sullivan, of Hibbing, on a receipt in June of last year. It is claimed by Mr. Sullivan that he had some accounts against her for collection and that she now exhibits a receipt for $30 purporting to be from him, representing one of her creditors, the receipt being for amount paid on the account. Mr. Sullivan declares this to be a forgery, but the defense men claim it is genuine.

Mr. Spangler, for the defendant, said to The Herald today that the charge against Miss McCutcheon is trumped up in order to prejudice the case against Mr. Powers, which will come up in United States court next week. He is an attempt to kill her and Mr. Spangler. "If they kill her off, of course it kills her case against Mr. Powers. The charge is purely a fabrication."

ing a race on which he had bet a small fortune.

"I think the odds are against me," was his only comment.

One of the best specialists in the country was consulted a year or two ago, and his theory of the cause of Smith's decline is generally being talked in character. He said:

"You have destroyed yourself through your refusal to permit the exhibition of the emotions that would naturally be aroused by the scenes you witness every day."

"You wager $20,000 or $30,000 on a race. When your horse comes into the stretch your face bears no trace of feeling or excitement."

"You witness the kaleidoscopic weaving in and out of the colors of the jockeys during the battle through the last furlong as though it were a game of backgammon, and when the horse you wish you have bet upon under the wire, a winner by an eyelash, you drop your glasses into their case with a hard expression of a man who has been listening to a fond father's story of his little boy's sayings."

"In this you have been defying nature to your cost. Your natural impulse has been to shout and leap exultantly; to cheer the horse that carries your bet; to scream at him as he dashes down the track, and to let your emotions have full play. You have re-he has been missing, and the bookmakers have not regretted his absence.

Since the day years ago, when his coup with old Farvenu netted him $100,000, "Pittsburg Phil" has been a constant winner of large sums.

As a boy in Pittsburg he first demonstrated his ability to select winners by betting in the poolrooms, and within short time had been barred from them because of his consistent success. Thereafter he visited the tracks, and never had a setback serious enough to cause him to have to resort to other methods of making a living.

For four or five years he appeared at the tracks simply as a bettor, and then purchased a string of horses, which he turned over to his brother, W. B. Smith, to train and manage. Since that time he has been a stable owner and bettor. It was he who discovered Jockey Willie Shaw at New Orleans and brought him to New York.

It was "Pittsburg Phil" who first systematized the collection and use of racing information.

He not only hired "clockers" to watch the early morning trials of the horses, but watched them himself. No one will ever know how many stable boys and jockeys were on his pay roll, furnishing him every day the information as to the condition of the racers that made it possible for him to select the winners with almost unerring judgment.

He knew horses as no man has ever known them or probably ever will know them. Watching them as they paraded past the grandstand, he could tell their chances, their condition. He made a study of horses and knew them better than anything else.

"With the passing of 'Pittsburg Phil' the imperial horse will lose one of its most familiar figures, as did the Vendome when Dan Daly died from consumption a few days ago. Whenever there was racing on the tracks around New York he was to be seen every night leaning against the rail in front of the hotel, talking with other racing men and discussing the chances of the coming day.

"Unlike the typical race-track follower, he had none of the ordinary vices. He did not drink, smoke or gamble, and his mother received a large percentage of his winnings."

ALL STAR TEAM

Alpena, Mich., Champions Coming For Indoor Ball This Week.

Three Games, First to Be Played Thursday Evening.

Everything is in readiness for the three games of indoor baseball to be played at the Armory Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week, between the Alpena, Mich., champion team and the All-Stars from the Army and Navy league. Capt. Halbert has been giving the men good practice the last two weeks and has tried out a team that will give the visitors all they ask for.

The new Spaulding regulation ball will be used and the present diamond, St. Bennett, who is undoubtedly the best catcher at the head of the lakes, will officiate at the receiving and during the three games, and Halbert will pitch the first game. Pittzenmiller, who has been working in the great storm this season, will probably pitch the second game, and Simpson, who has won more games than any other pitcher this year, will take care of the last game.

The other men selected by Capt. Halbert are all good stick artists and know the game from end to end. They should be capable of doing good work.

The Alpena team has the famous Nelson, and his backers say he is the best pitcher ever worked in the diamond. That remains to be seen. Duluth has the faculty of putting such men out of the box before they have touched off about $15 and the balloon will go up before it. The game will be played every day before the week strains of Platen's full orchestra. Following is the line-up for Thursday's game:

Position	Alpena	All-Stars
Pitcher	Nelson	McTaggart
Catcher	St. Bennett	McTaggart
First base	Wentz	Larson
Second base	Masters	Lowie
Third base	Dane	Livingston
Right field	Prieur

Small Fire in Spalding.

Fire broke out in the Spalding hotel shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. The blaze is believed to have been caused by an overheated radiator in room 346. It burned through the woodwork beneath the floor, and the firemen were compelled to tear up the flooring to get at the blaze. The chemical engine was called into use and the fire was extinguished after burning but a few minutes. The chief damage was caused by the water and smoke, and was confined largely to the carpets and curtains.

COLLEGE FIRE LASSIES.

One of the most interesting developments of fire-fighting in Great Britain, says a Twentieth Century Home writer, is to be found in the girl fire brigades organized at practically all the great educational establishments for young women.

Holloway college is one of the few possessing full-powered steam fire engines. It is now some years since the girls of this college were first organized by a professional fire captain, specially sent down from London's metropolitan brigade. False alarms were cunningly devised at unorthodox hours of the night, and then the moment the bells were sounded and realistic clouds of smoke were filling the corridors from masses of wet brown paper on the captain's hearth, each dormitory would be emptied in a few seconds and the young ladies deposited on the lawns in more or less weird escapes are installed in all the dormitories.

For this purpose canvas-chute fire-escapes are installed in all of the dormitories. The head girl on the floor is charged with the duty of throwing the chute out of the window and making the descent herself first of all, for the first person down has to take great care in the perpendicular descent, using knees and elbows to check her speed. Once on the lawn outside, however, she draws the chute out at an angle, thus enabling the rest of the girls to slide down in a swift and constant succession.

The young ladies at Holloway college are so expert in the use of full-powered fire-fighting apparatus that they are not infrequently called to outbreaks in the surrounding country.

There is another girls college at Marazion, in Cornwall, in whose grounds a huge castlelike tower has been erected and here very realistic practice is indulged in by the girls who, by the way, wear a quite serviceable uniform while on fire duty of blue serge skirts, red blouses and neat sailor hats. Fires are built in the tower and the girls have climbed to the summit by means of ladders at the back, and these are "rescued" by leaping into circular nets firmly held by a ring of stalwart Cornish maidens.

WHERE COLORS COME FROM.

Cochineal insects furnish many of our most gorgeous colors—carmine, scarlet, crimson and purple, says the Chicago Journal. The little red insects, which is nothing more or less than the inkly fluid which the fish discharge to render the water black when it is attacked by a predator.

Ivory chips produce the ivory-black and bone-black.

Prussian blue is made with impure potassium carbonate. This most useful discovery was accidental.

Blue-black is the charcoal of the vine stalk.

Turkey red is the madder plant which grows in Hindostan.

Raw sienna is the natural earth near Sienna, Italy.

India ink is made from burned camphor. The Chinese are the only manufacturers of this, and will not reveal its secret.

THE COUNTRY MEMBERS LINED UP AGAINST BILL IN FAVOR OF CITIES

Measure Regarding Assessments Against Exempt Property Killed.

Senate Favors Board to Settle Timber Trespass Cases.

Civil Service For Dairy and Food Commission Proposed.

FROM THE HERALD,
ST. PAUL BUREAU.

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The old proposition to make the state reimburse cities for assessments against exempt property that pays taxes directly to the state and none to the local governments, such as railroad property, was killed once more in the senate this morning. It was a clear case of city against the country, and the country won, because it had more votes than the city did. The bill, which was introduced by Senator Hardy of St. Paul, was reported out for indefinite postponement by the committee to which it was referred. Senator Hardy tried to have the report overturned and offered as a substitute a motion that the bill be placed on general orders.

Senator G. W. Semerville of Sleepy Eye made the leading talk against the bill, and very skillfully appealed to the selfish interests of the country members, and lined them up against the measure. The bill also includes villages, but their interests were so small in comparison with those of the cities that the villagers in the senate lined up with the country and voted against the bill.

Senator Hardy's motion got seven votes and there were twenty-four against it, so the bill was indefinitely postponed, thus putting off the way for another session the chance to get justice from the state on this point.

The senate, in general orders this morning, recommended for passage the bill by Senator George F. Wilson of Minneapolis, authorizing the state timber board, consisting of the governor, auditor and secretary of state, to settle timber trespasses. Instead of the auditor alone. The measure was opposed by Senator Albert Schaller, Democrat, from Hastings, who urged against such a division of responsibility as the bill involved. He said it was better to have one man, and then the responsibility could not get away. When there is a board to pass upon such things, the responsibility is divided, and the board is responsible for such action.

Senator R. E. Thompson, of Preston, denied this statement, and said the board would plan to work well. Senator Wilson's bill was agreed to by the committee of the whole and was recommended to pass.

Mileage books, good not only for the holder but for members of his family, and in cases of corporations good also for employees, are provided for in a bill introduced in the senate this morning by Senator Stone, of Benson. Every road over 100 miles long must issue mileage books of 500 and 1000 miles each, to be sold at not more than the rate charged on the road. Tickets are to be issued and carrying all the privileges of such class tickets. If any road refuses, the bill provides for a fine of $500.

A new bill for election of delegates to state conventions at primary elections was introduced this morning by Senator Dale, of Madison. It provides that the state central committee of the principal parties shall call the state conventions, to meet not later than Oct. 1, and fix the apportionment, through the conventions are limited to 100 delegates. Candidates for delegates must file by affidavit, as other candidates, but they need not file.

The rider bill carries a fee. They will then go on to the primary election ticket, below the candidates for official positions.

Civil service for the state dairy and food department is provided by a bill introduced in the house today by J. R. Morley, of Owatonna. It provides that the head of the department may be appointed for other reasons than for qualifications determined by a suitable examination. The examinations are to be held at least twice a year at the capital by a board consisting of the dairy and food commissioners, the dean of the agricultural college and the president of the state dairymen's association, and political parties are to figure in appointments. Nobody may be discharged except upon written charges filed with the secretary of state, charging neglect of duty, incompetency, insubordination or gross immorality. Appointments are to be made by the same authority as at present, but only from the list of eligibles, without regard to politics. Temporary appointments for emergencies may be made without examinations. Any attempt to defeat the purposes of the act is to be punished by a fine of $50 to $500 or six months in the county jail. The present employees are to hold on until Jan. 1, 1907, when they will have to pass examination to be reinstated.

Representative J. A. Gates, of Kenyon, introduced a new means of getting persons to state institutions, in a bill introduced today. They are now taken there by a circuit sheriff from the county jail, which they were committed. The gates bill requires that, when a person is committed, full information regarding his condition and habits is to be sent to the institution.

SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF THE RIDER BILL

On Primary Elections Is Strong In the House Committee.

The Educational Institutions and the Board of Control.

FROM THE HERALD,
ST. PAUL BUREAU.

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—So far as sentiment has shown itself, it looks at the present time as though the primary election amendment most likely to pass will be the bill by H. A. Rider, of Little Falls, providing for the election of delegates to the state convention at the primary elections.

The house committee on elections attempted to hold a meeting yesterday afternoon, but owing to the fact that the judiciary committee was keeping several of the members busy, it was impossible to get a quorum.

The committee, however, seems to be in favor of the Rider bill, and against the proposition of extending the primary election system to state officers.

Those in favor of extension of the primaries to state officers argue that the primary election system has been successfully tried on all the minor has given utterance to any expression, whatever, and it would not be entirely safe to predict the passage of the Rider bill, even though it seems a likely happening.

There is no division on the proposition that something ought to be done. The disagreeable episodes of the last Republican state convention, when the issue depended more upon juggling in the proper delegations than it did upon the merits of the candidates, and when there were a bunch of contested delegations, with a shocking attendance of charges of fraud and utter disregard of the election laws, made it sufficiently evident that something is necessary. The question is whether the primaries shall be extended to all state officers, or whether it shall simply be extended to state officers.

Those in favor of extension of the primaries to state officers argue that the primary election system has been successfully tried on all the minor

THE COLD CONTINUES THROUGHOUT WEST

Temperature Lowest For Years In Many Places In Country.

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today is even colder than yesterday was in the Northwest, according to reports received by Weather Observer Oliver, and marks the coldest day of the winter.

The official record in St. Paul was 24 degrees below zero with a keen north-west wind blowing. The prospect for warmer weather in the next twenty-four hours is not encouraging.

The temperature at Medicine Hat, Manitoba, was 40 below today. Havre, Mont., 48 below and other below zero points are: Williston, N. D., 42; Devils Lake, N. D., 36; Winnipeg, Man., 30; N. D., 30; Huron, S. D., 26.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 2.—Today was ten degrees colder than any other day of the winter. The thermometer registered 22 below zero at Alpena 4 o'clock.

Weather Observer Conger predicts that the temperature will fall tonight to between 5 and 10 below zero.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 2.—This is the coldest day of the winter throughout Wisconsin. The weather bureau reports the thermometer registering 15-10 degrees below zero at 7 a. m. Reports from other places throughout the state show a temperature of 24 at La Crosse, 22 at Madison, and 20 at Great Bay. The weather man says there is no immediate prospect of relief.

Des Moines, Feb. 2.—Twenty-five degrees below zero was recorded in this city this morning, last night being the coldest in ten years.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—By far the coldest weather of the season prevailed here today, the temperature dropping to 14 below zero. As a result, much destruction and suffering came to the attention of the police and charity organizations. The cold played havoc with many of the transportation lines, cars on the surface lines were delayed and the tracks on the "L" roads were unusually crowded. Through trains on nearly all roads were delayed from one to one and a half hours.

Wire service to the Northwest is in a crippled condition. Considerable interruption is also reported in Eastern wire service.

The following temperatures, all below zero, were reported from various points today:

Sioux Falls, S. D., 27, schools closed; Omaha, Neb., 25; Norfolk, Neb., 20; Burlington, Neb., 24; Lincoln, Neb., 20; Kansas City, Mo., 13; St. Louis, Mo., 10; Bloomington, Ill., 10; Columbus, Ky., 6; Superior, Wis., 30; La Crosse, Wis., 21; Des Moines, Ia., 25; Peoria, Ill., 22; Detroit, Mich., 2; Sault

Ste Marie, 12; Marquette, Mich., 10; Escanaba, 14; Duluth, Minn., 26; Milwaukee, 17; St. Paul, 24; Medicine Hat, 40; Hare, Mont., 46; Devils Lake, N. D., 36; Winnipeg, 30; Bismarck, N. D., 26.

Armour, S. D., Feb. 2.—The government thermometer registered 45 degrees below here last night, the coldest ever known in this vicinity.

Memphis, Feb. 2.—Another cold wave prevails over the central South and Southwest. The mercury at Memphis registered 17 above zero today and the local weather bureau forecasts colder weather tonight. Reports from northern Arkansas and Oklahoma state that zero weather prevails and a cold wave is advancing southward. Fruit and vegetable dealers have been advised to hold their shipments for two or three days.

NOT YET TOLD.
Isadore Rush's Mother Thinks Actress Is Living.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Fannie Rush, mother of Miss Isadore Rush, the actress, has not yet been told of the death of her daughter, who was killed while bathing in California, three months ago.

Mrs. Rush is in such delicate health that, fearing the shock would kill her, the family pretended that the company Isadore cannot come home.

The actress' weekly letter to her mother is prepared by the family and read to the invalid.

DESIGN FAVORED FOR THE NEW WISCONSIN STATE CAPITOL.

Madison Wis., Feb. 2.—The designer of the new Minnesota state capitol has been selected to construct the state house for Wisconsin. Cass Gilbert, of St. Paul, won the competition for the preparation plans, getting the first prize of $2000 and the contract to supervise construction. Koch & Son and Ferry & Class, of Milwaukee, took second and third prizes, $1500 and $1000, respectively. The decision was reported by the commission to the legislature Tuesday night. The estimates call for an expenditure of $1,000,000 more than the Minnesota capitol cost; but it is said that the building as planned cannot be erected for less than $5,000,000 or $10,000,000. Work will be commenced in the spring, and it will take some ten years to complete the edifice.

BEAT JAPS OFF

Attack In Neighborhood of Dsiantchan Prove Unsuccessful.

Usual Artillery Duel Is Progressing In the Center.

Tsinsketchen, Manchuria, Monday, Jan. 30.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The Japanese offensive in the neighborhood of Dsiantchan, fourteen miles southeast of Tsinsketchen, has everywhere been beaten off. The Japanese left their killed and carried off a couple of hundred wounded. The Russians subsequently found a large number of frozen corpses of Japanese wounded, who had tried to crawl off from Chen-hatin pass. The appearance of these corpses was frightful. The bodies were scantily clad.

Mukden, Wednesday, Feb. 1.—(Delayed in transmission.)—After the Russian bombardment of Sandipuu yesterday the Japanese tried to drive them off, but failed. The indications are that the Japanese will abandon Sandipuu.

The artillery duel is proceeding at the center.

The Japanese battalions which attacked the Russian left were repulsed with heavy loss.

The latest returns of the Russian losses during the recent fighting show that 13,000 men were killed or wounded, and 10,000 were killed among the latter.

ABANDONED SUPPLY STATION.
New York, Feb. 2.—The Russian supply station at Tschien has been abandoned, cables the Herald's Genoa, Korea, correspondent. The Russian troops have returned Northward to Songlin after destroying the telegraph line. It is rumored that they will move further North soon.

Russia's preparations for a campaign on the Korean coast have, the correspondent adds, apparently been abandoned.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE FALLS
Thirty Men and Horses Precipitated Into River In Russia.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—The suspension bridge spanning the Fontanka river collapsed today while a detachment of Dragoon regiments was crossing. Thirty men and horses were precipitated into the frozen river, together with a number of cabs, wagons, etc. The ice at that point being weak, the greatest excitement prevailed, but speedily help was forthcoming and the victims of the accident were rescued with the exception of one Dragoon.

The chains on both banks broke and the bridge fell badly with the whole traffic thereon at the time. The terrified cavalry horses jumped over the railings of the bridge onto the ice which gave way. The river is narrow at that point and the men managed to scramble ashore with the assistance of witnesses of the accident.

COUNT ENDS HIS LIFE.
New York, Feb. 2.—Count Hippolyte Malaguzzi Valeri has committed suicide in a cab, says a Herald dispatch from Milan, Italy. He was a keeper of state archives and author of historical works. His suicide is attributed to nervous prostration from overwork.

SHIP GETS OFF SHORE.
Washington, Feb. 2.—Superintendent Kimball of the life-saving service today received a dispatch from Keeper Gaskill of Cape Lookout, N. C., stating that a large steamship was ashore on the south side of Lookout shoals. The life-saving service later received a telegram saying: "Steamship has floated and proceeded."

PRINCE IS BETTER.
Potsdam, Feb. 2.—A bulletin issued this morning states that the general condition of Prince Eitel-Friedrich is good. The highest temperature since yesterday's bulletin was 39; and today's is 35.6.

EMPEROR MAKES CHANGES.
St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—Emperor Nicholas has signed the appointment of M. Muraviev, minister of justice, to be ambassador of Russia at Rome. M. Muraviev, hitherto the assistant of Minister Muraviev, has been promoted to minister of justice. M. Swereff, chief Russian press censor, has been removed from his post.

TAUNTS OF SCHOOLMATES BRINGS ON HEART FAILURE.

New York, Feb. 2.—Heart failure, said to have been brought on by taunts from classmates in a public school of the Bronx, has caused the death of Joseph Krauer, 7 years old.

The lad with one or two others failed to receive promotion to the succeeding grade and was greatly annoyed by his more fortunate classmates. He fell from his seat in a faint after undergoing their jests for a time, but was revived and returned to the room. An hour later, the little fellow again fell to the floor and a physician was summoned. He pronounced the boy dead from heart failure.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 2.—On the steamer Siamang which has arrived from Yokohama, were three Japanese naval officers en route to London to superintend the construction of a 15,000-ton battleship being built in England for delivery at the close of the war. They say a 10,000-ton battleship is being built at Osaka, a 12,000-ton cruiser at Kailo, and a number of submarine and torpedo craft are being hurriedly constructed. Ten merchant steamers are being built at Nagasaki, one of 700 tons for the American trade.

IRON MARKET RATHER QUIET
But Little Fresh Buying Recorded During Past Week.

New York, Feb. 2.—So far as fresh buying is involved, the markets generally speaking, have been rather quiet during the past week, says the Iron Age. In the Pittsburgh district, steel makers have not taken additional quantities nor is it certain that the leading interest will purchase any notable quantities at once. The market has been pretty thoroughly cleaned up of speculative lots, only one small parcel of less than 500 tons offered at a shade under prevailing prices having been sold.

Eastern steel makers have shown increased interest in supplying future wants and sales aggregating about $5,000,000 have been consumed for delivery further lots are pending.

TO ALLOW DRAWBACKS ON FLOUR MADE IN PART FROM IMPORTED WHEAT

GORKY IS RELEASED FROM RUSSIAN JAIL

Noted Author Turned Loose
By St. Petersburg Authorities.

Reports From Consuls Indicate Trouble Is About Over.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—Maxim Gorky, the author, who was arrested shortly after the disturbances at St. Petersburg, Jan. 22, has been released from custody.

Warsaw, Feb. 2, 1:43 p. m.—The morning passed quietly. The factory districts are strongly guarded by troops. Warsaw continues in a state of siege. Socialist disturbances are expected this evening.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—The latest reports received by Consul General Watts from the American consuls in Russia indicate a cessation of the trouble in most of the industrial centers of the country.

The consuls at Riga reports that the rioting at that place was precipitated by students and rowdies who fired on the police. The police and troops returned the fire and fifty-three persons were killed and 150 wounded.

At Revel, the soldiers were obliged to defend a factory on Saturday. Three rioters were killed and several others were wounded.

AN EVENT OF IMPORTANCE.
St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—The Novoe Vremya says the emperor's reception of the workmen delegates at Tsarskoe Selo yesterday was an event of exceptional importance "awakening the hope of the re-establishment of internal peace which constitutes the best guarantee and is an indispensable condition of peace abroad and fruitful labor at home." The paper adds that it trusts the event will greatly facilitate the restoration of internal order of which not only the workmen but all Russia has such great need.

FEMALE MURDERER GRANTED REPRIEVE BY GOVERNOR BELL

MRS. MARY ROGERS.
Waterbury, Vt., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Mary Rogers, who was to have been hanged tomorrow for the murder of her husband, has been reprieved until June 2. The governor said the reprieve was granted in order that opportunity might be given for a new trial.

RUSSIANS ARE GETTING ANGRY

Considerable Feeling Is Shown at North Sea Inquiry.

The Hostile Attitude of Great Britain Is Criticised.

Paris, Feb. 2.—A continuance of the cross-examination of the Russian officers at today's session of the international commission developed considerable feeling and several sharp exchanges of remarks. Capt. Clado particularly criticised the hostile attitude of the British press. He said Vice Admiral Rojestvensky had written a private letter severely condemning the British press, using one phrase which Capt. Clado said he considered necessary to withhold.

Baron Taube, the Russian judicial adviser, remarked that it was doubtless some strong, seafaring expression. He added: "I will not say the phrase was strong, but it was bitter."

Capt. Clado referred to an alleged misstatement about Russian torpedo boats remained upon the scene without rendering aid to the trawlers. He declared that no such torpedo boats remained.

Hugh O'Beirne, first secretary of the British embassy in Paris and agent of Great Britain, said he had heretofore refrained from asking a delicate question, namely, why none of the Russian ships remained to give assistance after knowing that peaceful fishing boats had been struck.

Capt. Clado answered that Admiral Rojestvensky had fully explained that he did not consider the injuries to the fishing boats were serious, whereas the squadron, having just escaped from an attack by torpedo boats, it was desirable to withdraw the squadron as soon as possible from the vicinity of such attacks.

Admiral Beaumont (Great Britain) closely questioned the witness on who gave the order to fire. Capt. Clado saying it was Admiral Rojestvensky.

Lieut. Ellis of the Russian battleship Alexander III also maintained his testimony on cross-examination.

CABLE BREAKS.

Two Miners Fall to Death In Butte Mine.
Butte, Mont., Feb. 2.—William McAndrews and Thomas Greely, miners, were killed today and their bodies are imprisoned in a cavity which lies in over 300 feet of water in the Rarus shaft. They were being lowered to the forty-foot level when the big steel cable snapped like a piece of glass and the cage went crashing to the bottom.

The cable is tested to bear a load of 7000 tons and its snapping can only be attributed to the extremely cold weather.

Important Opinion Is Rendered By the Attorney General.

Foreign Material Must Be Identified By Customs Officials.

Amount and Character of Evidence at Secretary's Discretion.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The attorney general has rendered an opinion in which he holds that drawbacks may be allowed on exported flour made in part from imported wheat. He also holds that evidence of books of account may be used to establish the right of a manufacturer to a drawback. The attorney general holds in effect that drawback may be allowed on flour produced in part from imported wheat, provided the customs officials can identify the foreign material and can ascertain to their satisfaction by the books of account or otherwise the quantity or measure of the foreign material actually present in the completed article.

The attorney general says that he does not wish to be understood as expressing the opinion that the evidence of books of accounts of the manufacturers is alone sufficient, without the aid of other evidence to establish the rights of the manufacturer to the drawback. He says he expresses no opinion on that point as the nature of the evidence disclosed by them is not before him. The amount and character of the evidence which should be required is within the administrative discretion of the secretary of the treasury.

GOVERNMENT MAY BUY MINES

Prussians Ask Bankers If They Can Borrow Money Enough.

Berlin, Feb. 2.—The Prussian government has inquired of the group of financial interests represented by the Dresdner bank and Bank for Business and Industry if it would be difficult to raise loans sufficient to take over the coal mines both of the Rhine-Westphalian and Silesian regions should the government desire to consider such a project. This inquiry was submitted to meeting of bankers last week as a basis for discussion. The sum of $250,000,000 was named as a rough estimate of the cost. The bankers' judgment was that any government requirement could easily be obtained.

The government it was pointed out had no difficulty in borrowing four times as much with which to nationalize the railways. In that transaction the government borrowed at four per cent afterwards covering the transaction into a three and one-half per cent loan and it had besides the interest and allotments of the sinking fund which made a fine yearly profit amounting in the last fiscal year to $42,500,000. The ministry of commerce expressly limited its communication to the bankers to the mere question of the possibility of raising the amount of money needed. The government seemingly has two objects in view—first, to learn if the nationalization of the mines is really feasible, and, secondly, to show the mine owners what might happen if the coal strike is not settled, namely that the government has means in reserve where by it could take the whole controversy out of the hands of both the owners and workmen. Chancellor Von Bülow and Herr Moeller, minister of commerce and industry, announced in the Prussian diet during the recent Hibernia mine discussions that the government had no intention to take over all the coal mines but since then the situation has changed and the government seemingly is preparing for what is yet only a somewhat distant contingency.

BONES ARE BARED

By Steam Shovel on a Rocky Point in Idaho.
 Thought to Be Skeletons of Coeur d'Alene Indians.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 2.—Much interest has been aroused by the recent finding of many human skeletons on a rocky point near Chateaufort, Idaho. The Oregon Railway and Navigation company's steam shovel working at that place is responsible for their discovery, having turned them up while leveling dirt and rock for filling bridges. Since then much speculation has been indulged in, and many theories advanced to account for their presence in that isolated locality, situated in a forest and remote from all permanent human habitation.

Some theorists believed that a battle must have been fought there many years ago between tribes of Indians or between Indians and traders of the Hudson Bay company. Others shook their heads dubiously and asserted that all the bones were surely those of Indians, and attributed their deaths to natural causes.

The correspondent wrote to Rev. Father Joseph Carman, who has been in charge of the Remnant Catholic mission at St. Joe, Idaho, for over forty years, requesting any information he might possess through tradition or otherwise, on these mysterious bones.

The correspondent also had a personal interview with Clarence Butler, a young man who was born near the Coeur d'Alene Indian reservation, and who has spent a number of years among the Indians in a position under the United States government, and speaks their dialect fluently.

The answers of these two men are the most reliable information possible to obtain, and should settle who these people were, and the approximate time at which they lived and died.

Butler's letter, given verbatim, follows: "To your inquiry about the skulls and human bones found on the Oregon Railway and Navigation right of way west of Chateaufort, I deny the theory that they belong to white people. The theory is entirely false from the very start. These bones have never been seen in this region before the Hudson Bay company made its appearance among the Indians in the West some sixty or seventy years ago. Even then the company did not succeed in coming into contact with the Coeur d'Alene, as it did with the Colville, Kalispel and Flathead Indians. These tribes, therefore, could not belong to whites, but were evidently those of Indians."

Clarence Butler the young man before mentioned, said in reply to questions: "In the year 1888 I went to Chateaufort in company with a Dr. Smith, who was at that time physician for the Indians at the St. Joe mission. Dr. Smith was an antiquarian and had a fond for collecting all sorts of Indian curios. We made a trip to Chateaufort in the hope of finding something interesting to add to his large collection. In a scurrying over the rocks point west of the depot we found a number of human bones and skulls which had evidently withstood the ravages of time for a great number of years.

There were a number of Coeur d'Alene Indians encamped near the mouth of the St. Joe river, among whom were two men of very great age. The older of the two, who were known among their tribe as medicine men, were called Hesse, and could not have been less than 80, and perhaps 90 years of age. The younger was known as Old Paul and was certainly not less than 60.

On being shown the skulls and asked if they knew anything about them, they replied in their own language that when they were children they had been told by their parents that many of their people had died and their bodies were taken far from camp and buried in the rocks near the 'big water,' probably the St. Joe river.

"Neither of the old men had any recollection of any of their tribe having been buried there during their lifetime, and I inferred from their talk that the relics then in my possession must have been at least 150 years old, and perhaps even a greater age than that."

"The Coeur d'Alene never followed the custom of some other tribes in placing their dead in the forks of trees, but always deposited them in the ground. Before the advent of the Hudson Bay company they possessed no picks, shovels

TO DEPORT LONGMO

This Disposition Will Probably Be Made of Case.
 Immigrant Inspector Dean Examines Man Jailed For Theft.

William H. Dean, United States immigrant inspector for the port of Duluth, acting on request of Chief of Police Troyer, this afternoon examined Alfred Longmo at the county jail. His object was to see whether the young man, who was sentenced in municipal court yesterday to ninety days in the county jail for the alleged theft of a gold watch and $8 in cash, could be deported to his native country. As a result of the investigation, a report will be made to the head immigration office and Longmo will doubtless be ordered returned to Norway.

It was not until yesterday afternoon, during the course of a conversation with the board of directors, that Longmo learned of this new method of disposing of foreigners who become criminals or public charges after their arrival in the country. There is a law to the effect that any person coming to the United States from a foreign country may be returned to the land from which he came if, within two years after reaching this country, he becomes either a criminal or a public charge. Longmo, it appears, may become a public charge even after he is released from the county jail at the end of his term served for a criminal offense, because he is thought to be weak minded. In this case he would be doubly subject to deportation under the immigration law. He has been in the United States less than four months.

The examination as conducted by Inspector Dean, before the sheriff and his deputies at the jail, showed the prisoner to be of age. Longmo said that he came to America on the steamer Cretic, of the White Star line, late last October, landing at the port of New York, and almost immediately boarding a train for Minneapolis. Later he came to Duluth. According to his statements he had no relatives in this country, although in Norway he left four brothers and three sisters. His mother and father are both dead, he said. All of the questions were answered intelligently.

Although Longmo can understand some English he cannot speak the language, and the services of an interpreter, C. F. Spence, boss of the chain gang, were necessary.

If ordered deported the man will probably be taken to New York at the government's expense. From there it will rest with the steamship company which brought him to America to return him to Norway. Possibly St. Louis county will be asked to bear the expense of taking him back to Norway. Should a further examination show Longmo to be weak-minded, an investigation will doubtless be made to determine whether or not it was that he was allowed to enter the country at all.

Our Protective Tariff.
 By means of our protective tariff American industries have been so protected that they have prospered as never before in our history.

In addition, it has furnished the necessary funds for all expenses of the government. By means of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the system is so well protected that disease cannot find a foothold, but in cases where sickness already has the uperhand it is quickly overcome. It is the sick man's friend long before he is sick, and it is a health when all else has failed. This is one of the main reasons for its popularity. It cures all ailments, such as indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles, colds and malaria. Sickly women have been benefited here for years by its use, especially in all cases of monthly irregularities. Don't fail to try it.

CLAIMS LOSS OF $10,000

David Casimir Says Stock Was Damaged to That Amount.
 David Casimir, proprietor of the Eagle Clothing company, after going over his stock today, stated that his loss would amount to between $10,000 and $11,000, caused by the smoke and water, in the fire which broke out in his store last evening.

He says that he is still unable to account for the cause of the fire, but that it seemed to center about that part of the store where the telephone was located, and that this might possibly have been the cause of the blaze.

HAPPENINGS IN DAKOTAS

 NORTH DAKOTA.
 Williston—Mrs. Maggie Mumby, of Clayton, Minn., was killed in a runaway accident here Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. Snyder, her cousin, Mrs. John Heffernan, and a child of Mrs. Mumby's, were badly bruised. Their team became excited at a mid-meal, and started wildly down Main street, throwing the occupants of the buggy to the ground when a turn was made. Mrs. Mumby was hurled against a curbstone, fracturing her skull. She was the wife of George Mumby, and was on her way home from a visit in Seattle.

Farro-Judge Pollock, of Fargo, will preside at the bascom trial at Pembina. The case is a law partner of Harrell, recently convicted of manslaughter in connection with the killing of Byron Stoddard. He is hurried with complicity in the killing. Judge Pollock and Kneeshaw have exchanged benches. Judge Fisk of Grand Forks, presided at the Hartzell trial, but was too ill to hear the bascom case. The trials were removed from Cavalier county, where the crime occurred, and Judge Kneeshaw of the district was hurried because of affidavits of prejudice.

There is general approval in Fargo of Representative Treat's bill to make the failure to support a family a felony instead of a misdemeanor. There are several cases in the city where the new law could be applied. The families of the offenders absolutely refuse to do anything for their families, and seem to enjoy short sentences in jail, where they are well fed and warm while their families starve. The farmers' elevator movement in this state seems to have gained a new impetus since the meeting held here for the purpose of discussing state organization. The promoters announce that more inquiries have been received than for some months, and that organizations are being started in many towns so the work can be started this spring.

 Sioux Falls—Judge Canfield has granted judgment for $500 costs against William C. Hollister and Thomas Scanlan, Sioux Falls bankers, as bondsmen for Chicago, Feb. 2.—Indictments for murder will be asked by Coroner Hoffman against Johann Hoch, the alleged poisoner of many wives.

"I am now in position to say positively the embalming fluid injected into the body of Mrs. Marie Weiker-Hoch did not contain arsenic," said the coroner today. Arsenic was in a constituent of any of the drugs administered by the physician who attended the woman before her death. The fact that more than two and half ounces of poison were found in the organs means Hoch murdered his wife. The coroner's jury will doubtless hold Hoch to the grand jury, but if it fails to do so I will myself hold him under my official prerogative.

Dr. Lewke, the coroner's physician, is examining the undertaker's instruments used in the embalming process to discover whether they bear any traces of the poison.

"I expect that I shall have completed my analysis by Saturday and will have a statement to make then," said Dr. Lewke today.

"As I understand it, there was no arsenic used in the embalming fluid, and there now remains only the investigation of the instruments by the undertaker."

The inquest will not be held until Hoch reaches Chicago, some time next week.

Two of the wives of Hoch have quarreled over money alleged to have been found on Hoch when arrested. The money is claimed by Mrs. Fischer-Hoch, because she was the last one he deserted. Mrs. Hendrich-Schmitt Hoch also lays claim to $500 of the $500 now said to be in the possession of the New York police, as she gave up that amount when Hoch bade her adieu. Both women threatened to attach the money as soon as Hoch arrived in Chicago, but Mrs. Hendrich is said to have quietly slipped away to New York to attach the money there.

Keep Duluth Money In Duluth.
 The Zenith Telephone company has just paid the dividend on its preferred stock. This stock is held almost exclusively by Duluth parties and bears a dividend of 7 per cent per annum, payable semiannually.

The policy of the company is to convert its entire bonded indebtedness, as it matures, into preferred stock and to sell its stock only to Duluth investors, in order to make the concern in every particular a home industry.

The aim of the company is not only that the money in general shall be earned in Duluth and spent in Duluth, but that the interest on the investment shall be paid to Duluth parties and spent in Duluth.

DIED FROM ALCOHOLISM
Woodsman Found Dead In a Bowery Lodging House.
 Over-indulgence in alcoholic stimulants is given as the cause of the death of A. S. Nelson, a woodsman, who was found dead in his bed this morning in the lodging house situated at the corner of Sixth avenue west and Michigan street.

The man came to the house last evening and asked for a room. The clerk noticed at the time that he had apparently been drinking heavily. This morning he did not awake, and when the clerk went to the room he found him lying in bed.

Coroner McCuen was called and examined the body. He declared that death was due to alcoholism.

The remains were taken to Durkan & Crawford's morgue.

MAY GET MORE TIME.
Rumor That Koch Will Ask For Postponement.
 Mankato, Minn., Feb. 2.—It is practically certain that the trial of Dr. George R. Koch, accused of the murder of Dr. L. A. Gehlert, will not occur at the February term of court. A special term may be convened in March for this trial. It is understood that the attorneys for the defense will declare they are not prepared to take up the case next week.

MEET WITH OWNERS

Conference of Tugmen and Employes at Detroit, Mich.

No Difficulty Anticipated In Arriving at an Agreement.

James Walsh, president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association, will leave this evening for Detroit, Mich., where the organization of which he is the head will meet with the tug owners next Monday. He will be accompanied by James Bishop, as delegate from the Duluth association. Association delegates from all lake ports will be in attendance. They will gather in Detroit two or three days before the date set for the opening of the conference and decide among themselves upon the sort of an agreement which they will ask the owners to sign. This preliminary meeting will probably be held on Saturday.

"Until after this week's meeting I will be unable to say exactly what the terms of the agreement as drawn up by the delegates, will be," said President Walsh this morning, "but the indications are that there will be no radical change from those in existence last year. We anticipate no trouble whatever in reaching an amicable agreement with the owners. All appears to be harmony between them and the tugmen."

"I am of the opinion that the coming season will be a good one in all respects for members of our association. It looks now as if there would be plenty of work for all the boys. Taking all things into consideration, last year was a satisfactory one so far as the tugmen were concerned. The lake strike and certain other features during the summer interfered with business to a certain extent, but as a whole I believe our fellows had no just grounds for complaining. The large amount of dredge work along the lakes helped out a good deal."

"Our meeting with the owners may last anywhere from three to six days. The dredgemen and dredge owners will also hold a conference at Detroit next week and in addition there will be a meeting of the Tugmen and Lumbermen's union with the owners before the end of the week. So far, I can learn, no trouble is anticipated by any of the three organizations in deciding upon terms for the year."

NAMES OF THE NEW STEAMERS

Now Under Construction at the Great Lakes Shipyards.

Cleveland, Feb. 2.—Names of steamers are always interesting and especially are they interesting at this time when so many steamers are building for large corporation interests. It was announced last week that the new steamer building for Pickands, Mather & Co. at the Detroit yard of the American Ship Building Co. would be named after Samuel Mather but this was an error. This steamer will be named after Amasa Stearns. The great steamer building at Lorain for the Acme Steamship Co., which owns the Augustus E. Wolvin, will be named the James C. Wallace in honor of the president of the American Shipbuilding Co. The steamer building at the Detroit yard of the American Ship Building Co. will be named after Mr. Paul Stackhouse, president of the Columbia Steel Co. The steamer building at the Lorain yard for the Niagara Transit Co. of Buffalo will be named William A. Rogers in honor of the president of Rogers, Brown & Co. The big steamer building at Lorain for the Buffalo & Susquehanna Steamship Co. will be named Stephen M. Clement after the president of the Marine National bank of Buffalo. The four great steamers building for the steel corporation will be named E. H. Gray, William E. Corey, George W. Perkins and Henry C. Frick. Mr. Frick's two steamers building at Bay City will be named Scotia and Sylvia. The two Cleveland-Cincinnati steamers, which are being built at the Great Lakes Engineering works of Detroit will be named after William G. Mather and Peter White.

WILL ENFORCE CURFEW LAW

Children Will Not Be Allowed on Streets at Night.

The curfew law will be strictly enforced in Duluth in future, under orders issued yesterday by the police department by Mayor Cullum.

Under the order, the police officers are instructed to arrest and prosecute all children under fifteen years of age, who are found alone in the streets after 9 p. m., or attending public dances.

"It is unfortunate," the mayor's letter reads, "that parents cannot be impressed with the importance of this matter and assist the police by keeping their children at home. While you have made some improvement since I last mentioned it, I want to again urge upon you the necessity of instructing your men to do whatever they can to get these little people home earlier and prevent young girls from chattering around the streets."

TEAMSTER IS FINED

Pleads Guilty to Stealing Coal From His Wagon.

Roy Gruper, a teamster in the employ of the Finch Fuel company, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of petty larceny in the municipal court yesterday afternoon, and was fined $20 and costs, with the alternative of spending three days in jail.

Gruper was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Noble Simpson, the city scaler of weights and measures, who charged him with stealing 20 pounds of coal from his wagon he was driving. He was seen by Officer Wilcox to drive up in front of a sileon on the Bowery, unload a small quantity of coal, and drive on with the remainder of his load. When the wagon was brought to the city scales to be reweighed, it was found to be 20 pounds short, and Gruper was arrested.

After going on to say that the services of Congressman Hermann, as commissioner of the general land office, were necessary in having the applications expedited and having the patents issued, the indictment says that Frederick R. Kries contracted for the services of John H. Mitchell and A. H. Tanner, law partners, and agreed to pay them for services rendered in part by Mr. Mitchell's appearing before and persuading Binger Hermann, commissioner of the general land office, to make special, expedite and approve the applications and claims and recommend the issuance of patents on them as though they were lawful and bonafide applications and claims.

The indictment charges that in consideration of these services Kries gave Mitchell two checks for $500 each on June 14, 1902, for $1000 each; one check on Sept. 25, 1902, for $500; one check on Jan. 1, 1904, for $500; and one check on Oct. 10, 1904, for $200.

The indictment against State Senator Brownell involves the same district in which forged applications for surveys were made, upon which former Surveyor General Henry Meldrum was convicted last year.

How Would You Like to Have One Hundred New Customers?

Is your store in such shape that one HUNDRED NEW CUSTOMERS would "turn the tide" for you?

Are things with you only just "so-so"? Bills maturing too fast—sales a little too slow—too many people going past your doors—lack of "snap" and "go" and "hustle" around your counters?

Are Fixed Expenses coming to be a burden—while they should be merely an incident—in your business?

If you feel these symptoms—no matter whether you are a big merchant or a little one—YOU NEED A TONIC!

PUBLICITY, in just as large doses as you can stand, repeated EVERY DAY, will change the whole situation for you.

It is idle to suppose that

GREAT MAN WANTED

By President Roosevelt to Construct the Panama Canal.

Matters Not Going Well on Isthmus at Present.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Walter Wellman, in a Washington special to the Record-Herald, says: Is there a man in the United States whose services to the government would be worth a salary of $100,000 a year? If there is, he may get the job of handling the Panama canal.

President Roosevelt is looking for such a man or soon will be. There is little doubt congress will pass the bill abolishing the present Panama commission and turning absolute authority over to the president. Probably President Roosevelt is the only man who has had in the White House in many years who would be willing to undertake such a tremendous responsibility as the carrying out of the greatest engineering enterprise the world has ever known.

But Mr. Roosevelt is willing. He is built that way. He shrinks from nothing in which he may be of service to his country. He does not enter upon his task lightly or without full appreciation of the enormous difficulties that lie in his path. These he knows as well as any living man, perhaps better than any other. The president already has trouble enough with canal boards and canal engineers, and canal engineers to enable him to gain a most adequate idea of the proportions of the job congress apparently intends to put upon him.

It is no secret that matters are not going well on the isthmus at present and that President Roosevelt is dissatisfied with the management of the canal zone. It is as secret as the national legislature places full power in his hands to have a shaking up of the whole business. If matters are not going right, it is the president's purpose to make them right or know the reason why. He wants action; he wants progress; he wants to "make the dirt fly." Above all, he wants no scandal.

I dare say the country will be intensely interested in watching this young and energetic president tackle such a big job. It will be intensely interested in noting the methods and the man he calls to his aid. If there is a living man who possesses the American spirit of energy and achievement and of "doing things" in a big way with a firm hand, it is President Roosevelt.

Evidence of this is found in the fact that the president is already looking for the man who is worth $100,000 a year. Mr. Roosevelt believes that where there is a great man to be done there must be a great man to do it. He has the American instinct which leads him to put faith in the principle that if the right man can be found the methods and movement will come easily afterward.

It is a fact, too, true to the national mood, that the direction of canal construction is in the hands of a man, a man in men provided the one of the right stamp. Five thousand dollar men and five hundred men may be picked up every street corner. But this is a giant task which demands a giant man to do it. This is a job running into hundreds of millions of dollars, and the right man at $100,000 salary would be cheap. Or $200,000, or any other sum within reason that is necessary to get the right man. The man big enough for the big work. Into the hands of such a man, President Roosevelt would like to place the powers of a dictator. He would like to be able to tell him: "You are in charge of the whole enterprise. Go ahead and do your work. Call to your aid the best engineers, the ablest and most experienced contractors, all the technical counsel and staff organization you need. You are general in command of the canal army and you may do anything you like. I will stand by you. Your only responsibility is to this country for results achieved. Now, go ahead."

DEMAND FOR OYSTERS
Has Lately Decreased Fully Fifty Per Cent.

New Orleans, Feb. 3.—The oyster shippers along the Mississippi coast have almost reached the conclusion that the people of the interior towns have lost their appetites for the luscious bivalves. Reports from the coast say that the shipments of raw oysters to Northern points have fallen off fully fifty per cent during the past two weeks, and all the shippers are feeling the effects of the shortage of orders.

They are unable to find a logical explanation of the limited demand, for the weather has been exceedingly favorable for shipments, and the Baltimore raw shipments, according to reports from that market, are much smaller than in previous years, which is proof positive that the market is not slumped.

In consequence of the limited demand the shippers of raw oysters are compelled to sell a good portion of their daily catches to the canning factories.

The fact that the catch of oysters this year is larger than ever before does not explain the present situation for the raw shipments are much smaller than last year, and all of the increase is going to the canning factories.

RARE FIND
Of Watches and Jewelry In a Bolster.

Paris, Feb. 3.—A young chauffeur with lodgings in a hotel in the Rue Bocard, recently complained that his bed was uncomfortable. In vain they changed the mattresses and pillows. The young man started to investigate for himself.

Finally the bolster contained something hard, he ripped it open and found a wooden box. Inside he discovered 10 gold watches of the time of Louis XV and several other articles of valuable jewelry, with newspaper clippings bearing the date of 1797.

The police on investigation found that the jewelry and watches had probably been hidden in the bolster during the troubles following the French revolution, and had remained for more than a century without an owner.

It is probable that the chauffeur will be allowed to retain the treasures.

KAISER BARS
Trolley Wires From the Palace at Potsdam.

Berlin, Feb. 3.—The kaiser is "holding up" the building of a trolley line between the town and the station at Potsdam. His objection is purely sentimental. He forbids overhead trolley wires from passing the Potsdam palace, in which Frederick the Great, the kaiser's military hero, was born. His majesty thinks the wires will spoil the aesthetic view of the palace facade.

Also, there is in the middle of the road the stump of an ancient lind tree, under which Frederick the Great used to receive petitions from the townspeople. The kaiser objects to the stump being removed to make way for the trolley.

His majesty wants the road to be built out of sight of the palace, regardless of the convenience of the townspeople. He is ceasing the line, letting Potsdam pay the remainder. Potsdam is poor and objects. The kaiser insists. Potsdamers think it is too much to ask them to pay for the kaiser's sentimental interest in an ancient lind tree stump.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs. Chester Curry Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the blues, sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat when threatened with a choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the ovaries, and especially between the shoulders; bearing down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women testify to this fact.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's ills.

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Saratoga Street, Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—For eight years I was troubled with extreme nervousness and hysteria, brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor sleep nights; I was very irritable, nervous and despondent.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily improved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervousness has disappeared.

Mrs. Charles F. Brown, Vice-President of the Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and nervousness, until it seemed as though I should die. I was a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful results she derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I decided to try it. I did so, and at the end of three months I was a different woman.

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute.

Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Third street, left yesterday for a month's trip to the Pacific coast.

The date of the annual banquet given by the Young Women's Christian association has been set for Wednesday evening, Feb. 8, and the committee in charge of the affair have planned for a brilliant event. The banquet this year is the second annual affair and the board of directors have adopted this method of entertainment for presenting the work of the association before its many friends in the city who are deeply interested in its welfare.

The program of toasts which has been arranged is a delightful one and the speakers who have been secured will be a guarantee for an evening of delight. Rev. Alexander Milne will be the toastmaster and the following toasts will be responded to:

"Evolution of the Idea"—Charles Alden Smith.
"The Sacred Invasion of the Home"—E. W. Bohannon.
"Woman as a Citizen"—J. L. Washburn.

BRINGS WRINKLES, But Laughter Will Keep on Just the Same.

Every laugh means wrinkles. Every kind of a laugh means wrinkles. Some laughs mean more and worse wrinkles than others, says an exchange.

There is the smile that only shows the dimple and a crow's foot or so in the corners of the eyes. There isn't a woman on earth who is so well not be proud of that little nest of wrinkles. She won't mind the crow's foot, either, so very much.

A heartier laugh, which adds more creases to the face, is a good deal more than the smile, which lines are really not beautiful. This is the ordinary everyday laugh. It is a wholesome one. Most women, rather than sacrifice this laugh, would go into retirement and be pecked once every four years or trust to the gods.

It makes lines about the mouth and across the chin, besides spreading the mouth in such a way that it, in time, destroys its outline, giving it a flabby, weak appearance. It also cross-lines the forehead, as the eyebrows are usually raised.

Then there is the laugh that doubles the chin back against the throat. This makes lines in the neck and gives a double chin. A double chin is never pretty, and when the neck is creased and lined it has lost its youthful look.

No more décollete gowns for the woman whose neck is wrinkled. Here, quicker than in the face, woman shows her age.

Then there is the nose wrinkle. The woman who wrinkles up her nose and squints up her eyes, and then stretches her mouth from ear to ear. We get used to it.

M. Fedje, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Fedje, has returned to his home at Montevideo.

Miss Freda Lundberg, of St. Paul, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. O. Larson, at her home on West Third street.

Miss Effie Wark and Mrs. E. G. Barton, of Watertown, are visiting friends at Lester Park.

Mrs. C. H. Fletcher, of 318 West Second street, returned last evening from a three months' trip spent in Cuba and the winter resorts of Florida. She returned somewhat earlier than expected, owing to an accident to her sister, Mrs. E. H. Harding, of Seattle.

Mrs. Harding violently to the deck, severely injuring her back, so as to render walking practically impossible.

This necessitated the abandonment of the remainder of the trip and a return home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Barton, of East to it, and don't worry much about it, but it had one unexpected of laughs, and makes the most noticeable wrinkles.

Laughter is woman's dearest charm, but a grimace, while it may make her at the moment pleasant and interesting, is her beauty killer.

Position of Bureau.

Apparently the room was comfortable, but it had one unsavoury drawback, says an exchange.

There is only one place to keep the bureau, said the top-floor girl, "therefore, I can't live here. I must have a room large enough to permit hauling the bureau around. Here it will have to stand always so the light from the window will strike my left side while I dress. That would be detrimental to the small share of good looks now possessed by my right side. The left side of my face is already the best side, and if I were to lie down that with undue partiality the right side would become hopelessly plain."

"Sherlock Holmes put me onto the necessity of switching my looking glass around every little while, if you wish to preserve a uniformity of good looks. He pointed out that the side of the body that gets most attention is the side that gets most neglect. It is definitely going to improve in the same ratio that the neglected side deteriorates, and that the person dresses for months before a glass that stands always in the same position as regards the light is going to get really lopsided, so far as good looks are concerned."

The tall girl sighed reflectively. "I wonder," she said, "if that is the reason my hair is so thin on the right side. I think I'll go home and move my bureau."

HIS CHOICE

"It's quite too bad of Hilary to flirt so outrageously with Jeanne Dare right before my eyes," said Olivia indignantly as she stirred in another lump of sugar. "Don't you think so, Mr. Townsend?"

"It's rather honest of him, isn't it?" I asked. "How much less commendable his pastime would be if she didn't know of it?"

"Everybody is feeling so sorry for poor Mrs. Hilary," I said, glancing across the studio to where a brilliant woman was talking to a group of men, mostly artists, for it was a studio affair composed of Bohemians and a few smart people who enjoyed the atmosphere.

"There's method in it," said Olivia, who envied the atmosphere. "If she doesn't know it, she won't know it. If she does, she'll give him sympathy." ## DEMANDS IS GOOD Duluth Fuel Dealers Are Doing a Rushing Business.

An Unusually Large Amount of Wood Now On Hand.

The first five weeks of the year 1935 have been much colder than the ordinary, as was the case with the beginning of 1934, and the result has been a very material increase in the demand for coal and wood among local consumers. A long continuation of the cold spell will add enough to the profits of the fuel dealers to make up for any dull business they may have had during the fall and early winter, when the weather was comparatively mild. Few, if any, of the dealers experienced such dull periods, however, the business of all having been satisfactory during the present season. But just now there is an active demand for coal and wood, and the call is so great that some of the companies are behind three and four days with their orders. One concern has even found it necessary to advertise quite extensively for additional trucks in order that fuel may be delivered soon enough after the orders are received to satisfy the customers. Teams are scarce in Duluth just now, most of the extra horses having been sent to the woods for the winter, and it is no easy matter to get additional help in this respect.

It is said that there is an unusual amount of wood in the city at the present time. Nearly all of the companies have a big supply on hand. It appears that the season has been an excellent one for hauling through the northern section of the state and that an exceptionally large number of farmers and homesteaders have been engaged in cutting and hauling the commodity in consequence. It has been coming into Duluth from the range and other points in large quantities, until now the fuel dealers are well supplied with it.

Where in the past fuel has often been difficult for the companies to get a sufficient amount of birch and maple wood to meet all demands, this winter most of the wood received from the outside is of the birch and maple variety, with a good deal of tamarack. As a rule there is a good demand for birch wood during the winter months as this fuel, for general purposes, is regarded as being among the best of the woods, although it is more expensive than most of the other kinds. A cord of it, uncured, at present retails at $5.50. If sawed to store lengths the price is $5.50 and if it is both sawed and split $5.50 at retail.

Anthracite coal is now selling for $7.50 a ton, the prevailing price since November. A fair supply of the fuel is still on hand at the head of the lakes and a shortage before the opening of navigation is hardly expected.

ALL NONSENSE, ASSERTS HOCH Only Had Two Wives and Will Plead to Bigamy.

New York, Feb. 3.—Johann Hoch was arraigned in Detroit Municipal court yesterday, and remanded until Saturday, when requisition papers are expected to arrive from Chicago.

"This talk about my having twenty or thirty wives and murdering a few of them is all nonsense," he said, while being taken back to police headquarters. "Just let them go and pile it on me as much as they please. I'll make some of them very sorry when I get back to Chicago. It is a case of mistaken identity. There are more Hochs in the West than one."

According to the police, Hoch said he would plead guilty to bigamy upon his return to Chicago. He said he had married twice, the police charge, but that his second wife had believed his former wife had died and divorced from him. Concerning the charge of murder, Hoch said:

"I am not guilty of any of the crimes that are said to have occurred in this country long before I came here ten years ago. I will prove by documentary evidence that I was in Germany prior to the time these crimes were committed."

John Graff, of Kensington, Bangor on the Rhine, where Hoch was reared, was a mailer at police headquarters. He told the detectives that he was certain that he had known Hoch in Kensington, where he resided at Jacob Smith, about he left there about ten years ago, having lost a fortune.

Graff declares that if Hoch is the same as Jacob Smith, he was married in Germany.

BLOOD KILLS GERMS. Good Blood Made By Good Food.

If one can surely turn food into good blood it will combat any and every disease known and conquer completely more times than the disease will. Any physician will tell you that good rich blood and plenty of it is the best germicide known and surely and safely cures disease when medicines fail, so the effort of the doctor is to give food that digests and quickly makes blood.

No food ever discovered will do this as certainly as Grape-Nuts, which is predicated at the pure food factories where it is made.

One of the many illustrations is that of tuberculosis, which refuses to yield to medicine but does give way to good blood. A man from Philadelphia writes:

"I have been fighting tuberculosis for some years and with a weak stomach was losing ground slowly every year. I had tried all kinds of food and finally got so far along with the disease that my stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and lungs were affected. My stomach got to a point where it would retain no food but peptonized milk and I was down to 90 lbs. in weight. The doctors said about two years ago that I had but a month or two more to live. About that time I was put on Grape-Nuts and cream. It never showed the first sign of coming up, but after a few days I began to feel increased strength so I kept on with the result that the healthy blood has driven the disease from every organ of my body except the lungs and is slowly driving it from them. I have gained greatly in vitality and strength and added twenty-five lbs. to my weight. If I can keep on as I have been, it seems close now. I will get entirely well, thanks to old Dame Nature, whose work was made possible by food I could digest." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MISS McCUTCHEON TAKES THE STAND

Young Woman Charged With Forgery Appears For Herself.

Closely Questioned as to Matters Connected With Receipts.

The feature of today's proceedings in district court in the trial of Flossie M. McCutcheon for forgery, was the testimony of the defendant. There is a large "gallery" watching proceedings and listening expectantly, evidently hoping that some of the many testimony looked for in the Powers case will come out in advance. So far they have been disappointed, but when the defendant was on the stand this morning the crowd listened eagerly and hung on every word. Keen interest is taken in the case and the general impression seems to be in favor of the defendant among the spectators. It is not unlikely that the case will go to the jury tonight.

The state rested its case just after noon yesterday and the defense began its inquest. Victor Powers, an attorney of Hibbing, was put on the stand as the first witness for the defense. Mr. Powers was evidently not there by Mr. Hollister with the object in view of establishing that Mr. Silliman's recollection of matters both business and personal, is so bad that he is not responsible for many things he does. Mr. Powers related that in a number of instances, collection business now conducted by himself was formerly conducted by Mr. Silliman, but was taken away from the latter because of negligence or failure from some cause to attend to them properly.

Among the collections taken away were a number of accounts of McCutcheon, the defendant in this case. In connection with the transfer of collection business against Miss McCutcheon, the witness testified that Mr. Silliman and himself had visited the store of the defendant in Hibbing to check up receipts. It was then that Mr. Silliman discovered what he charges to be a forgery. He picked out receipts for March and April of last year, each for $30 and said that he had never signed such receipts and declared them to be forgeries. Mr. Powers then took the receipts with him and examined them, keeping the receipts until they were called for by Mr. Lamson, an attorney employed by the defendant. Mr. Hollister, Mr. Powers testified that he and others examined the alleged forgeries under a microscope and the best they could find was that if they were not true signatures they bore a striking resemblance to the genuine.

Mr. Lamson, of Mr. Hollister's office was called to testify as to the conversation he had with Mr. Silliman, the complaining witness about the middle of December. Concerning the Powers damage suit. During Mr. Hollister's cross-examination of Mr. Silliman, he practically charged the examination of the witness with having admitted to Mr. Lamson that he, Silliman, had been retained in the Powers case. Mr. Silliman, emphatically denied, going so far as to say that he had never said anything to Mr. Lamson from which the latter could draw that conclusion.

Are Patent Medicines Frauds?

Many Druggists Asked the Above Question.

S. F. Boyce Says—"NO."

When asked the above question, Mr. S. F. Boyce contended that nothing that was satisfactory results could be fraudulent. "Do you believe," says Mr. Boyce, "that I could afford to sell you something you don't want or that will not give you satisfaction? My business depends on pleased customers—in fact, any business does. Therefore, we would take an enormous risk if we did not fulfill every promise made our customers. I am very careful of what I guarantee, and when I do guarantee an article I must know it to be just what it contains and how it is made. I have in mind the Rexall line of remedies, particularly the Muc-Tone, for which I am selling large quantities at this time of year. Muc-Tone is one article that I can recommend over my counter, and know that ninety-eight per cent of its purchasers are going to be benefited and will return to my store pleased customers. Muc-Tone is a positive cure for internal catarrh or what is commonly called Catarrh. It is without a doubt the peer of all tonics for any one who is suffering from a run-down condition, can't work, feel constantly tired or suffering from the more plainly described symptoms of Catarrh—such as stopping of the nose, cold in the head or bad cough."

"It must be remembered that Catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It usually starts there, but leads more often to serious trouble, particularly the wasting of tissues, as in the case of little Miss Dillon, of Albany. Here is a letter from her father:—"

"My little girl had catarrh so badly that the disease had begun to eat into the cartilage of the nose. Snuffs and instruments failed to do more than give temporary relief. I read the advertisement for Muc-Tone, but I could not believe that anything taken in the stomach could cure the nose. I bought a box, however. I took advantage of your free trial offer and my girl began taking your remedy according to directions. Within a few days she was able to breathe through the nose, and to thank you for the benefit that first induced me to give it a trial. Muc-Tone has cured my daughter's catarrh completely. The discharge has stopped altogether. Her health is as sweet as can be. Again thanking you, Matt. Dillon, 24 North Swans St., Albany, N. Y."

Mr. Boyce is selling a large trial bottle of Muc-Tone for fifty cents on the famous Rexall guarantee of your money back if you are not satisfied. He promises that one bottle will put fresh on your bones and bring new vitality to your system.

Lamson said that he was sent to Hibbing by his employers about the middle of last December to get certain papers in the Powers damage suit and while there called upon Mr. Silliman, a friend of his. Mr. Lamson told Mr. Silliman what he was in Hibbing for and while he was telling this, the witness testified that Mr. Silliman stopped him and said: "I wish to tell you that I am interested on the other side of the case. I have received some business from Mr. Powers and now they have given me some evidence to look up."

On cross-examination the county attorney did not shake the witness' testimony. He asked the witness if Mr. Silliman had specified what business he had received from Mr. Powers, was it in connection with the damage suit started by Miss McCutcheon's mother against Mr. Powers. The witness replied that Mr. Silliman had not said that but the witness had come to the conclusion that the business was so connected because of what the conversation between the witness and Mr. Silliman subsequently developed. By Mr. McCutcheon:

"You talked over the Powers case, did you not?"

"Yes, sir, to some extent."

"Did you express your opinion of it, did he?"

"Yes, sir, I believe he did."

"You expressed your opinion of it, too, did you?"

"Oh, I presume I did."

"Did you say to Mr. Silliman, Mr. Lamson, that it was a bad case, that you were mightily discouraged?"

"Mr. Hollister objected to this line of cross-examination. He asserted in this connection that it was merely an effort to get testimony for the case to come off in United States court next week. The court sustained the objection, and Mr. McCutcheon, dropping that line of examination, asked the witness what was the subsequent conversation referred to which caused the inference in witness' mind that Mr. Silliman was retained by Powers. The witness replied that during the conversation they discussed the letters which Miss McCutcheon asserted were written by Mr. Powers, and Mr. Silliman produced a sample of Powers handwriting and talked of the authenticity of the letters held by Miss McCutcheon."

Following Mr. Lamson, John McCutcheon, brother of the defendant, was called. He is the man involved in the assignment of wages already frequently referred to in the testimony. Yesterday he testified that the assignment of wages, amounting to $30 a month, was given in form and that he received his wages of $26 a month from the Powers-Simpson company for that month, he was working, just the same, that no deduction was ever made from his wages through the assignment. He testified that the time he signed the assignment it was at Leon's camp, which belonged to the Powers-Simpson company, and that he was requested to sign the paper by Mr. Powers. The latter, testified the witness, called him out to the stable yard and got him to sign the paper there, after telling him that nothing would be deducted from his wages."

"He told me," said the witness, "that he just wanted it to look like I was paying the debt out of my wages, so the lawyers would not know any different, but he said that he was going to take care of it himself."

The witness testified that he quit work on March 17 last, and on March 21 his mother, with whom he was stopping in Hibbing, gave him $30 which she got out of a letter, and told him to take it to Mr. Silliman's office and pay it on account. He stated he did this and got a receipt for it. He identified one of the receipts in evidence as the one received at that time, and which also happens to be one of the receipts which Victor Powers testified had been declared forged by Mr. Silliman, but the March receipt is not the one charged as forgery in this indictment. The witness testified that about a week after payment had been made, Silliman went into the store and demanded the thirty-dollar payment. Miss McCutcheon declared to him that it had already been paid, and the witness, who was present at the time, said to Mr. Silliman:

"Mr. Silliman, I paid you that myself."

The witness testified that Silliman looked rather non-plussed and went out without saying a word. The witness testified that he made another payment on April 21, 1904, and identified the alleged forgery as the receipt given to Silliman's office and pay it on account. He stated he did this and got a receipt for it. "Mr. Silliman, I paid you that myself."

The witness testified that Silliman looked rather non-plussed and went out without saying a word. The witness testified that he made another payment on April 21, 1904, and identified the alleged forgery as the receipt given to Silliman's office and pay it on account. He stated he did this and got a receipt for it. He identified one of the receipts in evidence as the one received at that time, and which also happens to be one of the receipts which Victor Powers testified had been declared forged by Mr. Silliman, but the March receipt is not the one charged as forgery in this indictment. The witness testified that about a week after payment had been made, Silliman went into the store and demanded the thirty-dollar payment. Miss McCutcheon declared to him that it had already been paid, and the witness, who was present at the time, said to Mr. Silliman:

"Mr. Silliman, I paid you that myself."

GETS NEW CARS

Interstate Traction Company Will Put Two In Service.

Double Truckers to Be In Operation By May 1.

Arrangements have been completed by the Interstate Traction company to have the two new double truck cars which are to be used in the Park Point street railway service this coming season, delivered here in Duluth by April 1, next. The cars are being constructed this winter at a car works in St. Louis.

It is the intention of the Interstate Traction company, having unforeseen delays, to put the new cars in operation by May 1, taking the place of the small cars now in operation.

The improvements to be made on the Park Point service this year, besides the new cars, include a considerable amount of track extension, his will consist largely of a double tracking of the present one line system for a distance of from one to two miles. The company already has one piece of double track, about half a mile long near the meeting point of the up-bound and down-bound cars.

The new cars will not only carry more people, but they will be speedier than the old cars, and the changes which will be made in the running time schedule will necessitate more double track than the company now has in operation. The Park Point service has had no interruptions this winter, as was the case a year ago, when the snow drove the tracks in some places as high as the trolley wires.

Anticipating a heavy snowfall this winter the company made arrangements which are believed ample to keep the tracks cleared along the whole line, with snow five feet deep, but thus far there has been no call on the equipment to take care of that much snow.

The patronage of the Park Point line has been much heavier this winter than last, the January receipts of the line showing an increase of about 40 per cent over the receipts for the same month last year.

OBJECT OF LEAGUE

Will Be to Develop Young and Ambitious Players.

St. Cloud and Brainerd Will Send Representatives to Meeting.

The development of young players rather than the employment of old, experienced stars, will be the avowed object of the Northern league this year, and the clubs will sign ambitious young men who are anxious to break into fast company. The following contracts are from a letter sent out by one of the Northern league managers to an applicant for a position:

"Replying to your letter asking for a position in the Northern league for the season of 1905, I beg to advise that we have not yet completed all the details of the organization. However, we are reorganizing the league on a new basis, which will make it the strongest financial league in the country. I don't know whether you understand the object of this league. It is not for the purpose of employing experienced professional players, who have served their apprenticeship and who have been in the big league. On the contrary it is the object of this league to take young ambitious players, who are anxious to secure a reputation and make a reputation, develop them so that they will be able to graduate into the big league.

"The probabilities are that the salaries will range from $50 to $100 per month, according to the position and ability of the individual.

"In closing I will say that aside from the playing ability the department of players in this league will be one of the necessary qualifications. That is to say we do not propose to have a league composed of rowdies or booze fighters, and if you are not prepared to be subjected to the rules and discipline which will be enforced in this league, then we ask you to return the contract which we are sending you, blank."

The foregoing letter is one which will be adopted by the different managers as the style of a reply to applications for positions, and will in fact become the settled policy of the league.

Manager Van Praagh, of the local club, stated today that he had received word from St. Cloud that that city would be a member of the Northern league next year and Brainerd will also send a representative to the meeting which will be held in Fargo on February 15 to discuss the question of the circuit for 1905. These two cities will take the place of Crookston and Superior.

WISCONSIN GRAIN BILL

Madison, Wis., Feb. 3.—In the senate today, Mr. Hudson introduced a bill practically the same as the Superior grain bill of two years ago. It provides for the appointment of one inspector from Dakota, one from New York and one from Wisconsin to inspect all grain at the port of Superior, the idea being to give Illinois a Wisconsin rating, as at present, the measure was bitterly opposed two years ago and defeated.

WILL NOT MEET OUT. Peoria, Ill., Feb. 3.—According to a statement made by Samuel Woolner, Jr., vice president of the Woolner Distilling company, the independent distillers will not meet the cut in the price of high proof spirits announced by the trust yesterday. The latest quotation for high proof by the trust is $1.22 1/2. The independent price for high proof spirits is $1.23.

Children's Day in the Shoe "Sweep!"

Cold weather couldn't stop the selling of women's good shoes when the prices are reduced to away below the cost of making them. Sizes are more broken now, but still there are great bargains, when you find your size. It may be in a $3.00 shoe, a $2.50 shoe, a $2.00 shoe, or a $1.69 shoe. Wherever it is, you can't possibly miss a "snap" at 99c. Tomorrow the sale of broken lots of misses' and children's shoes at 75c—worth up to $2.00—adds another compelling reason for coming to this half-yearly "sweep" of good shoes—for Saturday is the only day that values like these Misses' and Children's Shoes will be had at 75c. Chances for saving from a half to three times the price are too rare to let slip. There are shoes to wear now and shoes for early spring—every one a bargain. Will you come?

REVERSES ITSELF

Supreme Court Changes Its Former Opinion In Duluth Case.

Traction Company Will Have to Pay Mrs. Cody $4500.

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state supreme court reversed itself in a per curiam decision handed down today in the case of Mrs. Anna Cody against the Duluth Street Railway company and the Duluth-Superior Traction company.

Mrs. Cody was severely injured while alighting from a car in Duluth, and in the district court of St. Louis county recovered a verdict for damages amounting to $4500. The defendants moved for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, which the trial judge, J. D. Englin, denied, and an appeal was taken to the supreme court. Justice Douglas, on Dec. 20 last, handed down an opinion sustaining the appeal, and granting a new trial. A motion for argument was made and granted, and on this the per curiam opinion today reverses Justice Douglas' finding.

A re-examination upon re-argument convinces the court that it misapprehended the effect of the instruction which was the basis of the reversal, the per curiam opinion states.

Justice Douglas held that the instruction in so charging, because this point had not been argued and was not discussed in the testimony. In reviewing this opinion, the supreme court holds that it did not properly apprehend all the circumstances in connection with the case and that the trial judge did not err in so charging. The original judgment is reaffirmed, and the company will have to pay the damages awarded to the plaintiff, who is a widow, 56 years of age.

A Ramsey district court jury verdict, before Judge Kelly, was reversed by the state supreme court today in the case of Mrs. Sarah Jane Griffin, administratrix of the estate of W. H. Griffin, killed in an accident in the yards of the Minneapolis Transfer Railway company, March 16, 1903. In the trial court the plaintiff obtained a verdict for $4500 and a motion for judgment by defendants, notwithstanding the verdict, was denied by Judge L. Kelly.

A Hennepin county district court verdict was sustained in a supreme court opinion by Justice Lewis, handed down today. The personal injury case of W. H. Merrill against the contracting firm of Pike & Cooke, was complicated by two appeals. The trial jury awarded the plaintiff a verdict for $2000, and defendant moved for judgment, which motion was denied, and an appeal was taken from it. The trial court did, however, grant a motion for a new trial, and from this the plaintiff appealed.

A decision by Judge Grier M. Orr, of the Ramsey county district court, was upheld by the supreme court in an opinion handed down today by Justice Lewis. The case involves a real estate deal in which part of the consideration for a sale of land consisted of a stock of merchandise. It was afterward claimed that the proper title to the land had not been delivered and a suit to recover the value of the merchandise delivered was successful.

The case is L. H. Proctor and W. H. Davis, respondents, vs. C. E. Stevens Land company, appellants.

STANDARD OIL

Declared to Own Governor of West Virginia.

Inquiry to Be Asked Into the Graft Charges.

Charlestown, W. Va., Feb. 3.—(L.V.)—The Standard Oil company, which, it is declared, proves that Governor Dawson, Attorney General May, Speaker Gresscup and other prominent members of the Dawson administration are hand-in-glove with the Standard Oil company and are shaping legislation at the present session to suit its wishes, was obtained today in a letter hearing the signature of C. D. Elliott, of Parkersburg, and addressed to John Worthington, of Pittsburgh, known here as a Standard Oil employee and as its legislative agent in this state.

Elliott, the alleged writer of the letter, is a power behind the Dawson throne, being one of the governor's confidential advisers. It is United States marshal for the northern district of West Virginia, and editor of Governor Dawson's newspaper organ, the Standard Oil man. Knowledge of its contents is possessed only by a few Democratic members of the legislature. These are so incensed that they declare an investigation will be demanded of the state senate Monday.

The letter deals with house bill No. 129, introduced by a Democratic member, Maxwell, of Harrison. The bill deals with the natural gas industry of the state in a way which it is declared would prove of immense benefit to the taxpayers.

It has been widely opposed by the gas magnates on the ground that it interferes with their business. The regulation of the natural gas industry was an issue in the state campaign last fall, both sides pledging legislation that would benefit the taxpayers. The letter to Worthington is, in part, as follows:

"House bill No. 129 came up this morning and was referred back to the judiciary committee. Since the house adjourned I have had a long talk with Speaker Gresscup and he feels confident that we can defeat the bill in the house, even if the senate passes it. There are fewer grafters in the senate than I ever knew before, and we seem to have them well in hand. The Wood county delegates have been untidy tractable and I think will remain so."

"I am not prepared to accept as certain the views taken by Gresscup, but it is sure we can win there unless the house could be convinced that the Standard wanted the bill defeated. The situation in the house is more favorable than could be expected, and we are in close touch with all those who can and will do things, except Maxwell."

"Now as to the senate, I am puzzled as to the true situation there. Bizzarri is trying to hold their original eleven together, and claims the five Democrats, which if true gives them a clear majority, not counting a few of our original fellows who are susceptible to a change of heart."

"We are doing all we can to break their ranks. Dawson feels confident that they will weaken every day and may join in the belief, yet we are short of floor managers in the senate at least."

"I am of the belief that when we come to a showdown we will have enough votes to defeat the bill. Yet I am by no means sure. Gresscup assures me that the bill will be held in the committee in the house indefinitely. Gresscup is thoroughly awake for personal reasons to himself, therefore he can be depended upon. I hardly think any one even suspects my interest in this matter, unless it be some one who, I find, is at times keeping an eye on me."

It has been charged that Governor Dawson entered into a deal with the Standard Oil company just prior to the November election. The truth or falsity of this charge, it is believed, will be clearly established by the proposed investigation.

MURDERS OF FIVE WOMEN

May Be Fastened Upon Frank Sherrie In Connecticut.

Rockville, Conn., Feb. 3.—(N.Y.)—Newly discovered evidence makes the state police confident that the murder of at least five women will be fastened upon Frank Sherrie, who is in the Tolland county jail awaiting trial on the charge of the murder of Mrs. Ludvika Kulak.

Sherrie, who is 30 years old, of medium height and rather stockily built, has a fresh complexion and a mild expression which is utterly at variance with the atrocities of which the police assert he is guilty.

Mrs. Kulak was murdered in her home on the afternoon of Jan. 5. When the crime was committed her children were at play in an adjoining room and her husband was at work in a mill, scarcely 300 feet distant. Suspicion fell immediately upon Sherrie.

In the interim between the arrest and Sherrie's arrest the unusual method adopted by the murderer attracted the attention of the police in other counties. The Hartford police recalled that Mrs. Parake, a supplier of that city was murdered in 1903 by the method of strangulation followed by the slaying of Mrs. Kulak—the striking of a blow upon the skull with a hammer and afterward twisting a towel about the neck sufficiently tight to cause strangulation, even though the blow was ineffective.

The hammer and towel combination caused the death of a woman in Pennsylvania and another in Massachusetts within two years. Outside of these four cases the police do not recall any murders in which similar means were used.

The cases have a surprising similarity. The victims were all women boarding-house keepers, and all were known to have considerable sums of money in the house.

Since Sherrie's arrest it has been learned that he was a boarder at the Shippler home at the time of the Hartford murder. When arrested he had in his possession jewelry which has since been identified as the property of boarders of Mrs. Kulak.

At the preliminary hearing the Commonwealth refused to outline its case, a circumstance which irritated Sherrie's counsel not a little.

The police say that they have authentic information that Sherrie declined to go to Russia last fall because he was wanted for murder in that country. Sherrie is fond of the society of women, and social affairs of the employees of the mills in which he has worked. It is passionately fond of good clothes.

PLANS HIS COFFIN

Prepares Symbolic Boat For the Voyage of His Soul.

The Poet and the Lawyer Tells the Story.

Greenburg, Pa., Feb. 3.—Dr. Frank Cowan, who in his three-score of years has been private secretary to President Andrew Johnson, physician, lawyer, poet, composer of music, lecturer and historian, is approaching his end at his country home near Greenburg.

"A scion by heredity of Scandinavia, a son of an interminable line of sea dogs and old salts and barnacles in the dead and buried past," as this remarkable man styles himself, he has asked that he be buried in accordance with the custom of the old Viking kings. His coffin has been constructed under his supervision, and his funeral arrangements made.

Prompted up in bed, Dr. Cowan has written a lengthy treatise—the last to go from his pen to the printer, he declares.

"My coffin," he writes, "is in reality a symbolic boat. It is modeled crudely after several of the 'clinker' built boats which have been dug from the peat bogs of Northwestern Europe. Asks to be modeled and symbolic, every part of it, from the mare's head in the prow to the red point on the stern, it is and its contents, two oars and a trident of peculiar shape, it is one thing to the eye and another to the understanding."

"In a word, it represents the fire ship of our old sea-roving forebears at the time the old and new religions were interlarded more or less. It symbolizes the fire boat in which the dead body of a Berserker or Viking was placed, by his friends and attendants, fired and then set adrift with an oblique tide in the then illimitable ocean of the West, with these all-involving ideas in the act—she the dead, simulating the setting or dying sun, in a blaze of glory, might sink into the womb of the ocean, the womb of the West, or the womb of the world, to be born again!"

"In my complex ancestry there must have been a pre-potent strain of the seafaring Northerner. Certainly I have a strong propensity for sea-roving. The Bible was one of the first of books to interest and excite my imagination in childhood, and the first of my literary successes, and the most remarkable was the fabled boat, written at the age of 22—a fiction which made Joseph Smith, the head of the Smithsonian institute, my first client when I hung out my shingle as a lawyer in Washington; that made Professor Worsaeke, the distinguished archeologist of Denmark, my helpful friend; that made M. Quatrefages, the celebrated savant of France, insert my fiction as fact in his great work. A half score of my best poems are on Scandinavian subjects."

I call my suburban farm Mount Odin Park. I call my residence the Valhalla, or the Hall of the Chosen. Accordingly, in the expression of my individuality, or a great part of it, for many years and somewhat in exaltation and somewhat in the revelation of my status in religion, but more especially in the expression of a sea man's fancy, I have had the symbolic boat constructed for my symbolic sailing over the mountainous billows of the great sea of Apolline and symbolic sinking in a blaze of glory in the womb of the West."

"An effigy may be substituted for my emaciated carcass in the symbolic boat. No matter. It is the idea involved, and not the subject. And at-terward, as my nearest of kin may see fit, they may pigeonhole my moldering remains in a gold-plated casket in a marble mausoleum or ship them to the Hawaiian islands and have them cremated in the hell of Holoanaumau."

Dr. Cowan is a son of the late Senator Edgar Cowan, and was born in Greensburg on Dec. 11, 1841. He is widely known as an author, his most notable productions being "Rime and Relique," "Reveries of a Rambler," "An American Story Book," "Konora," a novel, "Curious Facts in the History of Insects," "Southwestern Pennsylvania in Song and Story." Dr. Cowan has not published any of his writings in recent years. Before he became ill he had been working at a voluminous dictionary of the proverbs and proverbial phrases of the English language. He has also written, in recent years, three novels, one of which he laughingly remarked the other day was the great American novel.

SHE DANCED WITH DEATH

For Hours Until Effect of Morphine Was Overcome.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 3.—After having taken a large dose of morphine, Miss Maggie Head, living at 292 North Tenth street, danced with death for six hours in a ballroom to shake off the effects of the deadly drug. She took the poison with suicidal intent, and wanted to live. She knew that constant exercise would overcome the influence of morphine. She went to the ball and danced incessantly through waltzes, square dances, two-steps and schottisches.

The most eager dancer on the floor, she attracted the attention of youths, and they were so overcome by the mad whirl of the room to her waist for fight for life, and the lads who clasped her about the waist as they waited did not know that her smile instead of being for them was a smile of triumph over death.

At 3 o'clock the dance was over and she returned to her room. So weary was she from her efforts that temptation overcame her and she lay down, thinking she would manage to keep awake. But soon the drowsiness began to creep on and she knew that her battle was not yet over. She tried to rise to her feet, but it was too late. The powerful poison had her in its deadly thrall, and she could not move. Her limbs seemed weighted with lead. But she could speak, and, raising her voice, she called loudly for help. Inmates of the house rushed to her room. She told them she was suffering from morphine poisoning and they hastily sent her to the city hospital, where she arrived at 4:20 a. m. At the hospital two attendants supported her on either side and walked to and fro in the corridors until 6 o'clock. The battle was won then and she was allowed to rest.

BACK AGAIN
Are Father, Second Wife and His Son.

Plymouth, Ohio, Feb. 3.—The comedy in the village of Plymouth, in which the actors were George Bodley, aged 35; his wife, aged 26; and Bodley's 17-year-old son by a former wife, has just ended by the return of their names of all the participants. The father, son and the latter's stepmother are again living happily under one roof. A week before Christmas the young man packed his belongings and persuaded his stepmother to leave home with him. They went to Rochester, N. Y., and lived there until last week, when Bodley succeeded in finding them. After a few preliminaries the husband and wife kissed and made up. The three have determined to start life anew.

A PECULIAR KANSAS CASE

Two Men Claim Horse and Each Has Many Witnesses.

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 3.—After being under suspicion of horse theft for nearly four months, L. Smullen, one of the most reputable citizens of Platte county, Mo., has been discharged in the district court at Leavenworth.

The case was most peculiar, involving the reputations of no less than forty of the best-known citizens of the two counties. It demonstrated that the equine family resemblance is a poor thing to bank on.

About fifteen months ago a horse was stolen from the barn of Joseph Behee, of Leavenworth. Three months ago L. Smullen drove into Leavenworth and offered a horse for sale at a stock market. Several persons saw the animal and decided that it was the one stolen. Behee was called and identified the horse. Smullen was arrested.

Smullen brought to Leavenworth from Atchinson, Kan., the man who had sold him the animal three years before, three men who had seen him make the purchase and several neighbors who swore he had owned the horse for three years.

Behee, on the other hand, had no less than twenty witnesses, who swore positively that the horse was the one he had owned. They described every blemish upon the horse to a nicety. The judge of the city court was non-plussed. He ordered the horse brought to the courthouse and there he himself examined it. All of the marks described by witnesses both for Behee and the defendant were there.

Suddenly Behee recalled that the horse he owned would not walk into a pool of water. Nearby was such a pool, and before no less than forty persons the animal was led to the pool. The horse drew back and would not even be shoved into it.

The judge bound Smullen over to the district court for trial on the charge of grand larceny, holding that there was sufficient evidence to show that the animal was Behee's. In the meantime the county attorney investigated the case thoroughly. The more he investigated the deeper became the mystery. Smullen's witnesses could not be doubted; neither could Behee's. The former was ready to bring fifty witnesses to substantiate his story, but so was the latter. At last the county attorney dismissed the case against Smullen, and Behee has the horse, having replevined it.

Now Smullen is talking of bringing a suit for damages.

MYSTIFIED

By Letter Saying His Wife Was Murdered.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 3.—Lewis H. Therrien wrote to the postmaster of Charlevoix, Mich., the former home of his wife, who disappeared from here recently. Yesterday he heard from her in a letter that Mrs. Therrien had been murdered some weeks ago and the remains buried there. Therrien was advised not to bother further concerning his wife, and was incidentally blamed for marrying her when he had five children by a former wife. He is completely mystified over the matter and will make an investigation. Mrs. Therrien was 24 years old.

DRUG STORE ATTACKED

With Ax By Woman Whose Son Was Drinking.

Chillicothe, Mo., Feb. 3.—The town of Braymer has a local "Carrie Nation" who is causing all sorts of trouble over the alleged mistreatment of her son who has been drinking. She is Mrs. E. H. Elfe.

Recently the woman battered down the doors of a local drug store with an ax; on the afternoon following, unheeding the presence of a large crowd, she again assaulted the place, bursting the door open.

As a result the proprietor agreed to close his place of business if a majority of the citizens so desired. Petitions are now being circulated to close the place.

DOINGS IN MICHIGAN

Wealthy Western Capitalist Suddenly Disappears at the Soo.

SAINT STE. MARIE—Joseph Raclet, a wealthy California capitalist, has suddenly disappeared with a large amount of money on his person. He came here a few days ago, lured by real estate, and went to see a farmer near Rosedale to close another deal. Friends at the boarding house where he stopped say he had $10,000 in his person when he left. The police have been notified that he never arrived at his destination nor has been heard of since. Raclet is 38, but very energetic. He seemed always to have money, and took options on many pieces of real estate in this vicinity. It is believed by many that he was held up on the road and robbed and his body then buried in the snow. No one here knows from what town he came or anything of his history. Thousands of nets used by fishermen on Waukegan bay have been seized by Deputy Game Warden Dixon and Penny. All are understood to be, and a wholesale business in small whitefish, lake trout and herring has been carried on. The capture is important and several arrests may follow.

Marquette—Marshall Maney and Officer Schmitt have arrived here with Jack Dunaway in custody, they having gone to the Soo to get him. Dunaway was arrested in the Lock City early this week. He is wanted here to answer to a charge of complicity in the robbery of Elias Johnson, who was held up and relieved of $10 the night of Dec. 23, a crime for which Victor Stuck is now held in the county jail, awaiting trial in circuit court. Dunaway ducked Marquette the middle of last week, only to fall into the hands of the Soo officers.

William Rosenkrantz, a Mackinac county man, sentenced to Marquette prison for four years for manslaughter, is about to apply for a parole. He was found guilty of having set a trap gun in the woods north of Brevoort lake, which gun killed a man named Cook, a landowner in the employ of the Wisconsin Chair company. It is argued in behalf of Rosenkrantz that he had a wife and family, who have to struggle for their own living. The husband at the time of his conviction possessed no resources, being a poor wood-chopper.

Newberry—"Like" Gilbert is in the county jail at Newberry as a result of a fight during which he beat John Wilke over the head with a sleigh stake. Wilke's scalp was laid open and he was knocked senseless. Both Gilbert and Wilke were employed at J. H. Hentzer's camp, the former as teamster and the latter as dumping ground foreman. The row started over where to unload a sleigh of poles and after pounding each other awhile Gilbert seized the sleigh stake with the above result. Gilbert was bound over to the next term of circuit court.

The trustees of the Upper Peninsula Hospital for the insane at Newberry have asked the legislature for an appropriation of approximately $10,000 for improvements. Of this amount $1,000 is asked for an administration building, an item which the state board of corrections and charities has approved. This is the first time the board of central has been able to convince the state board of the necessity of an administration building and it has good grounds for hoping that the legislature will grant the amount asked. At present one of the cottages is being used for administration purposes. Two new cottages at an estimated cost of $25,000, also are asked.

Menominee—John Heron, of Menominee, is declared to be the most unlikable man on the upper peninsula. Inside a year's time he has been unmercifully the result of a smallpox scare, had a case of typhoid fever, lost a finger in a mill, broke a leg, lost four children by death and was nearly scalded in a vat of boiling water. The series of accidents culminated in the scalding, which occurred at the plant of the Peninsula Box and Lumber company. When Heron fell into a vat used for removing the lac from logs and his lower limbs were literally cooked before he could be helped out. His fellow workmen have sent him a check for $50. He has a large family and is destitute.

RECOGNIZE THEM

Claimed Carriers Will Not Object to Pilots Organizing.

President Keefe, of Longshoremen's Union, Explains Situation.

President Daniel J. Keefe of the Longshoremen's union is confident that the new National Lake Pilots' association will be recognized by the Lake Carriers' association, despite the fact that certain members of the latter organization have asserted that no association of pilots would ever again be recognized on the lakes. In a communication from Detroit to Capt. Marth Cole, vice president of the local Tugmen's union, President Keefe, writing relative to the matter, says:

"The National Lake Pilots' association has affiliated with the I. L. M. & T. A. (Longshoremen). There is no doubt as to their being recognized by the vessel owners, as the lake carriers, lumber carriers and individual vessel owners have said repeatedly that if the pilots were a part of the I. L. M. & T. A. they would have no objections to treating with them, but on the contrary, should rather welcome it, realizing, as they do, that all contracts and agreements approved by the I. L. M. & T. A. are carried out in both letter and spirit, and require no further guarantee on our part, as our policy is well understood.

"We have not taken up the matter of a conference for the pilots with the Lake Carriers' association, or with the lumber carriers, as it would be impossible for us to agree on a date, but the proposition will be considered in the very near future.

"We have completed a three-years' agreement for our Lake Superior lumber loading locals for a referendum vote. Up to the present time we have heard from 30 per cent of them, favoring a three-years' agreement. Within a few days we should hear from the remaining 70 per cent.

"We also have received a request from Mr. Teare, Cleveland, chairman of the unloading committee of the Lumber Carriers' association, asking for a meeting with our lumber loading locals on Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie, the conference to be held at Detroit, Feb. 8. This we were obliged to defer indefinitely on account of the conference to be held in Detroit, Monday, Feb. 6, between the Great Lakes Towing company and the licensed officers, firemen and firemen, who are a part of our association, and the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredge-men, Firemen, Scowmen, etc., and the I. L. M. & T. A. Each evening will consist of at least a week's time.

"On Monday, Feb. 13, the I. L. P. A. firemen and firemen will meet with the Dredge Owners' Protective association, that is if the other conferences have arrived at an understanding. On this account it would be impossible at the present time for us to agree on any set date for any other conference, at least.

"We also have the elevator employees, the grain cooperators, marine firemen, oilers and water tenders, and coal handlers, hoistmen and engineers, as well as several other branches, who meet annually with their employers some time in the month of January, therefore it would be impossible for us to agree on dates for the future meeting, but we will, in due time, take the matter up with the president of the Lake Carriers' association and the president of the Lumber Carriers' association.

West Duluth

As election day draws near interest in political matters in West Duluth appears to be growing. The aldermanic fight in the Seventh and Eighth wards is giving rise to considerable speculation as to the outcome. It is generally admitted that the fight will probably be a close one in both instances, and, knowing this to be true, the candidates of both parties are energetically working in their own behalf.

W. E. Getchell, Democratic candidate in the Eighth ward, is putting in all his spare time among the voters, and A. Heron, running for alderman on the Republican ticket, is no less active in his efforts to be elected next Tuesday. Much the same condition of affairs exists in the Seventh ward, where M. J. Filiatrault, a Democrat, is running in opposition to L. A. Barnes, present alderman, and a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket. Mr. Barnes has held the office several years, and with his large following is a favorite. He is a very hard proposition to go up against. Mr. Filiatrault, however, is also a man of great popularity in the ward, and also counts on a large following of friends. Although the ward is ordinarily Republican, he entertains strong hopes of success. Mr. Barnes recognizes in him a worthy opponent and is not for a moment relaxing his efforts to clinch the election.

SIX LARGE BUILDINGS IN EAST ST. LOUIS ARE BURNED

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 3.—Six of the largest office and store buildings were destroyed or badly damaged by fire today and several persons were injured. The property loss is estimated at $265,000, partially covered by insurance.

Street car traffic was completely tied up and the telephone service in the district was badly crippled. All the available fire fighting apparatus in the city was called out and finally a call for assistance was sent to St. Louis. The intense cold greatly retarded the effective fighting of the flames.

The fire is said to have started in the Josephine building, which was destroyed. The Josephine building was used for lodge headquarters, offices and retail stores and was erected at a cost of $100,000.

Other buildings burned and losses are: Lucy building, occupied by retail establishments and flats, $45,000; Walsh building, $70,000; Ziegler building, $40,000.

The buildings destroyed were among the newest and most costly in the city. A number of families who occupied flats in the upper floors of the Lucy building were driven out into the frigid weather.

YOUNG MAN THINKS HE MUST HAVE BEEN BORN A BANDIT

St. Louis, Feb. 3.—Andrew Kurrowski, for whose arrest a reward of $500 was offered some time ago in Chicago, is in custody here and has made a confession that he is a "pal" of Marks and Van Dine, the Chicago car burn bandits who were hanged last year.

"I came to St. Louis," he said, "to plunder and rob. I would have started out Wednesday night, but I was too sleepy. I have shot fifteen men, some fatally. I have been in the reformatories at Pontiac, Ill., twice, once for robbery and assault to kill and once for a street car hold up in Chicago.

"Marks and Van Dine were pals of mine. I knew them for three years. I have been a bandit ever since I was 10 years old. I must have been born one. When I came to St. Louis, Wednesday morning from Memphis, where I kept the police in hot water for three months, I planted $1000 worth of booty."

Kurrowski is 25 years old. The police learned that Kurrowski was coming to St. Louis from the Chicago factory at Pontiac, who evidently intercepted a letter written by Kurrowski while he was in Memphis.

NAVY YARD SENTRY KILLS ROBBER

New York, Feb. 3.—James Sebery, one of four men caught in the act of robbing the Brooklyn navy yard today, was shot and instantly killed by Private Laurence T. Milton, a sentry. Sebery's three companions escaped. Milton came upon the four men early today while they were slinking along the yard carrying a large piece of copper pipe. When he ordered them to halt they dropped the pipe and ran. One of four shots fired by the sentry brought Sebery down.

ment of county attorneys for contingent expenses.

A stir was caused when County Attorney Charles Elmqvist of Rush City proposed a resolution favoring abolition of the grand jury. The resolution was vigorously opposed by many of the attorneys and a substitute motion was adopted that the association take no formal action on the question.

The association also discussed the enactment of a law giving to the state the last argument before the jury in criminal cases, instead of to the defense. The attorneys were of the opinion that the state has all the financial backing necessary to prosecute and that the defendant should have the advantage of the last speech.

TEN MILLIONS EMBEZZLED

In United States During 1904, According to Statistics.

New York, Feb. 3.—According to statistics gathered by an insurance company here, the sum of $10,000,000 was embezzled in the United States in 1904. These figures are based on cases followed by confession or on conviction or by the disappearance of the guilty one.

New York state headed the list with embezzlements amounting to $1,831,585. California was next with a total of $1,665,825. Then came Pennsylvania with the sum of $987,223. Ohio followed with $820,203.

The amount embezzled per capita was greater in California, where the rate was $1.28 per thousand of population. The pro rata in this state was only one-half of 1 per cent per thousand. The best state was Wisconsin, where the stealing averaged only one one-hundredths of 1 per cent.

TWENTY-SEVEN CHILDREN.

Father and Mother to Meet the President.

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Roosevelt will be introduced to the father and mother of twenty-seven children next week, and it is expected he will produce an autograph photograph. George Dunville, the father of the twenty-seven, is but 43 years old, and his wife 28. They live in Yankton, S. D. They expect to be here on a visit during the coming week, and the senators and representatives will take them to the White House. The children are nine sets of triplets. ## ELECTION BETS

One Wager of $5 Per Candidate Is Made.

Another Politician Backs the Three "Edwards" to Win.

Five dollars a ward on the straight Democratic ticket was the wager that was made this morning by a prominent Democratic politician, the taker being a well-known Republican. By the conditions of the wager the First ward was excluded, but in each of the seven other wards the Democrat bet that the Democratic candidate would be elected and the Republican backed the representatives of his party.

"I figure that I will win either $15 or $25," said the Democrat.
"I figure that I will win either $5 or $15," said the Republican.
The wager about expresses the situation that exists at the present time in the municipal politics. There is not a ward in the city, outside of the First, that does not offer an opportunity for a wager on the result.

The Democrat believed that the election would result in either five Democrats and two Republicans or six Democrats and one Republican being chosen. The Republican figures on five Republicans and two Democrats or four Republicans and three Democrats. Another man offered to bet that the three "Eds" would be elected—Edward Ribbeck, Edward Burg and Edward Totman. He was snapped up so quickly that it fairly took his breath away.

"I figure that I have about three chances to one to win that bet," said the taker. "There is about an even chance for each one of the three men being beaten, and a strong probability that at least one of them will be beaten."

Even money rules on the Third ward fight, where Emil Tossman and E. P. Burg are having one of the prettiest fights seen in ward politics in some time.

Some bets at even money have also been made on the Fourth ward fight, where Porter J. Neff and A. J. Lyle are the opposing candidates. In the second, fifth and eighth wards the Democrats are confident, but few bets have been made.

Whatever way the election goes there will be some new faces in the council. The second ward, fourth ward and eighth ward will send new representatives, whoever is elected. Watson S. Moore is the only old alderman certain of re-election.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES HURLING PASSING TRAIN MANY FEET IN THE AIR

Peculiar Accident Occurs on the New York Central Near Utica.

The Engineer and Fireman of Western Express Were Killed.

None of Passengers on Either of the Trains Was Fatally Hurt.

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Two trainmen lost their lives and a score or more of passengers were injured in a wreck on the New York Central road at Whitesboro, three miles west of here, at an early hour today. None of the injured were dangerously hurt, their wounds being mainly cuts and bruises. The dead are:

JOHN ALLEN, engineer.

JOHN BRENNAN, fireman of the locomotive on the Western express.

As this train was passing the Buffalo special, eastbound, the boiler of the locomotive of the westbound train, exploded. The force of the explosion and the upheaval of the engine threw the entire train of thirteen cars, composing the "special" from the north, into the westbound train did not leave the track, but the cars stopped with a suddenness and a shock which threw the occupants of the berths backward with great force, in some cases tossing them out onto the floor. An hour or more was devoted to extricating passengers from the interior of the eastbound sleeping cars, but while many were found to be cut and bruised, no one was dead. Among the injured was State Supreme Court Justice Warren
E. Hoeker of Fredonia. He was severely bruised. Not until assistance came was the engine able to leave the car, which was resting on its right side, with its rear end splintered. From the fact that Fireman Brennan was instantly killed, and that Engineer Allen lived but a few minutes, the cause of the explosion probably will never be known. Both men lived at Albany.

The strange feature of the accident, as it appeared to an onlooker, was that the boiler of the westbound engine was resting midway between the rails of the eastbound track, at a point where the Eastern train had passed. This suggested the theory to trainmen that the better had struck the second car of the eastbound train at it rushed by at the rate of fifty miles an hour, the blow causing all the following cars to be hurled from the track.

MERELY A VARIATION Of Previous Reports of Euro-

London, Feb. 4.—The foreign office declares there is no foundation for the report that conferences have taken place at Berlin between Chancellor von Bismarck and the British ambassador, Sir Frank Lascelles, with the object of bringing about peace between Russia and Japan.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—The London report that Emperor William considers this an opportune moment for Great Britain and Germany to join in an effort for peace in the far East is treated by the foreign office here as being merely a variation of an old fantasy quite without foundation.

CHICAGO FACES AN EGG FAMINE

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Chicago faces one of the worst egg famines in its history.
According to South Water street com-

The Practice of Aiding Catholic Indian Schools
Continued.

Says Indians Have Moral Right to Have Moneys Used.

Washington, Feb. 4.—President
Roosevelt has sent a letter to Secretary Hitchcock on the matter of authority for granting contracts for the education of the Indians in denominational schools.

The president says that inasmuch as the legal authority exists to grant the request of the Indians, unquestionably they are entitled by moral right to have their moneys used to educate the children at the schools they choose.

DRAWBACKS ON WHEAT

Imported For Flour Explained In Circular From Secretary Shaw.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Secretary Shaw has announced that manufacturers of flour from imported wheat, mixed with domestic wheat, will be allowed drawback on the following conditions: "A complete and detailed record must be kept showing the quantity of wheat imported, the date of manufacture and the amounts of imported and domestic wheat used in the manufacture of each grade and brand of flour, and the amount of flour of each grade and brand produced, and the quantity of the several by-products, including screenings and waste, and the value of each and every kind of wheat so used, and the value of each and every grade or brand of flour, and of each and every by-product, including screenings and waste. The packages containing the flour so made shall be so marked as to render identification easy and certain, to the end that the treasury officers at the port of exportation may determine by examination the essential facts above stated. The manufacturing record shall be at all times open to the inspection of an authorized special agent of the treasury department, and shall be so kept that the government abstract may be readily identified."

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH AT ELY

Ely, Minn., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The residence of Math Pavlesick was burned this morning and two children were burned to death. The mother was seriously burned trying to rescue the children. The origin of the fire is not known. The residence is a total loss.

MINERS WANT GUARANTEE From Government Before Returning to the Mines.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—Herr Hue, a Socialist member of the reichstag, speaking to a miners' assemblage at Recklinghausen, Westphalia, said the strike was as good as won, but that the workmen could not act on the expressed desire of the government that they return to work immediately in view of the expectation that a law regulating work in the mines, in accordance with the workers' demand, will be adopted.

SMITH IS BETTER.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The condition of Representative Samuel W. Smith, of Michigan, who is ill with pneumonia, is better today.

HIS POLICY DECLARED.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4.—At a recepister of justice, M. Manukhin, declared his policy was to follow the emperor's decree of Dec. 25.

GENERAL KUROPATKIN MAY BE RELIEVED OF COMMAND OF RUSSIANS

KUROPATKIN TOO CAUTIOUS TO WIN

Is a Thoroughly Honorable and Personally Brave Man.

Will Not Take Risks and Therefore Loses Battles.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—Col. Gaedke, for the first time since his return from the far East, where he was war correspondent for the Tageblatt, writes his opinion of Gen. Kuropatkin.

"Although a thorough and through honorable man, benevolent, personally brave, admirable in the quiet of his workroom, simple in his tastes, and an excellent administrator, Kuropatkin lacks," Col. Gaedke says, "that glance that penetrates the darkness of a situation, quick decision, immediate correlation of means, and before all the unsympathetic will that alone triumphs over the bodies and souls of his men in taking their last and best to compass victory. Such men as Kuropatkin are not few in the Russian army, and their qualities attach the soldier to his flag, but they do not win victories. Kuropatkin, at Liao Yang, burdened his hand with placing individual regiments, battalions and batteries, and lost thereby the conception of the whole."

UNUSUAL WEATHER
ALL OVER COUNTRY

Cloudbursts In the West With Bitter Cold In Center and East.

San Francisco, Feb. 4.—Last night's storm assumed the proportions of a cloudburst in the mountain districts of this vicinity, doing great damage, especially to the Southern Pacific railroad in the vicinity of El Cacho, in the San Timoteo canyon and above Beaumont and Banning. It is said that several miles of track in that section are gone. This is the same piece of track that has been washed out twice in the past few months.

Overland trains on the Southern Pacific are unable to proceed.

The Redlands branch of the Southern Pacific has been washed out at Redlands Junction, so that no trains have reached that city.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The reports to the weather bureau show some very unusual meteorological conditions throughout the country, particularly the development of an abnormal cold spell in the north central states, developing from a general storm, and this extreme cold has spread throughout most of the United States during the past four days. A great contrast also has developed between the two sides of Rocky mountains. West of that range rains have developed to a remarkable degree. The semi-arid regions of Arizona and Southern California have been visited with almost as much rain in the last sixty hours as they ordinarily receive in a year. The coldest weather has prevailed in the central and eastern districts and in

That There Has Been Much Friction Is Now Evident.

Gen. Linevitch May Succeed Him as Head of the Army.

War Office at St. Petersburg Cannot Deny the Report.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4, 5 p. m.— Runners of Gen. Kuropatkin handled over his command to Gen. Linevitch have been current here since the announcement that Gen. Gripenberg had been relieved of his command of the second army. The Associated Press is unable to obtain any confirmation of the reports. The war office declares that they are improbable, but is unable to deny them. A distinguished general told the Associated Press that evidently there had been friction between Kuropatkin and Gripenberg, and added: "I have heard a great deal of talk about Kuropatkin's admission to be relieved, but nothing positive can be said at present."

There are two conflicting versions of the incident. According to one of them, Gen. Gripenberg complained to the emperor that Kuropatkin had refused to support his flanking movement in view of which Gripenberg asked to be relieved. The emperor, it is added, then telegraphed to Kuropatkin asking for an explanation. In reply to which Kuropatkin wired that his health was shattered and requested permission to turn over his command to Gen. Line-vitch. According to the second and more commonly credited version of the affair, Kuropatkin complained to the emperor that Kuropatkin had refused to support his flanking movement in view of which Gripenberg asked to be relieved. The emperor, it is added,
then telegraphed to Kuropatkin asking for an explanation. In reply to which Kuropatkin wired that his health
was shattered and requested permission to turn over his command to Gen. Line-vitch. According to the second and

RUSSIAN BOMBARDMENT Still Continues on the Japanese Right Wing.

Tokio, Feb. 4.—Manchurian headquarters telegraphing under date of Feb.
2, says that on Tuesday (Feb. 2) the enemy's artillery bombarded our secondary points on our right wing. Otherwise the situation is unchanged. In the direction of our center, at 12:30 Friday morning (Feb. 3) one company of the enemy's infantry attacked our outposts from the Mukden road, and later another section was attacked in the neighborhood of Wanchiaiyuan. Both attacks were repulsed.

In another direction our left the enemy has been attacking in the neighborhood of Liutakou since the morning of Feb. 2. Their force which consisted of the First and Fifth rifle brigades, was driven back toward Changtan. The enemy's losses are estimated at 700.

The Russian dead already interred after the battle of Heikoutai in the neighborhood of Sumpao alone, number

STOESSSEL INDIGNANT At Reports That Port Arthur Surrendered Prematurely.

Colombo, Ceylon, Feb. 4.—Gen. Stoess-sel, the former commander of Port Arthur and the Russian officers and others accompanying him, arrived here today from Japan by way of Shanghai, on board the French liner Australien.

In an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press, Gen. Stoess-sel denied the statements published to the effect that Port Arthur was surrendered prematurely. He was especially indignant at the statements made by a London newspaper, Jan. 25, in a dispatch from Peking, that there were at the time of the surrender 25,000 able bodied men in Port Arthur capable of making a sortie, hundreds of officers, all well furnished, plenty of ammunition, the largest magazine being untouched and full to the roof, and that there was an ample supply of food for three months, even if no fresh supplies were received. The general characterized these statements as unjustified and not supported by facts.

Col. Reiss, who was among the negotiators of the surrender of the fortress, said:

"The garrison could not have held out a moment longer. It would have been murdered. Only fifteen roubles remained in the treasury, the rest of the 1,500,000 at the commencement of the siege. Four hundred men were dying daily at the hospitals, principally from wounds and scurvy. Gen. Kongratko was the hero of the siege."

Col. Reiss further declared that the Japanese were a miserable soldiery, but poor in the use of the bayonet, compared with the Russians and French.

Gen. Stoesssel and others of his party will tranship at Port Said for Odessa.

IN STATE OF PANIC.

Warsaw, Feb. 4.—Reports from Czechoslovakia, Austrian Poland, say that city is in a state of panic. The inhabitants are barricading their doors and windows in consequence of the attitude of the strikers.

THE MAN OF MURDER SUSPECT IS A BLANK

Claims He Knows Nothing of His Movements In Past Few Days.

New York, Feb. 4.—George H. Wood, the iron worker who was arrested here last night as a suspect in the Plainfield, N. J., sleigh murder mystery, has been identified by the Plainfield officers as the man for whom they have been searching. The identification was made by Chief of Police Kelley of Plainfield. Jacob Lynn, proprietor of a Plainfield hotel, and a Somerville, N.
J., detective, also identified the prisoner. Lynn says that Wood was a guest at his hotel for several days early this week, and that when he went away he left behind a suit case containing papers and other articles. He had known Wood for a long time, he said, and there was no chance of an error in the identification. When the prisoner was led before him, however, Wood made no response or sign of recognition.

A physician who examined George H.
Wood, the iron structural contractor, before he was given over to the police in connection with the mysterious murder of Groverman George Williams, of Plainfield, N. J., said that while there were certain symptoms suggestive of aphasia about Wood, it would require a long and careful examination before the fact that Wood was suffering from any mental disease could be established.

Wood repeated his story that his mind had been blank since Monday when he left here with a civil engineer, named Mack, who was to procure a loan from his father to assist in Wood's business. He said they went to the near Trenton and drank some beer.
He remembered nothing afterward until Wednesday, when he found himself in Trenton with only $2. He started to walk toward New York.

"Then came another blank in my memory," he said, "and although I have a faint recollection of having spent a Thursday night in Elizabeth, N.
J., and of having gone about among the iron works in Jersey City, Friday morning, looking for work, nothing else has been in my mind since. I am in answer to questions he denied that he had any recollection of having visited Plainfield, or having stopped at a hotel there. He also asserted that he had absolutely no remembrance of having called on any of his relatives in the neighborhood of Plainfield.

which Donahue was standing and swept him between the cars and beneath the wheels.

A coroner's jury was impaneled and rendered a verdict, holding the mining company responsible for the accident by placing the pole too close to the track.

Because of the fact that the last light switchman at this end of the road, the child 1 did before the fatal will be wife and one child. The funeral will be held tomorrow at the Catholic church and the remains will be interred here.

AN INSURRECTION IN ARGENTINE

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, Feb. 4.—An insurrection has broken out in this province. Several police posts have been attacked by bands of about thirty men each, but the assaults nearly everywhere were repulsed. Two posts which were surprised were recaptured by the police. An attack on the capital, was also repelled. It is rumored that two regiments of troops have multiplied and are marching on the capital.
The Argentine government, which appears to have been acquainted with the plans of the leaders of the plot, took timely measures to suppress it, returning and seems to have complete control of the situation.

As a result of the insurrectionary movement, which broke out last night, not only here but in several other cities of the province, the government has issued a decree establishing a state of siege for thirty days throughout the entire republic and has ordered the mobilization of the national guard.

ARGUING CASE

The Courthouse Site Case Comes Before Judges Cant and Dibell.

Assistant County Attorney Crosby Begins Argument For County.

The arguments of the case of the county of St. Louis against J. D. Ensign, as trustee, otherwise known as the courthouse site case, came up this morning just before noon in district court before Judges Cant and Dibell. Judge Ensign, who is defendant in the case, of course, did not sit on the bench. The testimony in the case was taken about a year ago and the arguments of counsel for each side had been briefed. But the matter is being argued in detail by W. G. Crosby, assistant county attorney, appears for the county, and John G. Williams appears for Judge Ensign. The case is this: Judge Ensign, as trustee, has been holding the site of the courthouse and county jail on consideration that a courthouse and other county buildings would be erected and maintained on the site. Since the talk has arisen of selecting another site for a new courthouse it has been a question as to whether the county can retain the present site as its property unless a courthouse is maintained there. Hence the suit.

Mr. Crosby was arguing the case at noon and the arguments will likely take up the rest of the day. Mr. Crosby contends that there is nothing in the deed of conveyance of the property which warrants a supposition that the property must revert to the owners or their heirs in case it is vacated as a courthouse site. He points out that the deed does not provide any time during which the property must be used as a courthouse site, but that it merely provides that a courthouse and other county buildings shall be erected and maintained. While he argues, despite of court are against the necessity of a perpetuity clause, the lack of one in this instance, taken together with the lack of a reverter clause, prevents the necessity of the county maintaining a courthouse upon the site to retain it as county property. During the argument he pointed out that in no likelihood was a perpetuity clause desired by the grantor. They wished to provide their buildings in way of values at that time and by securing the location of the courthouse at that time, they achieved that desire and therefore with the object in view attained, they never considered the possibility of a removal of the courthouse from that site in after years nor did they care. At noon Mr. Crosby was closing his argument.

WISHES SUM TO BE FIXED

Cloquet Lumber Company Wants Shea Damage Case Adjusted.

In special term of district court today, Judge Dabell in room 2 heard the aftermath of the winter storm of last night. H. Shea against the Cloquet Lumber company in which Shea was twice given $500 for false imprisonment. The first verdict was set aside by the supreme court on the ground that the damage assessed by the jury was out of proportion to the wrong done by the defendant and that the verdict indicated passion and prejudice on the part of the jury. The case was re-tried about a year ago and the second jury returned a verdict for $4000 damages. This was set aside by the court here on the same grounds that the first verdict was set aside by the supreme court. The motion here before Judge Dabell today was by the defendant who wishes to have the order of the court, setting aside the verdict, modified so that the court will fix a small amount of damages and settle the case. The court took the motion under consideration.

HAPPENINGS IN DAKOTAS

John Young Is Held For the Murder of Todd.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—By agreement the Young hearing came to a close without any evidence being put forward by the defendants. The younger brother, John A. Young, was held without bail and taken to Huron. The jail here is deemed unsafe. One of the state's attorneys identified John Young as the man he saw driving a team answering the description of Todd's, the murdered man. The state, apparently, has strong evidence against him. Gerney's sweetheart was much pleased with the discharge of her lover, and their delayed wedding will probably take place at once.

BRITTON.—M. J. Hall, of Ortonville, Minn., has purchased the large stock of general merchandise of F. E. Alpin and will take possession at once. The present stock is the most severe of the winter, the thermometer yesterday registering 40 below zero. There have been no storms and but little snow.

ABERDEEN.—Farmers of Belle township, Edmunds county, have organized the Edmunds County Mutual Telephone company. They have a barbed wire telephone system of twelve miles, and by co-operation hope to extend the system and to fill in any gaps that may exist in neighborhood communication.

HURON.—Miss Kathryn N. Adams, of Oberlin, a post graduate of Columbia and Brainerd colleges, has taken the position made vacant in the faculty of Huron college by the resignation of Professor W. H. Powers.

MINER.—Carter, a farmer residing near Broadland, was severely burned on the hands, neck and in the face while attempting to extinguish a fire in a load of hay, and save his wagon and team.

Mrs. Young, formerly Miss Vesta D. Hooper, who resided here a few years ago, died at her home in Hollister, Cal.

BONESTEE.—Probably a third of the claims won in the Rosebud reservation lottery last summer will be abandoned by the winners, as the result of the cold winter, they are the last month for them to file, and there is no hope of an extension of the time by congress. They are arriving by every train, but are in a quandary about taking up their claims. Most of them have not had their shacks built, and it is very difficult to find a place. As a result, many good farms will be given up.

FARGO.—There is a renewed agitation here for a city hall. The present building is a poor one, and the city fathers are planning to build a new one. The new hall will be a four-story building, and will be a fine addition to the city.

At the West Duluth Baptist church, Rev. Arthur J. Hoag, pastor, there will be services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. The subject of the morning sermon will be "Garments for the Christian," and the evening topic will be "Sinning—A Sin Against the Commandment." Sunday school will meet at noon and the B. Y. P. U. at 7 p. m.

ENTERTAIN FRIENDS.—Mrs. Jenny Lockhart, of New Duluth, entertained a few friends at dinner Thursday evening. The dining room was prettily decorated with roses and carnations, and the parlor decorations consisted of roses and ferns. Those present were:

Mrs. J. Lockhart, J. Bartz, P. Olsen, R. Dietz, C. Wells, J. Dalida, P. Knudsen, A. Olson, V. Laddely, W. Smith, W. Lewis, Miss Lucile Lockhart, Miss Ruth Olson and Miss Grace Bartz.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.—The Ladies' Aid society of the Norwegian Lutheran Synod church will have their next meeting at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Crawford, 245 West Third street.

Attention is called to the fact that on election day the polls in West Duluth are elsewhere, will close at 7 o'clock in the evening. Because registration booths were open until 9 o'clock Sunday morning, Rev. W. J. Lowrie, the pastor, will preach, taking "Christ's Appointment With His Disciples" as a subject.

adequate in many respects, and for some years there has been more or less discussion regarding a new hall and turning over the present structure entirely to the fire department. Mayor Wall thinks he sees a way clear to erect a new building next year. One of the chief arguments for a new building is the safety of the city records. The vaults are inadequate and all the records are at the mercy of the flames should the building catch fire.

Valley City.—The southern clerics of the district of North Dakota held a meeting at Valley City, many of the Episcopal churches of the state being represented. On Tuesday the program consisted of a discussion of such topics as "The Priest and His Work in the Sanctuary," in the Pulpit, in the Parish," by Rev. Dean Burleson, of Fargo, Archbishop Jones of Bismarck, and Rev. A. Chad, of Casselton, respectively. In the evening an address was delivered by Right Rev. Cameron Mann, bishop of North Dakota. On Wednesday such topics as "Sunday School Work" and "Liturgy and Prayers of Missions" were discussed by the various churches.

Mrs. Cameron Mann, wife of Bishop Mann, made an interesting and instructive address before the women of the guild of the Episcopal church.

One of the most exciting basketball games of the season was played here between Company B of Fargo and Company G of this place, and finally resulted in a score of 35 to 12 in favor of Company G.

Pembina.—District court convened here Judge Pollock, of Fargo, presiding, for the trial of Edward T. Isaacson, who, with Leslie Hartzell, was indicted for the murder of Byron Stoddard, at Langdon on July 7. Isaacson has retained as his counsel Tracy Bangs, of Grand Forks, and will take several days to select a jury. Judge Pisk, who presided at the trial of Hartzell, intended to hear the case, but is sick.

CUPID'S RARE TRICK.—Bridgroom of 73 and Bride of 68 United.

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 4.—Unknown to each other when they arose in the morning, seeing each other at 8 o'clock, an acquaintance at 9, courtship at 11, proposal for marriage at 11:30, engaged at noon, wedding license at 1 p. m., and the wedding at 2 p. m. This is the remarkable matrimonial experience of Adam Heib, aged 73, and Dorothy Wolf, aged 68, at Fairfax, county seat of Gregory county, South Dakota.

Thrown by the Rosebud reservation land settlement into the little town on the edge of South Dakota, the two, alone in the world, ate breakfast at the same hotel Thursday morning. It was a case of love at first sight. By 9 o'clock they had managed an introduction to the guests, at 1 o'clock County Clerk Towne had handed over the wedding license, and before 2 Rev. Mr. Thiel, in the little German Lutheran church, had pronounced the words which made them man and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Heib went to Bonesteel for a wedding trip. They will reside at Fairfax.

KEEPER IN MUSEUM Has Battle For Life In Monkey Cage.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 4.—A fight for his life in a monkey cage was the experience of Edward Stillwell, a keeper in the Cornell university museum, late yesterday afternoon. Stillwell went into the monkey cage to feed the animals. His back was turned he was attacked by a big chimp.

The animal tore the skin from Stillwell's head and face and held him fast with his arms to his side, so that he could not escape from the cage. Stillwell fought the monkey for five minutes, his cries for help being five minutes. Though greatly weakened from the monkey cage, he was rescued by a firm grasp of the monkey's neck and forced its head into a bucket of water that was in the cage. He succeeded in holding the animal's head under water until it was drowned.

West Duluth

The proposed issue of $140,000 bonds to cover the cost of extensions and improvements in the water and light system of the city was endorsed by the West Duluth Commercial club at a meeting held last night. It was urged that voters take an interest in the matter and lend their support to the proposition.

Although the need of the bond issue was explained in detail at last week's meeting of the club, H. H. Phelps, of the water and light board, was again present last night to explain the use to which the money thus secured will be put, for the benefit of such citizens as had not heard him on the other occasion. He again emphasized the fact that taxes will not be in the least increased if the bonds are issued. All interest will be paid from the earnings of the plant, just the same as if it were a private company issuing them. They will be a lien on the plant itself, and will in no way affect the general taxes of the city.

The proposed issue would be of particular benefit to West Duluth, where it is planned to construct an auxiliary reservoir, thus assuring this part of the city a plentiful supply of water at all times.

ANOTHER DEFEAT.

West Duluth Curlers Beaten By Superior Rinks.

Last night the West Duluth curlers were for a second time defeated by Superior rinks. There were two rinks from across the bay, skipped by Neil Smith and Dr. S. E. Lane. The first won from D. W. Moldrum's players by a score of 14 to 11, and the second came out victorious in a contest with the rink standing 14 to 8. The local rinks will play Superior, Superior Ice, some evening next week. Last night's summary:

NOTICE TO VOTERS. I understand that rumors to the effect that I am in the saloon business have been circulated by my political opponents with a view to defeating me in my candidacy for alderman at next Tuesday's election. I desire it to be plainly understood that I am not conducting a saloon. Neither have I been conducting one for the past year, and it was only during a short period in the last five years that I was engaged in the business. At present I have no money invested in such an opponent, Mr. Getchell. I collect rent on a building used for saloon purposes and so do not see how I can refer to what I say is true. I refer to doubters to Mr. Getchell himself, who nearly a year ago made out the papers transferring my saloon property to P. A. Lund.

SQUIRREL MANNERISMS.

"One of the most familiar sounds of the summer woods is the rattling bark of the red squirrel," writes an editor to the Chicago News. "The tones of his voice are varied and there is a great difference between his angry bark, his cry of fear, the chattering monologue with which he addresses an intruder on his domain, the running fire of repartee which is the constant accompaniment of the antics of a pair at play, and the long rattling roll which he utters apparently from sheer ennui, or as a challenge to some unseen enemy of his own tribe and which he recovers through the woods often with sufficient force to carry the sound for as much as half to three-quarters of a mile. If we listen for an instant when we hear one of these challenges sent to the air, we may hear it answered from some distant point."

PROPERTY SOLD

Isaac N. Fox Buys Fifty Feet On Superior Street.

Pays $1100 A Front Foot For Ground Under Lease.

The sale of lot 55 West Superior street, between Third and Fourth avenues, was held through the office of Little & Co., of this city, for $55,000, or a consideration based on a valuation of $1100 per front foot.

The property is that occupied by the two buildings, owned by Boyle Bros., conducted as a European hotel, and by E. D. Day & Co., jewelers. Both of the firms mentioned hold long-time leases.

The fifty feet sold was owned by George H. Ware, of Maine, who has been for some time an investor in Duluth realty. That and other localities, until he has hidden away in this manner, a large quantity of lots, one situated on a spot entirely to his liking he will acquire a shallow hole and, placing the lot in the hands of the law, he will be able to sell it at a profit.

This performance he repeats again and again. He has hidden away in this manner, a large quantity of lots, one situated on a spot entirely to his liking he will acquire a shallow hole and, placing the lot in the hands of the law, he will be able to sell it at a profit.

The deal was closed today, the deeds going on record with the county register this morning. The transaction is regarded as a favorable one from both a buying and a selling standpoint, the price, $1100 per front foot setting a good standard of superior street property values in the locality of Third and Fourth avenues west.

The two buildings on the ground purchased by Mr. Fox were taken by their present owners on a long time lease, said to be fifty years, and there still remains a number of years before the lease expires.

FRANK BURROWS RETURNS.

A Matter of Interest to Duluth's Natty Dressers.

Frank Burrows returned today from New York, where he has been in attendance at the annual convention of the merchant tailors of America and selecting his stock of wools for the spring and summer trade. Mr. Burrows, in a short time, has built up an enviable merchant tailoring business, his clients being chiefly catered to on the best dressers of Duluth. The coming season, with increased facilities and the largest and finest stock of wools in the business, Mr. Burrows will be in a position to supply his customers with wearing apparel after the very latest approved fashions.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Several Killed and Many Injured in Various Casualties.

Detroit, Feb. 4.—Eight little children hitting behind a sleigh on hand sleds were struck by a street car today. Four of them were seriously hurt, and a locomotive and several cars wrecked in a rear-end collision between freight trains on the High-Land division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford line, five miles east of Poughkeepsie bridge today. All the victims were trainmen.

BOY KILLED.

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 4.—While a party of eight boys were coasting down Beach street hill here today, their bob crashed into a rapidly moving Michigan Central train. George Dan, aged 12, was killed, and E. L. Sharkey, aged 10, had his left leg severed by the wheels. The other six boys were not injured.

ONE MAN KILLED.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 4.—One man was killed, another probably fatally injured, and a third seriously hurt, and a locomotive and several cars wrecked in a rear-end collision between freight trains on the High-Land division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford line, five miles east of Poughkeepsie bridge today. All the victims were trainmen.

Great is the SAN JUAN!

So Says Alexander Carstairs the Eminent Scotch Mining Engineer: No Place on Earth Where There Are So Many Rich Veins.

Alexander Carstairs, the Scotch mining engineer, speaking of the San Juan, said: "I consider the counties of San Juan and Ouray as affording a field for profitable investment second to none. The mineral wealth of this section is simply marvelous. In all my experience in South Africa, Australia, Mexico and South America I have never seen so many, so strong, and so continuous and rich veins in the same area. There is hardly a property that I visited that cannot be made to pay handsomely. I saw ore bodies there that are simply astonishing. I do not believe it possible to miss in either of these counties, presuming, of course, that care is exercised in operation."

Mr. Ivens, general manager of the Eureka Exploration company, says that no engineer of experience can visit the San Juan without coming to the same conclusion as Mr. Carstairs. Indeed, one is forced to them without going there by simply reading the history of the mines, such as the Tom Boy, Camp Bird, Virginus, Silver Lake, Smuggler Union, Gold King, Henrietta, Gold Fleece and Sunnyside are as well known to Colorado business men as the streets of this city. What other district can show such a list of great mines.

In this noted district is also located the mining property of the Eureka Exploration company. Their property consists of three different groups of mines, thirty-four claims in all, and has at this time something over 7500 feet of underground workings. They have at the mouth of their 1235-foot tunnel on their Silver Wing property a concentrating mill of 100 tons capacity. They have their own water power, which means a saving of from $50.00 to $75.00 per day, and in addition to the mill they are contemplating to erect a smelter to treat the large body of ore in this property. This smelter, in addition to the mill, will make the Eureka as good a mine as is in the district.

Mr. Ivens expects to remain in Duluth about ten days more, and will be pleased to meet and converse with anyone thinking of investing in a reliable mining proposition, and can be found either at the Boston & Duluth Farm Land company's office or McKay hotel.

IT PAYS TO ENTERTAIN

Thirty Situations Offered Girl as Result of Publicity.

That it pays to advertise was never better illustrated than by the case of Maggie Curry. On Wednesday a story was published in The Herald stating that the girl had been looking for two weeks for a situation, that she claimed to have been turned out by her father and that she would have to go to the county poor farm unless she secured a situation within two days. Before the paper had been on the street an hour, Mrs. D. S. Forgy, the assistant humane agent, to whom the girl had applied, was in receipt of a telephone call offering the girl work. The calls became chronic and continued at intervals of from ten to fifteen minutes throughout the afternoon and evening. The next day it continued and letters began to flow in by the morning mail.

A score or more of letters were also received by The Herald from different towns throughout the northern part of the state. Women from Bemidji, Hibbing, Eveleveth, Virginia, Two Harbors and Carlton wrote offering the girl situations, and it is estimated that at least thirty situations were open to the girl by this morning. She has been placed with a Duluth family in the capacity of a domestic by Mrs. Forgy.

The Bishop's Club.

The Bishop's club will meet Tuesday evening, Feb. 5. Miss Knapp will act as leader. Miss Mary Shegerson will read a paper on "Children of the Eighteenth Century," and Miss McHugh will speak of "The Use of Commerce and Industries." "Orators and Oratory" will be the subject of a paper read by Miss G. Knapp. Mrs. Leo Hall will sing from the Morris melodies, and Miss Knapp will read a paper on the melodies. The Bible study, conducted by Bishop McDonald, will be from St. Matthew chapters 15 and 16.

RECORD OF WATER AND LIGHT PLANTS

Annual Report of Board Showing Earnings of Plant.

Fine Record in Spite of Expensive Year to Operate.

The annual report of the board of water and light commissioners and Manager Case to the common council was filed with the city clerk this morning. It is the custom not to make the report public until it has reached the council, but owing to the fact that the bond issue is to be voted on Tuesday, and that if the report were not published until after the council meeting it would not be made public until the day of election, the board has decided to make the report public today.

ference of $10,250 in the income of the board. The reduction in water rates is estimated to have made a difference of $11,522 in the income, making a total of $21,772.

This added to the net earnings makes a total of $41,822, which should represent the real measure of gain. From this, however, should be subtracted the sum of $102 which is to be paid the Duluth Electric company during the latter part of the month for December's work, which represents the actual gain.

You cannot have your cake and eat it, yet the eating of it should not cause you to forget that you had it," comments Mr. Case on the plan of figuring the reductions in the earnings of the department.

During the year 24,229 feet of water pipes were laid and 300 feet of kalamine pipe replaced with cast iron. A 18-inch gas supply main was laid in London road from Superior street to Fourteenth avenue, and a 10-inch gas main from Michigan street from Garfield to Twenty-fifth and north of Superior street, which connects with a new 10-inch feeder main from the works of the Duluth Electric company. This completes a duplicate system from this point to Second avenue east.

The proposed reservoir at West Duluth is not only a matter of special advantage to the city, but it is also a benefit to all parts of the city, the purpose of the reservoir being to feed back to a break in the existing system wherever it may be needed. The reservoir will be supplied with water and gas at the earliest moment, and the water will be supplied to the city at a rate of 100,000 gallons per day.

The board believes that the furnishing of sufficient water to protect heavy property and the business of the city is of direct loss by fire is of direct loss to all the people, and in future as the past has shown, the city is not prepared to meet the requirements of these interests, while it is in the volume of water and gas consumed in the city.

In his section of the report Manager Case has something of interest to say in regard to the charging off of a certain sum annually to allow for depreciation. This is a matter that is much discussed, and it is a matter that is of great importance to the city.

"Will you permit me to say something in regard to a matter that is much discussed, and it is a matter that is of great importance to the city. It is a matter that is of great importance to the city, and it is a matter that is of great importance to the city.

"Again, should a plant be purchased or constructed entirely from money borrowed, and the future extension of the plant, should be provided for in the same way. It is a matter that is of great importance to the city, and it is a matter that is of great importance to the city.

FIFTY PER CENT Of the College Women Are Old Maids.

New York, Feb. 4.—Fifty per cent of the college women are old maids and twenty per cent of the college men are bachelors, according to a study made by President G. Stanley Hall of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., in an address on "Children and Childhood."

"After a careful investigation of the statistics of our largest universities," he said, "I have found that of the college graduates, twenty per cent are married, twenty per cent are single, and twenty per cent are widowed. The average age of the married is twenty-five years, but 20 per cent remain bachelors."

The speaker declared that college graduates who do marry have less than the average number of children per family in the nation.

"It is plainly evident," said Dr. Hall, "that the culture of the college is a factor in the marriage problem. I believe college graduates represent a better type of the average, but these figures show that they are gradually dying out and the culture is being lost."

SENATOR ALLISON Criticized By President of Corn Belt Association.

Webster City, Iowa, Feb. 4.—A manifesto directed against Senator Allison has been issued by the Iowa Corn Belt Producers' Association, which has been organized to oppose the senator's proposed anti-slavery movement in Iowa.

Senator Allison's paper, the Duluth Times, designated the Corn Belt Association as a political movement. Ayan said that the association is a political movement, and that it is a political movement, and that it is a political movement.

SLID TEN MILES Down Mount Hood on Norwegian Skis.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 4.—That a winter visit to Mount Hood is delightful is the verdict of R. L. Gilsan, J. Wesley Ladd, Walter Heyman, B. C. Ball, John K. Kollock, Harry L. Corbett and Dr. Herbert S. Nichols, who have just returned from a ski trip on Mount Hood.

Sixteen inches of snow fell recently at Mount Hood, and it had melted. The first ten miles they traveled by stage. Then they took a sleigh for another ten miles, and then they took a sleigh for another ten miles, and then they took a sleigh for another ten miles.

Arriving at the deserted inn, the tourists found the place in the big fire place, dragged wire mattresses out, and made themselves comfortable with blankets. Two nights they spent on the mountain.

Going back we put on skis and slid the first ten miles," said Mr. Gilsan. "The trees, denuded of their leaves, were coated with ice. The ice was so thick that the sleds were loaded with snow. There was a heavy fog, and the sleds were loaded with snow. There was a heavy fog, and the sleds were loaded with snow.

Some of our party had never before attempted ski locomotion, but the snow was so deep, and the sleds were so heavy, that the sleds were loaded with snow. There was a heavy fog, and the sleds were loaded with snow.

At the end of the trip, the sleds were loaded with snow. There was a heavy fog, and the sleds were loaded with snow. There was a heavy fog, and the sleds were loaded with snow.

"OLD PETE" YETTER.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Makes you strong, husky and vigorous, and able to enjoy the work and pleasures of life to the fullest; if you would live to the old age without aches and pains, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as directed. It is used exclusively in leading hospitals, the old reliable family remedy of thousands for over fifty years.

CAUTION.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, imitating the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and malt whiskey substitutes, which are put on the market for profit only, and which, far from relieving the sick, are positively harmful to the system. "Duffy's" is and is sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure medicinal whiskey, and is sold by every reliable druggist and grocer in the country, or direct, in sealed bottles only. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist" on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price, $1 per bottle.

A fully illustrated medical booklet will be mailed free to any one who writes for it. Duffy's Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

ROOSEVELT ON DAVIS. Daughter of the Confederate President Makes a Reply.

In justice to the Southern people who you kindly have the following extracts from President Roosevelt's book printed in the World, and request other newspapers North and South to copy this letter, writes Margaret H. Jefferson Davis Hayes, from Colorado Springs, to the New York World.

Mr. Roosevelt's book, "The Life of Thomas H. Benton," he says most unjustly of the Southern people, on page 161.

Slavery is chiefly responsible for the streak of coarse and brutal barbarism which ran through the Southern character. Yet he claims to be half a Southerner. On page 163 he says:

"The moral difference between Benedict Arnold on the one hand and Aaron Burr or Jefferson Davis on the other is precisely the difference that obtains between a politician who sells his vote for money and one who supports a bad measure in consideration of being given some high political position. As a matter of fact, Mr. Davis was very indifferent to political position, unlike Mr. Roosevelt; so much so that he never spent a dollar on election and asked no man for his vote. He was in Mississippi but once when elected. He fought in the flower of his manhood when men battled in the field, and never stood on a hill posing as a Rough Rider, an actor in a desperate battle who, in fact, was not in the range of the enemy's fire—as this fantastic author of statesmen's history is said to have done at San Juan."

Again, on page 226, he attacks the one and only president of the Confederacy, the representative of the Southern people whose toleration he wishes. He says:

"Before Jefferson Davis took his place among the arch-traitors in our annals he had already long been known as one of the chief republicans. It was not unusual that to his honesty toward the creditors of the public he should afterward add treachery toward the South. He was a man of high character, and his life was a life of high character. He was a man of high character, and his life was a life of high character."

AFFAIRS OF THE WEEK
IN THE HIGH SCHOOL*Plans Made For Organizing a Debating Club and Much Interest Is Shown In It—University of Minnesota to Have Relay Carnival With Preparatory Schools Eligible.

An enthusiastic meeting of about two dozen young men was held last Monday afternoon at the close of school for the purpose of perfecting a club of these interested in debate and public speaking.

Principal Smith was present for a short time and expressed himself as being very well pleased at the large attendance and interest shown at the outset. He said that he had no definite plan to suggest, further than that the organization be self-governing and not connected with the English classes in any way. He added that the line of work which it was intended that the club should pursue would be of great assistance to all who participated, owing to the fact that wherever one was placed, he was liable to be called upon to address an audience or to lead a public meeting. In concluding, he said that it was not necessary that the club be so very large, but that it should be enthusiastic.

But little business was transacted at this first meeting. William Harrison was elected chairman, and under his supervision a committee of three, consisting of Harold Cant, Lester Seelye, and Dan Lipette, was chosen to draw up a constitution and by-laws. The next meeting will be held Monday afternoon, and at that time officers will likely be elected.

ATHLETIC CARNIVAL.

University of Minnesota to Give One May 13.

Arrangements have been made by the athletic management of the university of Minnesota to hold a spring relay carnival on Northern field, May 13, 1905. All the preparatory schools in Minnesota will be invited to participate, as well as all of the larger colleges in the country. The Duluth school received such an invitation last year, but did not send any representative, owing to the poor condition of the track. It is possible that they may do so this year. If the proceeds derived from the spring activities are sufficient to meet the demands of such a trip.

Championship events to be pulled off are:

WHAT THE LIVER DOES
Largest Organ In The Human Body.BILE AND ITS USE.

Beecham's Pills Are Probably the Most Effective Medicine That Can Be Taken.

The bile is a greenish fluid secreted by the liver. It stimulates the intestines and thus aids their natural evacuation. It also retards decomposition of undigested food and waste substances.

Too great a flow of bile, or too little, brings ill health. Bilelessness, Coupled Tongue, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Drowsiness, Blotches on the Skin, Listlessness, Jaundice, Piles, or Constipation are signs that the liver is out of order.

Beecham's are safe liver pills. They do not grip, purge or pain. They have an easy action and a certain effect. They are the most prompt and effective liver pill for either transient or continuous use. They regulate the liver, and thus put the flow of bile on a beautiful basis.

Beecham's Pills are worth a guinea a box to all who desire health. Price 25 cents; at all drug stores.

one-quarter mile relay, one-half mile relay, as well as a special 100-yard dash, 120-yard hurdle, shot-put, pole-vault, high jump and throwing the hammer. All events will take place on the same day, relays to come every five minutes, and as all colleges will be listed and will compete according to their rank, there will be no delays in pulling the events off.

The relay will be pulled as well as useful. For the one-quarter mile championship relay there will be given four first gold watches and a silk banner for the first championship relay and also in the quarter-mile preparatory school championship, similar prizes will be given. Besides these prizes given in the championship relay, the 20 silk banners will go to the winners of the preparatory school events.

TO RAISE THE DEBT.
Class of 1904 Is Making an Effort.

A few of the members of the class of 1904 are putting forth an effort to raise the debt that has been hanging over the class ever since the publication of their Zenith. The total amount which they owed at the close of school last June was exactly $2000. The class representatives who have the matter in charge have on hand at the present time $750, and as Mr. LeFevre has kindly offered to donate the last $50, a balance of just $250 remains to be paid.

A circular letter has been sent out to those who were members of the class which explains the state of affairs, and requests that each one send $2 to Mr. Smith, who will see that it reaches the printer. If more than the necessary amount is raised the surplus will be used for the purpose of purchasing a suitable memorial for the school.

The Examinations.

Students and teachers are busy preparing for the examinations which are to come Thursday and Friday of next week. The program of the exams is as follows: Thursday, 9 to 10:30, junior and sophomore English; 10:30 to 12:30, senior and sophomore English, American literature; 12:30 to 2:30, United States history, junior French, Medieval history, zoology, physiology; 2:30 to 3:30, senior French, stenography, algebra; 3:30 to 12:30, advanced algebra, plane geometry; 12:30 to 2:30, sophomore German, solid geometry, Caesar, ancient history; 2:30 to 3:40, chemistry, commercial arithmetic.

A few slight changes may be made in the above if it is found that any conflicts occur.

School Notes.

Edwin J. Kenny, who was last week chosen to form one of the trio that is to debate against Wisconsin on the question of primary reform is a graduate from the Duluth Central High school. He entered the law department of Michigan originally, but the next year shifted to the literature department, entering the class of '05. Two years ago he debated on one of his class in his junior year, is a member of the Toastmasters' club, and represents the Alpha Nu literary society. The Michigan Daily says of him: "Mr. Kenny has explained the Michigan reform and it is safe to say that he has never appeared in a more convincing manner, more effectively than in his rebuttal speech of last night. He is a lighter and displayed a magnetic personality that carried his audience along with him and evoked a hearty burst of applause at the end."

The students will regret to hear that Prof. Hutchinson of the manual training department has landed in his resignation after having taught for thirteen years, the longest term of continuous service of any teacher in the building. Mr. Hutchinson will go into the contracting business. It is possible, however, that he may remain until the end of the year, if the board desires that he do so. It will be very hard to find a competent instructor to take his place at this time of the year, and he says that if no one can be found he will stay.

Next Friday evening at eight o'clock the junior class gives its annual junior-midyear in the high school building. Before the dance commences the members of the class will enjoy a spread to which only the family and the other class professionals are invited. The midyear is an annual event and is being eagerly anticipated as the juniors have promised everybody a good time.

Swan M. Erickson, who graduated from the local high school in the class of 1901, will leave shortly for Japan, where he will act in the capacity of assistant secretary to the Y. M. C. A. For the past two years Mr. Erickson has been secretary to the Y. M. C. A. of Mobile, Alabama.

The sophomore Zenith board offers the following prizes: Frontispiece, $2, title page, $1, story of from 20 to 30 words, $2, and for the best poem of from 18 to 30 lines, $1. The freshmen offer $2 for the best story, $1 for the best poem and $1 for the best poem that is handed in before Feb. 15.

DEVOTION
To Little Girl Costs Mother Her Life.

Sloux City, Iowa, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Harry Blinn, wife of the advertising manager of Davidson Brothers company, gave her life last night as the cost of devotion to her little girl, Ruth. For weeks she cared for the child day and night, bringing her through a violent attack of scarlet fever. Sunday Mrs. Blinn gave birth to a son, and Monday the fever fastened its clutches upon her in its long vigilance she could not withstand the attack. She had nursed the little girl against the protestations of her husband and physicians.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.
Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the poisons and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion. It whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic. It also absorbs the infectious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much-improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continual use, but on the contrary, great benefit. A physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

MAY BUILD AT ONCE*Manual Training Building In Near Future a Probability.*To Build On High School Block Too Expensive.

The proposed manual training building may be erected during the coming summer, but it will not be on the high school grounds, and it will cost about half what the building called for in the former plans, would have cost.

Such was the decision arrived at last evening at the regular monthly meeting of the school board, when Director Washburn introduced a resolution which had been prepared by himself and Director Phelps, calling for the committee on buildings and grounds to secure plans from Palmer & Hunt based on sketches drawn by Charles A. Hutchinson, the manual training instructor, for a building to be erected on the corner of Lake avenue and Third street, across from the high school grounds. The grounds were recently purchased by the school board for the purpose.

The resolution further provided that the building shall be plain construction, with the walls on the street and avenue sides of pressed brick. The interior finish shall be only such as is absolutely necessary for the work for which it is intended. It shall be arranged to accommodate all the manual training departments together with moulding and ferge rooms, and also a chemical laboratory, which is now located in the high school building.

The committee is instructed to be ready to report at the next meeting of the board, and also arrive at some adjustment with the architects for the plans drawn for the building considered last fall.

"I have never changed my mind as to the proper location of the manual training building," said Mr. Washburn in speaking to the resolution, "but the stone alone for building to match the high school would cost as much as we can afford to spend on it."

The principal was in favor of building on the grounds, but Mr. Phelps, "until we had advertised and received bids, then I changed my mind, because I didn't see how we could afford to build such a one as we had figured on, and I didn't think we should put up a building that wouldn't conform to the architectural plan of the high school. That's the reason I favor the change now. We can build a suitable building across the street for less than half what the one on the high school grounds would have cost us."

Mr. Washburn stated that no provision has been made for a gymnasium in the proposed building. It was the idea of the framers of the resolution that but a small percentage of the pupils could make use of it owing to its location, and that a gymnasium should not be installed unless the board could afford to hire a competent instructor to be present on the floor at all times and guard against accidents.

"If we had built the building on the high school grounds, I would have favored a gymnasium," said Mr. Phelps. "But in building that way it would not be much use to all the pupils. The board cannot afford to spend money in providing a gymnasium at present and if we can't have the gymnasium connected with the school, I am not in favor of it."

Superintendent Denfeld, in a report submitted to the board, approved of the conduct of Miss Anderson, a teacher in the Irving school, in administering corporal punishment to Arthur Engberg, one of the pupils. Embodied in the report were statements from the teacher, and from Miss Helen McElgin, another teacher, who was called in to witness the punishment. Miss Denfeld stated that the boy had disobeyed her several times and that she had to use the paddle. She had warned him that unless his conduct improved she would punish him. The boy, according to the teacher's statement, persisted in his bad conduct, and she told him to remain after school. She then summoned Miss McElgin to witness the punishment. She had no objection to his presence, and she told him to remain after school. She then summoned Miss McElgin to witness the punishment. She had no objection to his presence, and she told him to remain after school.

Mr. Denfeld was re-elected as superintendent of schools for a term of three years, commencing at the expiration of his present term, Aug. 1. He was given an increase of salary from $3600 to $4000.

In granting the increase, several of the members of the board paid a tribute to Mr. Denfeld's abilities as a superintendent, and the good work he had done in building up the Duluth school system.

"You can't get good service from a man unless you pay him for it," said Frank Smith. "I am heartily in favor of the increase, as I believe Mr. Denfeld has well earned it."

The resignation of Professor Hutchinson was received, but no action was taken on it, as the board did not feel able to dispense with his services until the end of the school year. Mr. Hutchinson expressed his willingness to give the board time to find a successor.

firm of Pennington & McGuire, of Proctor, R. I. which has the contract for the construction of the dam, says that he will have the ground in about three weeks, and that by March 1 work will be started in earnest.

A small sawmill will be installed to cut timbers for the coffer dams. Large warehouses will be built immediately in Port Frances, Ont., in which to store the cement, 30,000 barrels of which will be used in the construction, and also the immense amount of machinery to be shipped immediately.

MYSTERIOUS CASE
Of Supposed Infanticide Discovered In Butte.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 4.—A case of supposed infanticide has been puzzling the Butte authorities for a week. The four days' old baby of Mrs. Ameel, who has been employed as a piano player at the Butte Concert hall, was found dead in its crib, eight feet from its mother's bed, at the Mary & Fred hospital, by the nurse who answered the bell rung by Mrs. Ameel at 2:30 o'clock in the morning. The body was black, indicating that the babe had smothered. Mrs. Ameel insists that she had a dream that the child was dead, which so frightened her that she rang for the nurse. Dr. Freund insists, however, that a baby of that age is too small to turn itself over without help and the body was face upward when found.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict

Hinkley's Bone Liniment

For internal and external use.

The best, because the most reliable, family medicine in the world today. Time tried for more than fifty years and every time successful. Good for every pain that has a name. Gentlemen: Have you your Liniment for the past 10 years and find it very good. I received an awful burn and used nothing else to relieve the pain or heal it but Hinkley's Bone Liniment, and it worked wonders. Yours respectfully, J. W. Simmons, Engine Co., No. 23, Detroit Fire Department.

Hinkley's Bone Liniment is sold by all druggists at 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle, and every bottle is a complete medicine chest in itself. Try it. Hinkley's Bone Liniment Co., Saginaw, Mich.

DOINGS IN MICHIGAN*A Miner In Mohawk Mine Killed By Falling Rock.

Calumet—One man was killed and another probably fatally injured in local mines Friday. Frank Dordillo, a miner at the Mohawk, was killed by falling rock in No. 3 shaft. Archie Melo received injuries that it is believed will prove fatal, at the Tamarack mines. He was skidding logs when the pile rolled and seventeen large timbers passed over him.

Marquette—In Justice Byrne's court Jack Dunlavey, accused of complicity in the robbery of Elias Johnson, waived examination, after pleading not guilty, and was bound over for trial in circuit court. The case will come up at the February term, opening the 28th. Dunlavey, as was Victor Stack, bound over on the same charge, was held in bonds of $1500. He did not furnish bail and is now in custody in the county jail. Tuesday night a large crowd was assembled at the depot to see Dunlavey come in. However, it was disappointed as Marshal Maney dropped off the train with his man at Fourth street. Johnson, the complaining witness, is now working at one of the camps near Marquette. It is expected that he will be on hand for the trial without fail.

Monominee—The Monominee Electrical Manufacturing company, whose plant was recently destroyed by fire, has decided to erect new works on the site of the former shop and foundry. In the meantime operations will be transferred to Marinette, where a building has been secured and leased for a year.

Ironwood—The crew of Northwestern surveyors and engineers that has been operating south of Green's Sliding for six weeks have broken camp and moved to Sisco lake. These engineers are working on the survey of the new branch line that the Northwestern is building out of Mercer, and which it is expected eventually will form a connection with the Turtle branch at Sisco lake.

Norway—Some weeks ago a prominent business man of Norway, Dickinson county, was apprehended while helping himself to some of the contents of another merchant's warehouse. The act of appropriation having occurred at about 3 a. m., no reasonable excuse could be offered, but the matter was seemingly adjusted by giving a mortgage to the injured person, covering the stock in trade of the offending party, which was supposed to partially cover the loss, and a promise not to prosecute. Now it has developed that the man has left for parts unknown, leaving in his wake an extended list of mourning creditors. The owner of the mortgage is in possession and the business is being conducted in his name.

"Hermit stores" are obsolete. You can live in Duluth without using gas or electricity, without sanitary improvements in your kitchen, without riding on street cars—if you want to be a hermit. And you can run your store without advertising—if you want to run a "hermit store." But it won't pay.

A POLICEMAN'S STORY

Officer Daniel J. Carey Prevents Pneumonia By Using Father John's Medicine.

I went home one night and my throat and lungs were all filled up and I could hardly breathe. They told me that if I did not get relief at once I would have pneumonia, and I dreaded that because of my great weight. I took Father John's Medicine and it eased my lungs at once, and prevented me from having pneumonia. I took it right along and got much relief. I have chronic catarrh and bronchial trouble, for which I had been unable to get any help from the best doctors in Lawrence, and all kinds of medicines that I have tried for fifteen years. I am recommending it to all policemen on the force and many of them are taking it with much benefit. I wish everybody knew of its merits. (Signed) Daniel J. Carey, (Police No. 223, Broadway, Lawrence, Mass.) Father John's Medicine is for sale by all druggists; the L. W. Leithhead Drug Co., wholesale distributors.

ROMANTIC STORY OF SACAJAWEA

Indian Heroine To Be Honored At Lewis and Clark Exposition—Was Guide and Interpreter For Lewis and Clark On Their Expedition.

By W. E. BRINDLEY.

At the Lewis and Clark exposition, which will be held in Portland, Ore., this summer in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the expedition of Lewis and Clark, tardy recognition will be made of the services of an Indian slave woman.

An association organized for the purpose will erect a heroic statue to her memory in Columbia court, the central plaza of the exposition. The statue, executed by Miss Alice Cooper, of Denver, presents a woman of Indian type, with a powerful, muscular body, and a face of noble features. The girl is pointing toward the distant sea, her face radiant with the light of hope, and her eyes full of tears. The short hunting shirt and deer-skin leggings show a figure full of the buoyancy and animation of youth.

A few months ago, only comparatively few people, wise historians of much knowledge, knew that there had existed such a woman as Sacajawea. Now her name is as familiar to Western school children as that of Pocahontas, or Florence Nightingale, or Grace Darling. Several poets have written verse about her, and every jewelry shop in Portland has for sale the Sacajawea souvenir spoon.

The heroism of Sacajawea was of the kind that is not to be found in most people to be the truest kind. The part she took in the expedition was not that of a mere interpreter. Without her aid it is doubtful if the travelers would ever have reached the Pacific, and thus made it possible for the United States to make its only acquisition of territory by right of discovery.

Sacajawea was one of the three slave-wives of Toussaint Charbonneau, a French-Canadian voyageur, who acted as interpreter for the explorers. She was a Shoshone Indian, who had been taken captive by the enemies of her tribe, the Nintares, or Blackfeet, and sold by them to Charbonneau, who had been an interpreter among the Gros Ventre Indians, having joined the expedition with little more respect than she was accustomed to receive from her own people. When the expedition reached the mouth of the Snake river, the Indian woman was called upon to give him her guide of blue beads, so that he might trade for a sea-otter skin. But the Indian woman, whose blue beads were probably her only money, was apparently glad to make the sacrifice, and at Charbonneau's request she gave him the beads. She then accompanied him to the mouth of the Snake river, where she was to meet the two captains, with two dozen men, and the white woman, and at a time of distress she gave him a piece of bread which she had saved for a long time, intending, in case of emergency, to use it for her baby. The arrival of white man's history presents no more vivid story of sacrifice of heroine for hero. May the Indian woman, her story, and the story of her life, be remembered by the people of the Northwest, and this circumstance, coupled with the Frenchman's quarrel with Jessamine, the Mandan interpreter of the expedition, and his unwillingness to accept first the terms offered by the captains, almost resulted in his being left behind. But for Sacajawea, and the knowledge that she possessed of the country through which the explorers must pass to reach the Pacific, it is quite likely that the expedition would have been abandoned.

To the degenerate French voyageur, who was her master, there came a friend, and her affectionate, such as they may have been, she must share with two other women. Sacajawea was a motherly, kind, and gentle, and she was popular with the captains, and rode with them in advance of the rest of the party. She conducted herself throughout the long journey with the utmost propriety. It seems hardly possible to conceive in this untutored red woman such fine sentiments as she must have possessed.

SOAP EATING

Resorted To By Uncle Sam's "Jackies" To Obtain Shore-Leave.

New York, Feb. 4.—"Whenever you hear of a high percentage of sickness among the sailors of the American navy," said Jack Montgomery, with a cheerful grin, "don't get excited about it. Not unless there's a bunch of deaths resulting. These epidemics among the Jackies come pretty regular, but they don't yield a heavy percentage of death or disability."

Montgomery is a sailor by profession, and the decks of a steel-clad ship have more attractions for him than State street or Broadway on a gala night. Nevertheless, he has forsaken the sea, solely because his aged mother wanted her boy at home during her declining years, and as a consequence one of the handiest tars and ablest trouble-makers that ever trod a gunwale is now a quiet citizen of Chicago. Incidentally, he works in the stockyards, and his sailor skill in the use of rope and needle now earns him bigger wages than even the "Jimmy Legs" of the biggest warship dragoon.

"I had plenty of shore leave every trip I ever was on, and most of the time in navy yards," Montgomery went on, "and there was a lot of others just as lucky. Awful percentage of illness on the ships those days, and probably is today, for one bunch of Jackies will always reach their destination in the next crowd. That's why I say, never let yourself worry about the men of Uncle Sam's navy, and never let yourself imagine that the hard work or the rations is likely to kill off any of our boys. If you hear that two thirds of the North Atlantic squadron are helpless in their bunks, and that eighty per cent of the European fleet is expected to live."

"You've heard how convicts eat soap to make them look sick, and sick and really be sick when they want a lay-off from hard labor? Well, I believe some ex-convict must have told some sailor the high percentage of sickness among the sailors of the American navy," said Jack Montgomery, with a cheerful grin, "don't get excited about it. Not unless there's a bunch of deaths resulting. These epidemics among the Jackies come pretty regular, but they don't yield a heavy percentage of death or disability."

"Now, as you can suppose, the trick of eating soap isn't one to exactly appeal to an epidemic. In fact, there's nothing in the world that tastes much sicker than a cake of soap, and the more you eat the worse it tastes. You get accustomed to olives and get so they taste good, but I never saw anybody who had acquired a genuine fondness for real, honest soap, no matter whether that soap was white, green, or mottled or pink and perfumed. Consequently the boys are given to all kinds of schemes to vary the stuff down without being sick too soon. I've seen them cut the soap in thin slices, put it between slices of bread and chew it down that way, with eyes rolling and chests heaving as the lovely old taste hit home. I've seen the Jackies put catchup and mustard all over the soap and get it down under this kind of disguise. Sometimes they'll chew it into little cubes and drink it, two or three cubes in a glass of water—get it down fast before it can dissolve. Oh, fine, fine for the palate and great for the digestion!"

LOOPING THE LOOP
ON ROLLER SKATES

Thrilling Feat Being Practiced By a Duluth Young Man.

Has Not Yet Completed Circuit of the Loop.

Will Probably Join a Big Circus in the Spring.

Many who had occasion to pass in the neighborhood of Ninth avenue west and Fifth street during the last three months have expressed considerable curiosity as to a small wooden building with a long chute projecting from one end of it, looking much like an overgrown stove-pipe. They have expressed wonder as to what possible use the chute could be put and have hazarded various guesses.

The building is the club house of the Duluth Athletic club and the chute is the one used in connection with the apparatus of George Proff, who is attempting to loop the loop on a pair of roller skates.

The loop is built inside the building, and the skater starts at the top of the chute and comes down through an opening in the wall. The chute is closed so the skater can practice in cold weather, and it is lighted by lamps.

Inside the building is the loop, which is much similar to that used by bicycle riders who have performed the feat, with the exception that it is much smaller. The loop has not been completed, as the young man has not yet succeeded in reaching the top of the circle.

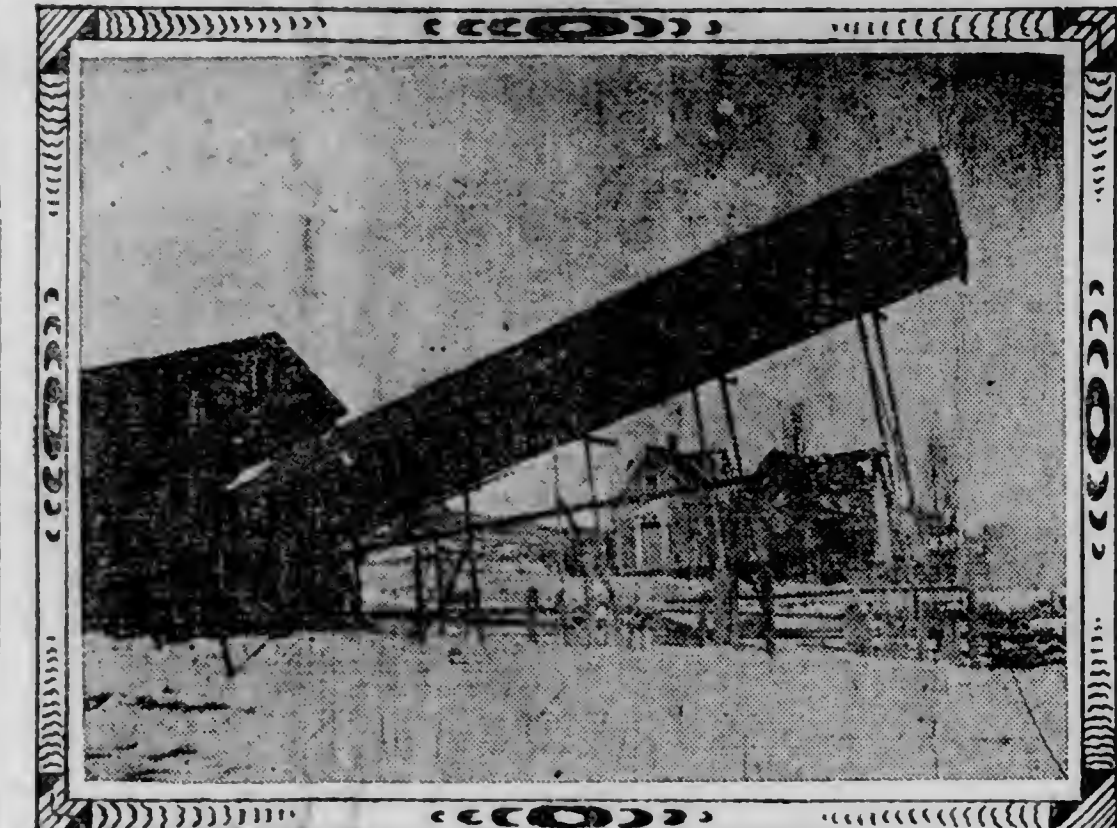

The feat which he is attempting is a difficult one, and he is attempting to accomplish it by degrees. The present height of the incline does not give him sufficient impetus to enable him to reach the top of the circle, and as yet he has not climbed higher than about three-quarters of the distance, when he falls back into the net which is placed in position to receive his body.

The net is operated by two of his friends. An opening is left through which he passes up the side of the loop, and it is then immediately closed after him, so that no possible injury can be sustained from a fall.

The chief difficulty which he has had up to the present time is that of retaining his balance. As he comes down the incline he is in a stooping position with his feet well under him. As he strikes the side of the loop the impetus would throw him on his face against the boards if he did not change his position. He must therefore throw out one foot well in front of him and lean his body backward. In this position he shoots up the side of the loop, the net is closed after him, and he falls back when his speed slackens sufficiently so that the force of gravitation is no longer overcome.

The skates used in his work are different from any ordinary skates. They have wheels about four inches in diameter, running on carefully oiled axles. The tires are of hard rubber, and they are firmly fastened to a pair of heavy leather shoes which are fitted with ankle supports. The skates were the invention of Mr. Proff himself.

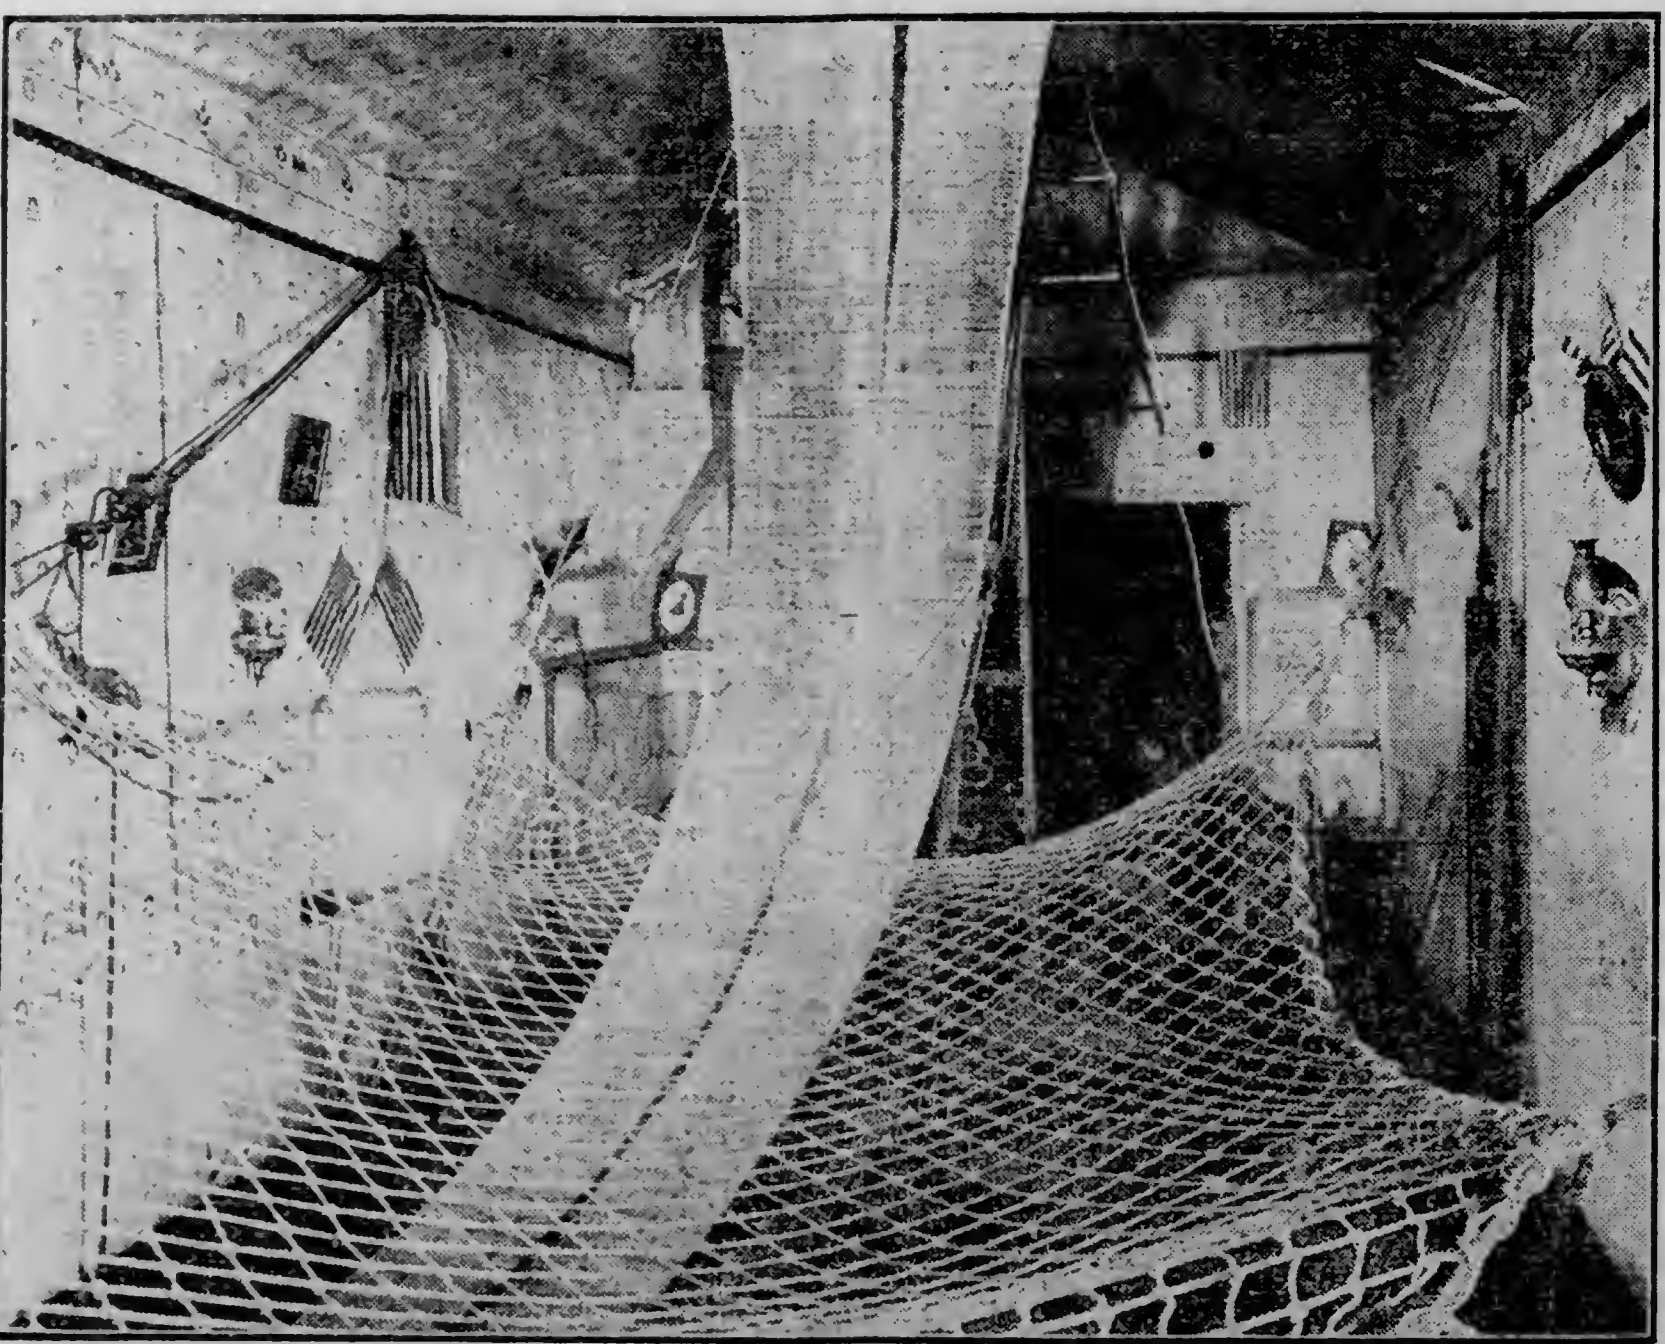

Mr. Proff first conceived the idea of attempting the feat last September. He erected the apparatus himself, and began practicing. By degrees he has become expert in the use of the skates, and he hopes before many weeks to be able to complete the circuit of the loop. He is taking no chances of injuring himself in the work, as the net is large enough to catch him wherever he falls. The practicing is all done in the evening. During the day Mr. Proff is employed by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, and he spends only his spare time in his attempts to loop the loop. His object in inventing his time and money in this manner is to accomplish a feat which will prove a "head-liner" for some circus, and if he is successful he will be able to secure a remunerative offer with such an organization. In fact he has already received considerable correspondence on the subject from circus managers, and he hopes to be able to deliver the goods by the time the circus companies start out on their spring tours.

MASSACHUSETTS' MODEL SCHOOL OF SEAMANSHIP

The Only Training Ship Maintained By An American Commonwealth—The Spirit of Old-Time Seafaring Not Extinct—Usefulness of Nautical School Limited By Lack of Merchant Marine.

Boston, Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A suggestion of the anomaly there is in giving to American boys adequate education for service in the American merchant marine when as a fact we haven't much of a marine any way appears in the annual report just made to the Massachusetts legislature by the commissioners of the state nautical training school. This board, composed of John Read, late U. S. N.; Robert B. Dixon, M.D., and N. M. Dyer, rear admiral, U. S. N. (retired), makes the statement:

Through its graduates the school is perpetuating to some extent that race of New England seamen whose skill and courageous work have done so much for the prosperity of the country in the past. In the promotion of a country's foreign commerce and in the maintenance of national honor abroad they are all important. The great advantage to a nation of men with a sea training has been well illustrated in the present Russo-Japanese war. The hundreds of competent and well-trained young men from this school, who are now serving in all parts of the world, can be called upon if they should be needed in the hour of the nation's peril."

It is evidently that is needed to add to the national usefulness of such an institution as the Massachusetts nautical training school is a larger fleet of American-manned ships, for the commerce carried almost exclusively by foreign ships, the institution, which is the only one of its kind maintained by an American state, though two cities, New York and Philadelphia, have similar training ships, has abundantly justified its right to exist. It was started in 1891 by an appropriation of $50,000 from the Massachusetts legislature, which has since then spent yearly sums for maintaining it, the ordinary appropriation being $50,000. The national government in 1892 took over the school, and the use of the school for the use of the navy was transferred to the navy department, which, in the war of 1812, captured the British sloop Boxer, off the coast of Maine.

The training ship, which is in charge of Commander William F. Lov, U. S. N., is moved during the winter term to North End Park, Boston, where it may be visited at proper hours every day. The regular appreciation in which it is held is shown by the immense numbers of applications for admission that come from every part of the United States—letters which prove that the old-time spirit of American boys is still very much alive. As the school is maintained by Massachusetts it is, of course, obviously impossible to consider the applications that are sent from other states. Candidates are expected to be between the ages of 16 and 20 years. They must be physically fitted for the sailor's life, of good character, have either a parent or guardian residing in Massachusetts, and possess an inclination for seafaring life, entering the school of their own free will. They must also have such an examination as would admit them to one of the high schools of the state.

Upon entering the school the cadet must provide himself with clothing, bedding, personal necessities and a few books, besides making a deposit of $40, for uniforms. During the first year, only $30 being required for this purpose the second year. He receives two years of instruction in industrial, obedient, resolute and able to bear labor, wet, cold and the various unavoidable privations of the seaman's calling, he will find himself sadly out of place. But, given these qualifications, an interesting opportunity opens to him.

The school year is divided into a winter term, beginning about Nov. 1 and ending about May 15, and a summer term lasting from May 15 to Nov. 1, including two weeks' leave from Oct. 15 to Nov. 1. During the summer term the ship makes a cruise in foreign or domestic waters. Thus last year the Enterprise sailed from Boston, June 26, with thirty-two cadets on board, and after touching at Provincetown, visited Fayal, Lisbon, Algiers, Gibraltar, Madeira, returning to her mooring place Oct. 2.

The course of study comprises seamanship, navigation, engineering, English, hygiene and electricity. The boys were formerly divided into a sea man and an engineer class, a distinction which has now been abolished, for it is supposed to turn out a graduate who is both a seaman and an engineer, qualified to serve as an officer in all times, save the engine room. The cadets learn while making the annual cruise to perform the duties in all stations aboard ship. The cadet's day, whether in winter or in summer, is a busy one. During the winter term recess is granted at 4 a. m., and from then to 10 p. m. the time is well filled up with study, drill and exercise. Sunday leave is given. When they are at sea, the hands are divided into the usual two watches, one of which must be on deck at all times, save the engine room watches while steaming. The sea duty is naturally much less to be done, and liberty parties are allowed ashore from 2 p. m. until the "sunset boat" takes them aboard again. Every cadet is over the masthead daily as a symmetrical exercise.

There is nothing mean about Massachusetts' manner of feeding her boys. In the first place, the ship's rules expressly state that "quantities are unrestricted, each cadet to have all he wishes to eat." Then the bill of fare is an excellent one, and the variety of plain, hearty food as applied could desire, and the meals are fully equal to those which the average American family in comfortable circumstances enjoys each day. Canned vegetables and meats are used only when fresh vegetables and fresh or salted meats are not available. Even at sea this dietary is adhered to as far as possible.

Discipline aboard the Enterprise is carried out in a special code, adapted to the conditions of the ship. The commissioners of the school, Gross and Read, are the disciplinarians, and every ship without exception, must obey their orders or leaving the lookout of a watch will be punished by being dismissed, but only on recommendation of a board of inquiry after approval of such recommendation by the commissioners. Inattention to studies, or at drill, failure to send in note or signal, lying, provocation, persistent neglect of regulations, or leaving the deck while on watch may be punished by confinement in the brig (the ship's prison) on bread and water, not to exceed three days.

At graduation the cadet receives a certificate and diploma showing his character and qualifications. The commissioners are always glad to render aid to these young men in securing positions. The law compelling substituted teachers to carry one cadet for every 100 tons burden provides many of them with employment. It appears from the records that about two-thirds of those passing through the school continue to follow the sea. Of 40 graduates of ex-cadets only 75 had obtained employment on shore, and expected to be between the ages of 16 and 20 years. They must be physically fitted for the sailor's life, of good character, have either a parent or guardian residing in Massachusetts, and possess an inclination for seafaring life, entering the school of their own free will. They must also have such an examination as would admit them to one of the high schools of the state.

Upon entering the school the cadet must provide himself with clothing, bedding, personal necessities and a few books, besides making a deposit of $40, for uniforms. During the first year, only $30 being required for this purpose the second year. He receives two years of instruction in industrial, obedient, resolute and able to bear labor, wet, cold and the various unavoidable privations of the seaman's calling, he will find himself sadly out of place. FINNS IN THE
UNITED STATES

Emigrants Whose Salvation Has Been Their Return To The Soil.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says: Those in the United States most interested in the recent proclamation of the czar of Russia are the Finns, whose numbers in this country now exceed 200,000, and who reside in large numbers in Ashabula, O.

I have just had an interview with August Edwards, of Ashabula, editor and proprietor of the American Sanomat—one of the leading Finnish newspapers in America. Mr. Edwards is a recognized leader among his countrymen in the United States and is regarded as a conservative authority on subjects pertaining to Finland. He believes the years have been hard on the past through such men as the late Governor General Bobrikoff and that from now on the Finns will fare better at the hands of Russia than in the past.

Finnish immigration to the United States has been about 200,000 persons, and this showed an increase over the year before. Many young men have come to the United States from Finland since the edict providing for the drafting of Finns into the Russian army for a term of years. This edict has probably affected the entire populace more than any other. Aside from this the hand of Russia is felt more particularly in official circles.

The salvation of the Finns in the United States has been that they have not crowded about the great cities and centers of population, but have quickly found their sphere of labor and have gone to work. Great numbers of them have taken up farms in the Northwest and are making a success of them. Mr. Edwards declares that there is more energy and ambition displayed among the Finns of the United States than in the motherland. He also says that the tendency of the people toward self-improvement is more marked in this country and there are more Finnish newspapers published in this country in proportion to the Finnish population than in Finland. One Finnish college flourishes at Hancock, Mich., and another has recently been established near Duluth, Minn. It is difficult to find a settlement of even fifty Finns in the United States where there is not a church. While other nationalities, such as the Italians and Poles, swarm to the large cities, the Finns and Swedes have gone back to the country in these instances, they are not huddled together in a large city.

In Ashabula the Finnish people take an active interest in public questions. Finns have been elected to the city council in both Ashabula and Conneaut.

The Silmy Veils for BEAUTY'S FACE

The Newest in Chiffon Veilings.

Physicians may deary the veil, and oculists encourage the fashion to their much profit, but just so long as fair femininity even imagines that she looks her most bewitching best in a veil, just so long will the fashion endure, and no longer.

The alleged evils of the veil have been pointed out many a time and oft, but if ever there was an excuse for its presence, to say nothing of its utility, it is surely in those windy days with which old Dame Nature visits in the spring and the early summer seasons.

So long as the waved and frizzed pompadour was in vogue we told ourselves that it was to keep those curly locks in order that we chiefly wore a veil. Now, however, that the fashion has switched around to wearing the locks as natured, we find that the necessity for keeping all of those straight ends from flying out untidily is greater than ever. And so, no matter what the fashion in coiffures, in hats and in hair may be, the veil flourishes regardless, as Mrs. Partington used to say.

One hears a lot about the entire designs that are to be the vogue in veiling, and surely some of the recent schemes that have come over from Paris with the first influx of the spring hats deserve this not very alluring title. There are brown meshes, coarse and fine, apart, thickly bestrawed with blue, bright green chenille dots. There are all of the red and raspberry tints, with dots of matching and contrasting shades, and there are some purple veils with chenille discs and deep borders of artificial violets of the double variety. Surely caprice could go no further than this last. Its effect against the complexion would be simply horrific, and turn even the daintiest of rose-lip coloring to a positively appallingly hue.

But the well-known woman will none of these monstrosities. Doubtless, they are imported for those who require just a touch of the bizarre to bring out the best points of their own individuality. But the average woman will do well to steer clear of them, and stick to the more conservative designs, which are in better accord with good taste in dress.

The shops that cater to the finest trade and always have their goods on view several weeks before their due season for wear, are showing some veiling designs that are positively fascinating, both in design and in effect. The fine and sheer blond nets are among the most recent novelties, and these have rings and pin dots for pattern. The range in these is wide, the pattern being either medium-sized and well scattered or small and close together.

The bordered veils—those of the made or pattern variety—are to be highly favored of Fashion's devotees, and with all sorts and shapes of hats, the latest craze lets those veils stand well down and off from the face, being so draped on the hat that the design, and especially the border, is seen to the best advantage. The back is gathered into a pleat or two, and jeweled or fancy pins are relied to hold it in shape. A little clasp pin sometimes holds the veil to the hair behind, and this is especially noticeable when the coiffure is arranged with the little French rolls running upward from the nape of the neck, or the classical roll coil is used.

The real lace veils have already made something of a sensation at the Southern resorts, and of these the Spanish and the Chantilly laces are far in the lead. The Marquesas is a new aspirant for veiling favor, and Brussels applique is patronized by those to whom expense is no object when exclusiveness is to be attained.

Limerick lace is a recent revival for veils, and the fact that one of the British princesses has chosen this for her wedding veil will, doubtless, give this web a cachet among those who follow every new fad of fashion. The disfiguring patterns that were so prominent last season are to be conspicuous by their absence and a more rational and sight-saving mode will maintain.

What were once known generically as automobile veils are now divided into storm veils and auto veils, and there is a very distinct difference marked between the two. The chiffon veil in a two-yard length is used for the storm veil. There is a little ring of feather bone or elastic on top to which the veil is shirred, and the long ends are intended to be drawn around the throat and afford further protection from the weather.

The new auto veil is provided with little mica "wind-up-pieces," and it is the presence or absence of these which differentiates the storm from the auto veil. The autist objected to having her machine used as an excuse for the veiling by those who not only never set foot in a machine, but never even expected to regulate auto device of mica "eyes."

It is predicted that by the year 2000 from 200 to 300 new foods will be at man's service.

Novel Veil In Blond Net

The so-called pattern or made veils are to be one of the leading features of the millinery accessories for the early spring season, and already the importing shops are showing some fascinating patterns in these. The fine and sheer blond nets are shown in all of the modish colorings, and in brown and black are especially favored. The body of the net is closely sprinkled with a tiny ring or pin dot, and the border is as simple or as elaborate as the taste may dictate or the purse afford. These veils are meant to be so draped as to display the pattern to best advantage, and are seen at their best with the broad-brimmed hats, which permit the veil to stand well off from the face. An excellent suggestion, as to its adjustment, is afforded in the illustration, fancy pins being employed to hold the loose folds to the back of the hat.

The Between-Season Wraps. Some Novelties and Some Stand-Bys For the First of the Spring Days.

It is the between-season time that falls hardest upon the average wardrobe. The extreme cold of winter has vanished, but the sun is simply no end to the elaboration that is lavished upon these long and loose coats that were originally introduced as carriage and evening coats, but which have made such a furore for themselves that they are adopted and adapted for almost any time and all occasions.

The clever wools production in these are trimmed with a variety of materials, some of them seemingly contradictory to combination; and yet so cunningly are they manipulated that the effect is adjudged excellent.

In the plainer productions fine braids of varying widths, quilled ribbons, velvet revers and strapings are relied upon for cachet and style. But in those intended rather for afternoon and evening wear laces of many weaves, silk and velvet rubings, braids of intricate pattern and large effects generally are aimed for. Because of their extreme voluminousness these coats are preferably in full, or at least ankle, length, and anything shorter than this would simply cut off even the tallest figure to such a degree that the appearance would savor somewhat of the absurd.

Quite an appreciable amount of attention is lavished upon the shoulder section of these smart coats. They are nearly all of them planned with a yoke, round, square or pointed, and every effort is then made to cover up this yoke with trimming. The sleeves are large correct cut and finish, for just one-half that sum. Needless to say which house got the order.

Quite an appreciable amount of attention is lavished upon the shoulder section of these smart coats. They are nearly all of them planned with a yoke, round, square or pointed, and every effort is then made to cover up this yoke with trimming. The sleeves are large and voluminous, in many instances partaking rather of the nature of capes than of sleeves, and featherbone cording is resorted to to make the part over the hands maintain the shape and roundness.

These little pelerines that are finished with long ends back and front are now taking sleeves to themselves as an added attraction. The back is shaped like that of a coat, a long slash or postilion making its appearance below the waist, and sometimes both are used. The fronts are similar to the backs in shape, while that part over the arm is filled in with a cape sleeve, or with a sleeve proper beneath a cape, and the whole is made merely a foundation for a perfect riot of chiffon frills, pleated and ruffled until one imagines that they must be measured by the mile rather than the yard.

Cousin german to these fascinating little wraps are the novel dolman shapes. These follow the old-time dolmans, but in their resurrection to fashionable favor quite a few new features and ideas have been added. The cape sleeve portion is far fuller than the dress-makers and mantua-makers of old dreamed of making them, and rubings, quillings, pleating and the like are used with a lavish hand for trimmings. The usual length is half way to the knee, and sometimes a clever vest effect is introduced with a note of color contrast. The younger section of society has taken hugely to this new shape for evening wraps, and chiffon velvets and velveteens, brocades, peau de sole in delicate tints and the chiffon broad-bodies are now made with close-fitting foundations. Sleeves are wider and very much fuller from the shoulder to just below the elbow; the forearm is closely fitting to the wrist. Dresses intended for smart wear are made with leg-of-mutton shape sleeves, and the upper part of a gown must correspond with the shoulders in width. Pelerine skirts are coming in favor again; very little trimming is being used, and the seams are sometimes covered with braid or lapped and machined down each side; this latter style is principally confined to cloth dresses.

Muriel—Her train is rather skimpy, isn't it?
Myrella—Yes; I guess it's one of those limited trains that you see advertised.

New Veilings and Wraps.

Novelties In Materials.

NOVEL WRAP IN PEAU DE SOIE.

These little wraps of the "throw-on" order are the acme of style at the southern French resorts. Many of them approach the dolman in cut, and of such kind is the illustration. The back is semicircular, the loose and floating sleeves of the cape or dolman order, and the fronts left entirely loose, hanging without break from throat to hem. Black lace is planted, edged with a yellowish valenencien, and posed over a somewhat coarse broderie anglaise in ecru tulle. This clever combination is used on the fronts and sleeves, and rows of a handsome black silk braid are liberally used for further trimming effect.

THE NEWEST IN CHIFFON VEILINGS.

The chiffon veil is really a good standby for the woman whose expenditures for those dainty, little items of the toilet—little, but somewhat costly—is limited. Of these the latest is the made veil, in a very sheer chiffon, which has, nevertheless, sufficient body to it to keep it from getting sleazy and crumpled after one or two wearings. The depth is usually about 18 inches, and the length a yard and a quarter, so that they may be worn with quite a goodly-sized hat. The end and both sides of the back are embroidered in a running chain stitch pattern, the edge being scalloped and thickly button-holed to give some stability to the sheer fabric.

A RECENT AUTO VEIL.

The veils for auto wear are to be seen in all the costume colorings, including all of the popular raspberry and green shades, as well as the more staple browns and greys, navies and blacks. A large embroidered coin sun is one of the most recent developments in these, sometimes in a matching and sometimes in a contrasting color. The best of them are two and two-and-a-half yards long, some of them running even to three yards in length, this making a very comfortable neck scarf as well as a veil for use when the stormy winds do blow. All four edges of the veil are hemstitched, and the top is shirred to an elastic band that is fastened around the crown of the hat, a second elastic shirring encircling the throat and making the veil cover up the entire face. This serves as a protection to the ears, and the coiffure as well as to the hat and face; and in the sheer qualities is sufficiently transparent not to interfere, in the least with sight and ventilation.

CARRIAGE COAT FOR AFTERNOON AND EVENING WEAR.

The long and loose coats are deservedly favorites for dress wear, for in their present stage of elaboration they present a decidedly grande tenue appearance in themselves, and, in addition, they are so constructed that they may be worn over the fussiest of frocks and sleeves, and, so loose are they, they will not crush or crumple a single item of the gown. A chiffon broadcloth makes the body of the garment, the color a nearly gray, and two kind of lace, silk rubbing and embroidered tulle, are used for trimming. The sleeves are combined with the most artistic effect. There is a round yoke over the shoulders trimmed with lace and velvet, and in this the coat is applied down the fold the lapels of velvet, and below the bust and finished with a convoluted net lace. Rather a coarse shawl is used for hanging, each edge defined with rubings, and is applied around the edge of the coat, running up and down the side seams. The sleeve is loose and full with a wide cuff of ecru lace having a full of the fine lace inserted in the back seam.

FOR SOUTHERN WEAR.

The extreme of frills and fluffiness is exemplified in this dainty conception intended for Southern wear. In character and design it is one of the new sleeved pelerines with a muff on sash. White chiffon tulle makes the foundation, and plisse ruched chiffon in deep frills is used lavishly for trimming effect. The princess bodice in the yoke, the back that extends to the waistline, and the loose stole fronts. The sleeves are entirely covered with plisse frills, and end at the elbow. The muff is one of the flat shapes, with a stiffened lining, the foundation in tulle, the plisse frills cleverly disposed, and a bunch of little passementerie ornaments of white silk cord minutely touched up with black chenille decorates the muff and appear also on the front of the pelerine.

Latest Fashion Fancies.

There are many alterations in the style and shape of this season's dresses, both for day and evening wear, the prevalent idea being to display the outlines of the figure to the best advantage, and for this season all houses and bodices are now made with close-fitting foundations. Sleeves are wider and very much fuller from the shoulder to just below the elbow; the forearm is closely fitting to the wrist. Dresses intended for smart wear are made with leg-of-mutton shape sleeves, and the upper part of a gown must correspond with the shoulders in width. Pelerine skirts are coming in favor again; very little trimming is being used, and the seams are sometimes covered with braid or lapped and machined down each side; this latter style is principally confined to cloth dresses.

THE UNITED STATES SHIP FERN

Vessel That Will Probably Be Assigned As Training Ship For the Naval Militia At Duluth.

The United States ship tender Fern, which there is good reason to expect will be ordered by the secretary of the navy to Duluth this coming season, to serve as a training ship for the two divisions of the naval reserves stationed here, is now in dry dock at Newport News, Va., where a naval board appointed by the secretary of the navy, is examining her.

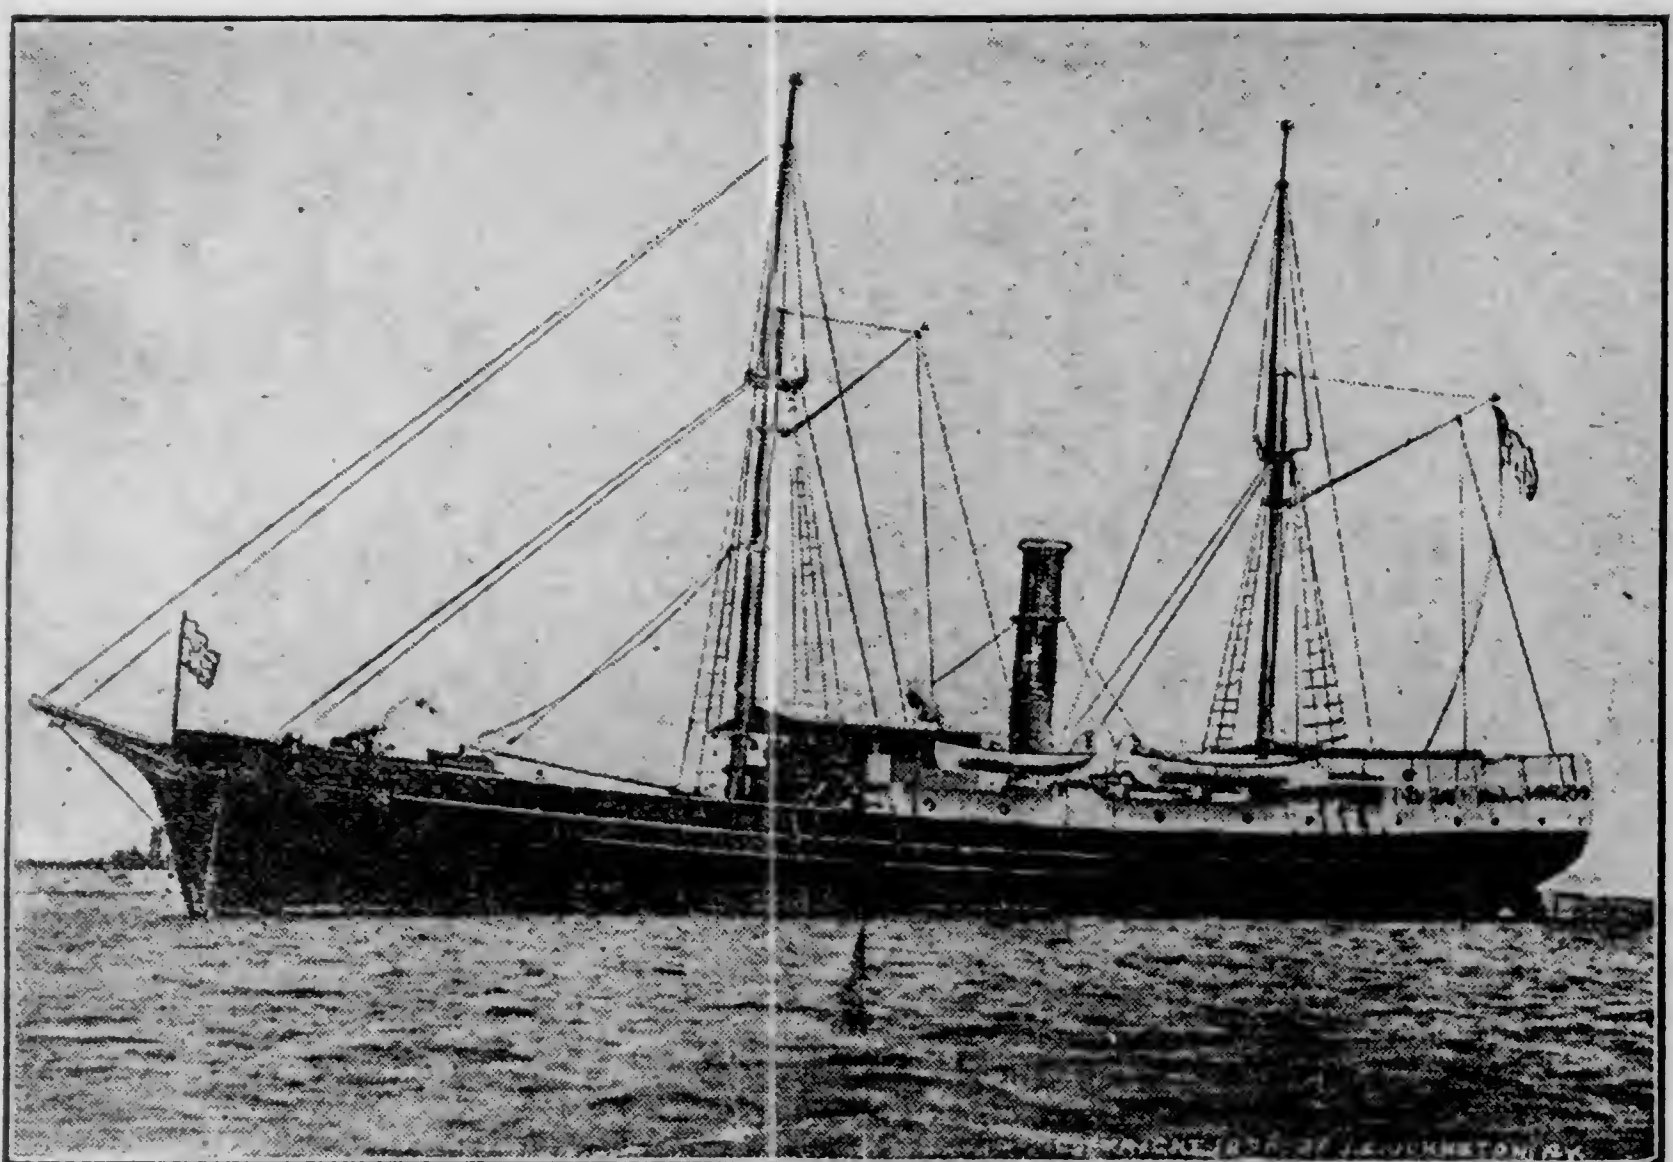

If the board reports the Fern fit for use and entirely satisfactory, she is to be sent to Duluth after a certain amount of overhauling and repair work is accomplished. If the Fern is assigned to Duluth, a picked body of the local reserves will go to Newport News and bring the steamer to the head of the Lakes by way of the Atlantic coast, the St. Lawrence river and the great lakes.

For the past five years the Fern has been doing duty as a training ship for the naval reserves at Washington, D. C. This little steamer has come into notoriety since the Maine explosion, not by reason of any fighting power, for this she does not possess, but because of the merciful uses to which she was placed in conveying supplies to the starving Cubans. Tales of horrible deprivation, to which non-combatants in the unhappy island were subjected by the order compelling them to concentrate in cities garrisoned by Spanish troops, so moved the hearts of compassionate Americans that there was one common impulse to relieve the wide prevailing hunger which existed.

Congress made an appropriation of $50,000 to help feed the starving reconsigned to Consul General Lee, at Havana, for distribution at points in Cuba where such relief was most urgently needed. The government provided the supplies by assigning the Fern to this service. The government provided the supplies by assigning the Fern to this service. The government provided the supplies by assigning the Fern to this service.

THE FERN, TRAINING SHIP WHICH NAVAL RESERVES ARE ANXIOUS TO SECURE FOR DULUTH.

KILLED IN MINE.

Boy Skip-Tender Meets Death at Commodore.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 4.—Axel Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Erickson, of Suruce street, was killed at the Commodore mine at about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. He was caught beneath the skip and his head crushed.

The boy was skip-tender at the mine. It seems he had been across the skip road to ring the bell, the signal for lowering and hoisting, and while recrossing his foot slipped, precipitating him to the bottom of the roadway, where he was caught by the down-coming car before being able to get out of the way.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Thomas Donahue Meets Death in Hibbing Yards.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 4.—Thomas Donahue, a brakeman on the Mississippi road, was almost instantly killed in the yards here at 6:15 o'clock last night by being knocked off a carload of logs on which he was riding, and thrown under the train. He was 27 years old, and leaves a wife and one child. One car passed over his body. The right hip was crushed and the left leg from the knee downward badly mangled. He died within five minutes after the accident as a result of internal injuries and the severe nervous shock Donahue was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Captain Angelo, Italian, 26 years old, was killed at the Rust mine Thursday night. He was employed about the timber shaft and was struck in the back by a heavy plank. His back was broken and he lived but a short time after the accident. The funeral will occur Sunday.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

George H. Wood, an iron worker, surrendered himself to the New York police. He was taken to police headquarters where he is held on suspicion in connection with the murder of George William, near Plainfield, N. J.

The ice boat Annapolis left to rescue a number of oystermen who have been icebound for two weeks off Deale island, the Chesapeake bay. Friday night the Annapolis was icebound ten miles from the oystermen, who are said to be in a starving condition.

Edwin White, 1906, of St. Paul, Minn., was elected president of the Yale football association for 1906 and F. C. Daniels, of St. Paul, Minn., secretary.

Phil King, the old Princeton star and famous Wisconsin football coach, will direct the work of the Wisconsin football team next year. He was chosen for the position at a meeting of the athletic board. The board also named James Temple, a West Point man, as coach of the track team.

A challenge for the lawn tennis championship of the world is to be sent in the near future to the English Lawn Tennis association by the United States Lawn Tennis association. This was decided on at the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the association.

George Stratton, a recently widowed man, was shot and killed in a lodging house at New York City. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and was a member of the police force. He was shot by a woman who had just been released from the police station.

The Illinois Trust and Savings bank paid out $1,000,000 to Chicago City Railway shareholders. The money was in payment for stock deposited under the offer of a syndicate formed to re-organize the street car system of Chicago.

The time the bank opened until the closing hour a long line of city railway stockholders stood at the window of the paying teller.

The carriage was used by Mr. Sherman during the larger portion of his public career in Washington, and has carried most of the presidents for half a century, as well as other noted people of this country and visiting princes and potentates.

After the death of Mr. Sherman it was secured by a local livery firm and has since been put to menial service. The carriage was used by the Sherman family as the funeral coach at the funeral of William McKinley, Marcus Hanna, William Day and George Cortelyou in the funeral procession.

The carriage is in good condition and is not valued highly by its present owners.

CONVICT RELEASED. St. Paul, Feb. 4.—Alfred Goucher, a convict in the state penitentiary, accused of murder in San Francisco, was released yesterday to the California authorities by the state board of pardons. Charles H. Caplan, Angelo, Italian, 26 years old, was killed at the Rust mine Thursday night. He was employed about the

FAIR SCHOOLMA'AMS Disdain to Scrub and Do Janitor Work.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 4.—State School Commissioner Jones has been advised by S. R. Booher, clerk of the Dundee (Dundee) county board of education, that the teachers are a strike. He wants to know what shall be done with the fractious schoolma'ams.

Clerk Booher says the teachers will not continue their work because the board wants them to do janitor work, and they refuse to soil their hands washing windows and scrubbing.

School Commissioner Jones sympathies are wholly with the teachers. He takes it for granted that they are handsome and lovely, but whether they are or not the strike will not be of long duration, for the commissioner points out section 407 of the new school code that provides that teachers cannot be hired by the day, as is being done in Dundee, but that the contracts must be for the entire school year.

Again he calls the board's attention to the section following, which says that teachers shall not do janitor work, unless paid extra for it. The department is of the opinion that the board in Dundee, and that there are reasons to believe that it is not carrying out the letter of the law as laid down in the code.

NOTED SWINDLER Wanted in Many Cities Captured in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Feb. 4.—W. D. Sharp, captured here and identified by the Bertillon system by the police of many cities, the best-known swindlers in America, is wanted in many cities. It is said he obtained more than $100,000 in swindled checks in Hot Springs, Ark., and there are reports that he has been in New Orleans, St. Augustine, Fla., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Sharp came to Indianapolis about two weeks ago, and was arrested on a charge of attempting to defraud Levy Bros., printers. He was accompanied by Mrs. Lulu Owens, of Birmingham, Ala., to whom he had been married in New Orleans. The woman was released and Sharp is held in $500 bonds.

Before put in an order for $3000 worth of printing for a banking house at McLeansville, Mo., Sharp was charged with the son of the banker. He will probably be taken to Chattanooga, where it is charged that he raised $20 on bad paper.

"Oh, yes," he replied, "you newspaper fellows generally get hold of things, anyway, so I might as well tell you and keep on the safe side of the power of the press."

"I was speaking of my old friend Jim Miller, who is the same fellow that skinned these little boys down at McLeansville, Mo., and there are reports that he has been in New Orleans, St. Augustine, Fla., and Chattanooga, Tenn."

OUR YOUNG FOLKS CORNER

The Second Time Tim Was Drowned

BY CHARLES LINCOLN PHIFER.

It wasn't a fog that overhung the earth, but a kind of a smoky gray, giving an unusual appearance to everything. It wasn't very cold for winter. It wasn't snowing, yet looked like it was going to. And skating was fine out at the Dollar Hole.

The Dollar Hole was a mile and a half east of town, and, paraphrasing from the earliest poet: "It lay by a hut by the side of the road and was a friend to men." Little men, especially. The boys went swimming there in summer and skating there in winter, and the uncoupled hut was used as a dressing-room, when it was warm and a place to warm when it was cold. In the winter the boys kept an old stove in the hut, and it was an unexciting law, seldom violated, that every skater should gather an armful of fagots ere he left the pond, so that everyone might have a chance to warm his fingers and ears when occasion offered.

Why was it called the Dollar Hole? I don't know, unless it was because the man who dug it had so much sense (cents). Is that not a good reason? No one I ever saw could give a better one for this peculiar name.

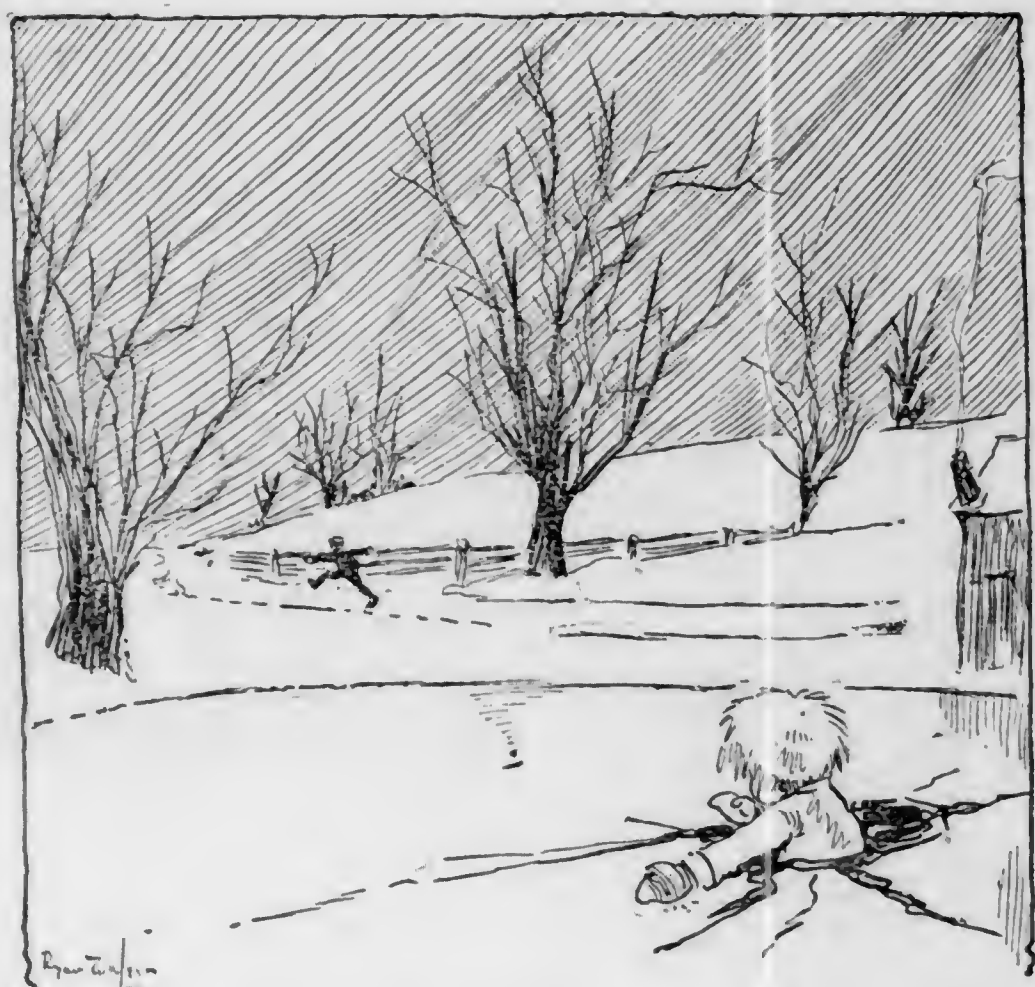

On the winter day of which I tell Tim Robinson and Oliver Olcott trudged from town, with skates slung over their shoulders, for the purpose of enjoying a half-holiday from school in the healthful sport of skating. On arriving at the hut, though eager to begin at once, they dared not violate tradition, and so built a fire before trying on their skates.

"Seems a little soft," remarked Oliver, referring to the ice.

"Oh, it's all right. It's in dandy shape, I think," answered his companion, strikvain. He glanced back at the pond, but there was no sign of Tim visible. It seemed to him a long time since he went under, though in reality it was only a few moments, and he was sure Tim must be already dead. Then a panic seized him, and, like many another person who meant to be heroic, but under pressure became a coward, he turned wide-eyed toward town, running as though pursued by the spirit of his drowning friend, stopping not until almost exhausted, and even then staggering on.

Meanwhile Tim, under the water, remained cool. Perhaps the icy bath was conducive to that result. He was an expert swimmer, and consequently was not thrown into confusion by being under water. His feet touched bottom and he straightened up, or tried to, but there was a wall above him which would not permit him to stand erect. He knew at once that he was under the unbroken ice, and rapidly reasoned that he could probably break the ice quicker than he could find the hole into which he plunged. He put his shoulders against it and straightened himself up with all his force. The back muscles were powerful, the ice was already weakened by breakage, and with a crash it broke again, letting his head out of the water. With one hand he wiped the dripping water from his eyes and face and had a momentary vision of Oliver racing down the road. But he had no time to lose, for already he was shivering. Bracing himself for a spring and aiding himself with his arms, he bounced almost on top of the ice, and in a few moments was out and making for the hut.

ing out along the edge of the pond.

Oliver followed, and they made two or three rounds of the pond, warning up to the sport and thoroughly enjoying it. At length Tim made a dash straight across the pond. Oliver was a little afraid of the condition of the ice and hesitated about following him. As Tim neared the center of the hole there was a rending sound and the ice began cracking around him.

"Tim! Tim! come back, Tim!" shouted Oliver.

But Tim knew that his only safety lay in speed, and so kept right on to his fullest power. Suddenly the ice gave away beneath him and down he went in the cold waters, down, out of sight. Oliver glanced at the bank in the hope of finding a board or rail with which to rescue his companion. He had no idea of deserting him, and in a flash there passed through his head the thought of becoming a hero, and being hailed with praise all over the town. But, alas! he could see nothing with which he might extend help to the unfortunate boy, and to go too close to the break in the ice was only to endanger his own life.

Knowing that something must be done without delay, if it was done at all, Oliver rushed to the shore searching rapidly with his eye for a pole, but in

The fire had not died down much, and with a little feeding soon made the room warm, enabling him to become comfortable and dry himself. He took off much of his clothing, wrung it out well and hung or held it so it would dry, and the room was filled with steam from the drying garments.

Dr. Hickman was galloping down the road from town on his way to see a patient in the country, when he met Oliver, fairly staggering, and wheezing so he could be heard five rods away.

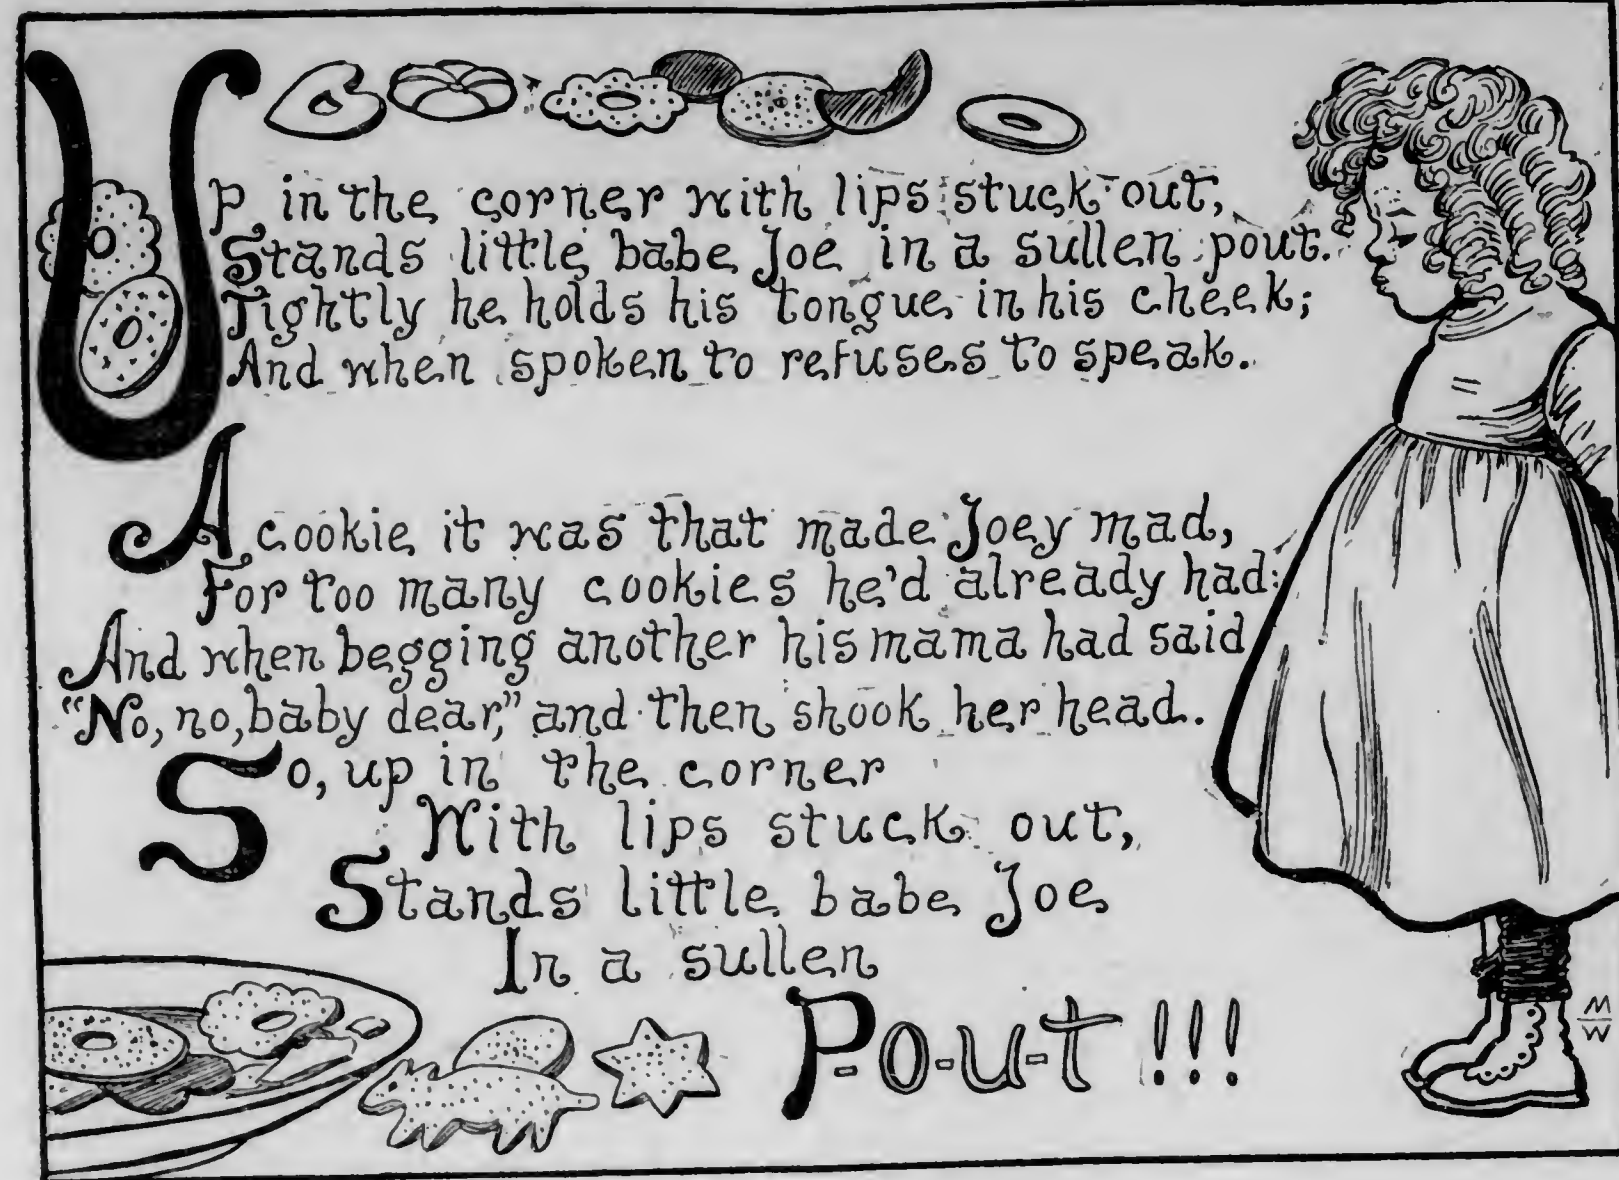

"What's wrong, my boy?" the physician asked, drawing rein.

"Oh, Tim is drowned—Tim Robinson—drowned in the Dollar Hole," panted the frightened youth.

"All right; I will go and see if I can save him," exclaimed the Doctor. "But, young man, calm down. Don't run any more. That won't help matters; only make you sick. See you mind me; go slow and all will be well."

With this he was off, and Oliver, catching a ray of hope, recovered some what from his panic as he now walked toward town.

A few minutes later Doctor Hickman swung from his saddle at the Dollar Hole, threw the bridle over a post in front of the hut and glanced at the pond. He saw the broken ice; he noticed

The Vanishing World.

BY "PUSH."

Walter Wayland was not very big. Perhaps he was not as big as people thought himself to be. So many people are that way. You see, he was only five years old, and you can't expect a boy of that age to be as large as an elephant.

But the world was very big. Walter did not always think it was, but he learned better one day. I will tell you how he came to know. When he was still smaller than he was at that time he looked up at the sky and saw the stars and the moon, and he saw the world was directly in the center of the world; then he turned slowly around and looked straight before him in every direction, and he saw the land come to an end on every side, while the sky bent down and cut it in two like a big cup. So he thought the world could not be very large. But one day his parents drove with him to a village several hours away, and when Walter beheld the sky recede away, as they went, while week and more of the earth came into view. When they stopped Walter looked up and they were still in the very center of the earth. He knew by this the world must be very large, indeed.

It seemed to him, too, to be a good deal bigger after dark. He could see the stars then, and there were so many strange sounds that he knew there must be many wonderful things which he could not see. No child like to be told about fairies and hobgoblins; he just knows about them for himself, just by "feeling." Walter was so sure about it that he was afraid to go out alone after dark. He was a little of the children who are the same way. But all this I am telling you about happened a good he heard them utter commonplace remarks, he learned of questionable things some of them did, and the greatness of the great seemed to dwindle before his eyes, until, in many cases, it entirely disappeared, while with all it diminished like snow before the sunshine.

Then, when Walter went into business, every day he glanced at the paper, and thus had a general glimpse of the whole world; he entered into touch with many at a distance by mail and telegraph, and he came to consider it a matter of course to talk with a friend or business acquaintance a mile, or even many miles away. Sometimes he would get on the cars, go to bed, and awaken several hundred miles from where he went to sleep. One day he was sitting at the table with his wife—yes, he was married then, though as he looked back the length of the years appeared to vanish as it seemed to him it was only a little while since he was the five-year-old boy first noticing that the heaven was domed directly above him—Walter said to his companion:

"Did you ever think, my dear, from how far we draw our supplies? Here on the table is coffee from Brazil, rice from China, sugar from the South and raisins from California, table linen from the East, cutlery from England and china-ware from Germany."

"Distance," said the wife, "is vanishing in these wonderful days," returned the wife. "The world is not very large any more."

In his business relations Walter came upon many difficulties which he did not know how to overcome. As he approached some of them they melted away and he marvelled at it. More than once he was reminded of the lions in the path of the Pilgrims' progress, which, on being approached, were found to be chained. Though often worried, he managed to pass all that impeded his way, and now, as he looked back at them, they were gone—all vanished away.

Walter had children, and it seemed to him the years passed more rapidly than they used to. It was not now a very long time from Christmas to Christmas. Almost before he knew it his babe was no longer with him. In its place there was a flaxen-haired schoolgirl; but the babe was never to be found. In like manner his boy in kilts was gone before he realized it, and all that remained was a tall youth who answered to the same name.

Walter returned for a visit to the home of his parents. There was the old schoolhouse and the brook, where he had played in childhood; but the brook and the hills were smaller than he supposed. He asked of his old playmates. This one was in a far land, this was Judge Somebody, another was dead, a third had been captured by the natives in a foreign war. In the town where he was born and had been reared most of the people were strangers to him. Many of the houses that were once familiar had been replaced by new ones. The trees were bigger than they used to be. He began counting over the friends he had known who had passed the change called death, and was astonished to find that he had nearly as many acquaintances on the other side as remained on this. The world he had known had almost vanished away.

"How time flies! How life goes from us!" he exclaimed.

Yet I don't know as to that. Life and time and love and good were with him yet, and it was what he had once thought realities that had become shadows. The years had become transparent to him, and through them he could see a little boy of five pondering on why the moon seemed to follow him as he walked, and why the horizon vanished before him. He could once more see those he had known of old—the house about which were woven so many glorifying dreams, the school, now haled, for him, with memory pictures, and the faces, oh, the faces! Yes, and the smiles. They too, came to him now, together with Santa Claus and "Robinson Crusoe," and "Sindbad the Sailor" and "Aladdin" and the children of wonderful old "Mother Goose." He had thought them gone, but here they were once more. Perhaps they would vanish again, as they had vanished before, as the great world itself must some day vanish to the soul breaking from the prison of the senses, and then they were real. He had learned that, and now he was sure that he had thought them unreal, and now they were real. And Walter was reminded of the words of the Scriptures:

"We look not at the things that are seen, but at the things that are unseen; for the things which are seen are only for a time (temporal), but the things which are not seen are eternal."

Minnie, The Little Potato Cutter.

BY MAUD WALKER.

"Mamma, please give me three big, raw potatoes," begged 10-year-old Minnie Strong, as she watched her mother peeling potatoes to cook for dinner.

"Why, what can my little daughter want with three big, raw potatoes?" asked Mrs. Strong, stopping work long enough to kiss her little girl's cheek, which was temptingly near her own. "Wouldn't she prefer to wait and have them cooked, soft and mealy? I fear they would prove rather indigestible diet as they are—raw, oh, my!"

"But I don't wish to eat 'em, mamma," protested Minnie. "Still, I don't want you to ask me what I intend to do with 'em, please, for that is a secret. But I shall show you after while, honest Injun, I will; something that will make you and papa both laugh. May I have 'em?"

For answer Mrs. Strong picked out three large, smooth potatoes and handed them to her little girl, smiling indulgently as she did so. Minnie took them in her apron and ran up stairs to her own room, closing and locking the door, so that no one might intrude on her privacy. Several times before the dinner hour Mrs. Strong crept on tiptoe to Minnie's room door, where she listened quietly; but not a sound from within did she hear, and she withdrew as cautiously as she had come, for she did not wish to disturb her little daughter, who she knew must be very intent on some work, as to be silent meant to be busy with Minnie.

When the dinner was all on the table Mrs. Strong stepped to the foot of the stairs and called to her little daughter. "Has papa come?" asked Minnie, bending a pink and excited little face over the banister.

"Yes, little fairy, your old dad's here," came her father's cheery voice, as he came from the dining-room and held out his arms to catch Minnie should she

I used my manhandling set to do the work with. Then I had an old penknife of papa's to do the peeling with."

As Minnie spoke her eyes beamed with pleasure and her heart beat high with the pride of her achievement.

"Now," she continued, "since I've shown you I can do something with a potato, besides eating it, I'm going to ask papa to get me some modeling clay and a set of tools. Clay figures can be burned-baked in a kiln, you know—and will keep and keep."

"Why, what's the matter with baking these?" queried Mr. Strong, slyly winking at Mrs. Strong.

"Then you'd be in baked potato," retorted Minnie quickly; "and next thing your huge appetite would put the baked potato in you. No," and she shook her curly head wisely, "I couldn't trust you in baked potato, for you'd eat yourself up. The only safe way is to put you in clay."

"Now, listen to the child!" cried jolly Mr. Strong, laughing at his little girl's quick wit till his sides shook. "Put her father in clay! Ridiculous!" "And burn him into the bargain," laughed Mrs. Strong, enjoying the joke as thoroughly as did Minnie and Mr. Strong.

Minnie came in bearing two objects carefully covered over with bits of white cloth.

slip down the banister, for that was Minnie's usual manner of descending the stairs when her papa stood at the foot to catch her.

"I'm going to walk down this time, papa," Minnie informed her father, in a very dignified tone. "You and mamma please go in to dinner and sit down. I'll join you in a minute."

True to her word, scarcely had Mr. and Mrs. Strong seated themselves at the table when Minnie came in, bearing two objects carefully covered over with bits of white cloth. One of these she placed beside her father's plate, the other at her mother's.

"Well, and behold your sculptured busts!" she demanded, stepping back and folding her little arms behind her with an assumed professional air.

Simultaneously Mr. and Mrs. Strong removed the cloth coverings and beheld two very cleverly cut-out potato busts themselves.

"Well, well, I declare! This is great art!" exclaimed Mr. Strong. "Why, our little girl is an artist. Just look—me exactly, even to the wart on my chin. It's perfect!"

"What's the perfect, papa, the wart or the likeness?" asked Minnie, laughing.

"Both," declared Mr. Strong. "Wart and likeness are past criticism."

"Well, now Mr. Strong, will you stop admiring your own image long enough to glance at mine," suggested Mrs. Strong from her side of the table. And she held up the potato bust of herself for her husband's inspection. "Isn't it marvelous?" she went on, her voice full of pride. "Now see this roll of hair—just for all the world as I wear mine. It is really wonderful the effect Minnie has got from a feeble, unartistic potato. She's nothing short of a genius. But, dear," and Mrs. Strong turned to Minnie, "what did you do with the third potato?"

"I took it to practice on," explained Minnie. "You see, I wasn't quite sure of my tools and material till I tried 'em."

Practical Jiu-Jitsu.

(This department has been requested to give technical instruction in Jiu-Jitsu as applied to practical affairs of everyday life. This is Lesson 1.)

Suppose you are a collector who weighs eighty-eight pounds, dressed, and have a one-half-millimeter chest expansion.

The man you are sent to collect from weighs 128 in the shade and has biceps like the sequoia tree.

The man refuses to give you the money, though he admits that he owes it and has it in his desk.

If you can get him to hold still long enough to take a firm hold on his right eyeball, close up to the socket, and with the other hand twist his tongue.

He will pay you the money at once, and no doubt apologize.

This is so much better than the old, brutal ways of doing those things.

And so easy and reasonable. If the man resist and won't let you get Jiu-Jitsu holds on him, you still have refuge in flight, which is perhaps the better because the more natural method of procedure in such cases. But we are teaching Jiu-Jitsu and not flight.

The former is Japanese, the latter Russian.

CHARGE OF INCONSISTENCY.

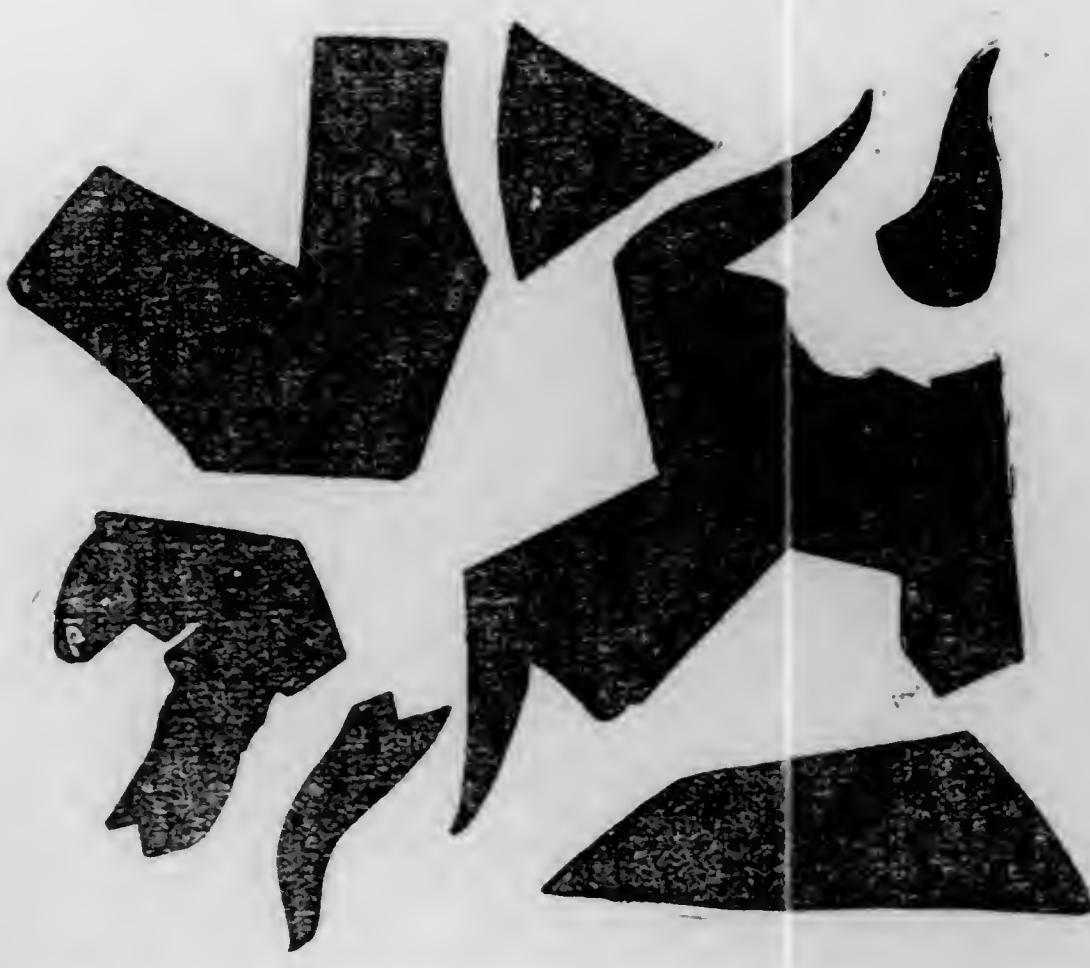

"Seems 't me this man Rosyfelt had better look out how he's talkin' about people bein' mixed up in land frauds," said the Grouch.

"Why so?" asked the Gout.

"Ain't he constantly mixed up in some scheme 't try 't land all 't' frauds he kin, hey?"

Till he who'd answer half they ask were crazy as a loon.

many years ago. Walter grew older and became bigger, though he never did become so large as a barn, and after a while, he actually ceased growing. One day he went with his papa down town after dark, and as he walked the darkness seemed to disappear before him; things he could not see at first came to view as frightful shadows; then, as he drew nearer to them, they took on shapes he knew, and as he approached quite near he could recognize as men things that a moment before had seemed like grims and hobgoblins. In course of time Walter ceased to be afraid of these shadows, supposing that, when understood, they would turn out to be such things as he saw daily. As these things disappeared he ceased to fear them. Now, I don't say that there are not these things, but so many and so strange, and so very and unreal like the clouds when we came too close to them.

This, however, is only part of the wonderful cases of vanishing that happen to such things as he saw daily. The first time he saw a United States senator his heart came into his mouth, and when he saw a famous and great man he became weak and his knees trembled. In the course of time Mr. Walter Wayland met many of the great
